It Is Time To Think Hard.

The government is now proposing that the farmers of the United States plant fourteen million more acres of wheat and grain land and other substantial products in 1944. It is supposed that this country now realizes that Europe will be in a starving condition by that time, and it may be read between the lines that the war will be over in the European continent by the time the crops are produced. Europe will not only need such classes of food but will need domestic animals of all kinds. Few cattle, hogs, poultry and horses will remain in the war stricken countries, both in the conquered nations and in the Axis countries. How the resussitation and reconstruction of Europe will be paid for does not seem to enter into the question. That starving, destitute and disease ravaged peoples must be cared for is the unquestioned problem that must be met by our good Samaritan civilization. As we become the arsenal of democracy and are supplying the materials for overcoming the common enemy, so will we be expected to become the granary of the world.

So again we will have a large task at home at the same time. When ten million boys and defense workers are released from the tasks of war they will have to be supplied with other employment at home in the restoration and reconstruction of our own industrial peace, and peaceful pursuits. The next congress has much on its shoulders. As we begin to see the horizon of peace we are awakening to greater responsibilities as a nation and as citizens than we have ever known. We have had and will yet have a long period of waste, deprivation, and general depletion of resources, and it is surely time to begin to exercise the virtues of thrift and sound living, and make preparation for bad or worse days ahead. We can give no assurances of continued high wages and high prices and full employment. Any person with good horse sense knows that times will be different, beginning the very minute after Hitler's war machine collapses.

HERMISTON BAPTIST CHURCH
Rev. H. V. McGee, Pastor

"The words that I speak unto you they are spirit and they are life." These are the words of a gentleman, Judson is credited with having made this statement concerning Christ's promises. Jesus said, "I am the bread of life: he that cometh to me shall never hunger." Yet his professed followers living in the very shadow of his church, never darken its doors, labouring for "the bread that perisheth."

To Help Your Car Outlast the War, Get Fresh Oil Each Time "A" Coupon Numbers Change

EVEN SHORTER, slower wartime trips expose motor oil to dust and impurities. And partially burned fuel particles also promote oil deterioration.

Too, at slower speeds, the engine often doesn't get hot enough to vaporize the water formed by combustion and condensation. This water further contaminates your oil.

So your safe bet (regardless of how few coupons you've had to use) is to have your nearby Shellman or Shellady put in fresh Golden Shell Oil every time you go to a new number in your "A" gasoline ration book (every two months). Chances are you won't have to add a drop between times.
