Calling Attention To A Few Things Going On

While each of us is going about our daily duties, and absorbed with our own affairs, we may fail to take notice of the numerous things that are going on that contribute to our general welfare and growth.

A new allotment has been granted for much needed school buildings. Funds for extension of our sewer system have been approved, and the water system is being gradually spread to new users. The work on the drainage canal in town is progressing. The bonded indebtedness of the Westland Irrigation District is being adjusted, much to the advantage of the farmers of that project. Water is now in the canals of all the projects and crops are being seeded with no fear of shortage of moisture for the coming season.

Very few of the houses in Victory Square are unoccupied and the demand for purchase or rent of other houses continues strong. Many people are seeking better living quarters than were endured during the boom days and are adding to their small houses, or building new ones. Contemplated business buildings on Main street are past the early stages and await only priorities. Most of the new houses built here have been sold and are occupied by owners who are beautifying the grounds. Out at the Ordnance Depot the demand for more workers is being slowly but steadily supplied, and we may expect a full force again before many weeks.

The new United States senator has been here to view the Umatilla Rapids damsite and be educated in the value and importance of its early construction. Reports from the Hanford project are that it is being enlarged and advancing speedily with 60,000 workers, and a billion dollars have been authorized for war defense projects on the Pacific coast in preparation for the war moving westward when Germany folds up. Big magazines are describing the possibilities of hydroelectric power for manufacturing in the Columbia basin along the upper reaches of the Columbia river.

Thus the picture enlarges at home and around us nearby as the busy days go by, and it is well for our local citizens to do more than mark time and only wait for the bigger things that are certainly in the lap of the future.

WHEN SOMETHING IN YOUR BUDGET COSTS LESS

Perhaps you feel that most living costs are always headed in the same direction - UP. But there is one item over which you can have a sigh of relief - the cost of your insurance. For example: the average rate for fire insurance has declined 40% in the past thirty years, and more than 20% in the past ten years.

This is an economic achievement in which all Americans can take pride. It reflects the measures taken by property owners and municipalities to reduce fire losses. It reflects the promptness with which insurance companies have passed savings on to policyholders. Also very important in this picture are the services of local agents - the men who fit modern insurance to your individual needs - who give you prompt assistance in event of loss. This agency is in, of and for this community. We are at your service.
