she called her husband to her side and told him that she was going to die. She said it grieved her very much to leave him all alone in the world as she knew he would be very lonely and broken-hearted. She said she wanted him to get married again, and not spend the remainder of his days in mourning after her. "All right," said her husband, "I will do that." Then she said, "I have just been thinking that ont of those Smith girls would make you a good wife, they are such nice, pretty, sweet girls." "Yes," he said, "I have just been thinking myself, that if - if - " "You've been thinking ,too, have you? Already got a wife picked out, have you?" Then she raised up in bed, shook her fist at him and said, "Bill Jones, confound your lazy hide, I'll have you understand that I am not dead yet!" She got up, dressed herself, dismissed the hired girl, and was doing her own work. When the old man struck the keynote, she was well right now!

MINISTERS CALL FOR PRAYER

(Submitted by the Hermiston Ministerial Union)

With the days of invasion at hand, and the tension and uncertainty of life so magnified, the need for divine guidance, wisdom, and presence is unprecedented in the lives of men. The ministers of the local churches therefore call their people to a period of prayer each day from the hour of 10:00 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. (or a more suitable time for the individual) when the thoughts of men and women can turn to God. We would pray for the spirit of God to dwell in our hearts and free us from the bondage of human lusts and fear: we would pray for the souls of men everywhere as they face the living of this hour; we would pray for an early peace, a just and durable peace, a peace that is founded on the principles of the Prince of Peace; we would pray for divine wisdom, for divine guidance in the affairs of life, that each thought, word, deed, meditation of our hearts might be acceptable in the sight of God, our Creator.

Let us, as a community, so pray each day, recognizing that prayer works, prayer is power, and prayer moves the hand of God. May we be worthy of the gift of life is ours through Jesus Christ our Lord.

"Decision Day Prayer". The world waits for Invasion Day and Christian people have been requested to pray. What shall we pray for? Can God bless America? Will we win the war and lose the peace? These vital questions will be discussed from the pulpit Sunday morning.

Down On Mac's Farm

An American doughboy, after many days in the tropical downpours of New Zealand, finally asked one of his buddies, "Isn't it ever going to stop raining?"

The other doughboy gave him a grin and replied: "Well, it always HAS!"

Most of us on the farm today could do with some of that doughboy's optimism. Some day the war will be over . . the shortage, priorties, price ceilings and other current "headaches" are going to stop. THEY ALWAYS HAVE!

This business of changing schedules, prices, etc., of not being able to get this article or that substance when we want it has certainly made for the inconvenience of all of us, but we can remember that it won't always be this way, and we are not the only ones inconvenienced.

I had this pretty sharply illustrated the other day, when I went over to the Hermiston Grain Feed Co. in a heck of a hurry to get some feed, only to find out that I couldn't get any at that exact moment. I was out, and good and out. My natural tendency was to start growling, but then I thought: "I could have bought just twice as much last time, and then kept a closer watch on the supply, and reordered before I ran out." No, that's not being selfish either. That's just darn good business sense.

Pete Berg will tell you the same thing, too. It would be much easier for him in the business, to sell in larger quantities, and have ample time to fill the orders than to try and accommodate a lot of rush business that is entirely unnecessary. I've learned my lesson in being caught short. Let's all help in these times of pinch. THEY CAN'T LAST FOREVER!

SAFEWAY Homemakers' Guide

SAFEWAY TEA WEEK

Bringing you your favorite brands of the world's finest tea, at worthwhile savings. No better teas packed.

Place one level teaspoonful of tea for each cup into an earthenware or china pot which has been heated with a little hot water. Pour vigorously boiling water over the leaves. Allow it to brew for a full five minutes. Then pour off the liquor and discard the leaves. Sugar and milk or cream should be placed in the cup in that order before the tea is poured. The extra spoonful of tea "for the pot" can be saved as a wartime economy. With careful use one pound of tea will usually make 175-200 cups.

For iced tea the brew should be stronger to allow for the additional water from melting ice.
