B AND C RATION INVALID SEPT. 1

All outstanding old type B and C ration books must be exchanged for the new type ration coupons before September 1, the district OPA reminded motorists today.

On September 1 the old type coupons become invalid and gasoline dealers cannot accept them in exchange for gasoline. Motorists can readily tell if they are now holding the new type, or the old type, coupons. Old type B and C coupons are identified by the words "permits delivery of one unit of gasoline." New type B and C coupons carry only the words "Mileage ration", plus a large letter B or C depending on the class of ration. B coupons, as in the past, are printed in green ink, and C coupons in red.

Car owners can exchange valid old type coupons by applying to their local war price and rationing boards by mail or in person, the OPA explained, and new type coupons will be issued on a coupon-for-coupon basis.

Holders of 100-gallon bulk coupons must apply to the boards to have them exchanged for regular coupons of the appropriate class—B, C. E. R or TT, or in the case of large users, for ration bank certificates. The one-gallon bulk coupons issued to members of the armed forces as a special furlough or leave travel ration will continue in use, it was erplained.
