TORCH HONOR PINS AWARDED TO STUDENTS

(From the Bulldog)

SOPHOMORES: Marian Andrews, Lucy Hollomon, Betty Jean Hartsock, Pat DeLany, Audrey Phelps, David Pierson, Barbara Woodard and Cecil Hunt.

The officers presented the pins. John Lewis, president, presented the senior Torch pins: La Desca Pieper, vice presented, junior two-bar pins: Opal Null, secretary, sophomore one-bar pins. Erwin Null, treasurer, read the names of the students as the pins were presented. Torch Honor adviser, Miss Thomas, assisted the students.

Membership in Torch Honor Society is determined by students' scholastic records and their participation in extra-curricular activities. The pin is a symbol for good scholarship and fellowship among students. Members are interested in maintaining high standards in our school. Students' last year's records determine this year's membership, and students are reminded at this time that in order to receive pins next year they must continue to hold creditable ratings.

Wearers of Torch Honor pins are sincerely interested in having their classmates also achieve good scholastic standing.

At the end of the first year, 28 points are needed; second year, 58 points; third year, 90 points; and at the end of the fourth year if the student has 124 points, he may keep his pin. A grade of 1 is equal to five points; 2, three points; 3, two points; 4, no points; and a grade of 5 subtracts two points.

Just as in later years one's work stands as a record of his success in life, so in school it is grades in class work which measure success and accomplishment. Torch Honor now has 39 members. Come on, students! Try to make the Honor Roll so that next year you too may be the proud possessor of a Torch Honor Pin.

SHORTHAND I CLASS PRESENTS ASSEMBLY PLAY

(From The Bulldog)

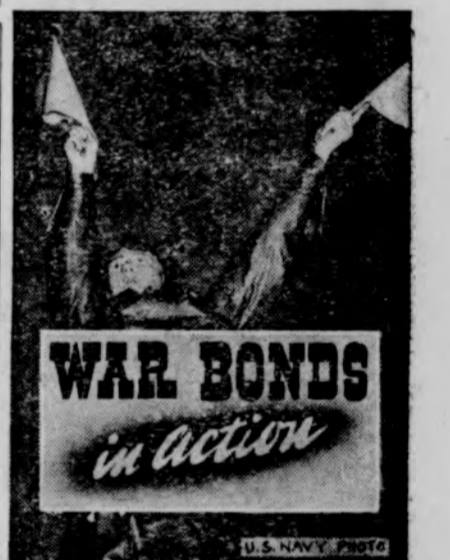

Yesterday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, the shorthand I class presented to the student body a play entitled "Who Gets the Job?" which gives the correct and incorrect way to appear for a job. The cast follows: Miss Bennett, receptionist. Lois Hunt; Alice Clodhopper, demure bashful country girl, Joan Bryson; Susie Cue, giggly high school girl with carefree attitude, Cleda Nusser; Eddie Cando, over confident high school graduate, Jack Jackson; Margie Wigglesworth, boisterous girl who chews gum vigorously, Harriet Lind; Mary Harpupon, too persistent applicant, Martha Jones; Rosie Aglethope, shippard worker, Elizabeth Jones; Lenore Stevens, courteous girl with unobtrusive manner and dressed for the occasion, Opal Null; J. K. Rodgers, good natured employee, Jack Rodgers.

Correct attire, neat personal appearance, careful preparation for the interview, tactful statement of qualifications are salient factors which help determine the applicant's success in obtaining employment.
