Clark, Fifth Army commander, for meritorious service rendered on four occasions in the Tunisian and Italian campaigns.

COLUMBIA GRANGE NOTES

All members are asked to take a small, inexpensive gift to the next meeting so that there can be an exchange of presents. Lon Dixon of Stanfield reports that about sixty acres of ground are being prepared in his neighborhood for the production of garden seeds.

guests were present at the meeting held Tuesday night, there being forty all told. Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Tash were obligated in the first and second degrees on Tuesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Noble who have purchased the Ford place were guests at the last meeting.

SENIOR CLASS TO GIVE PLAY

What would you do if your father had made arrangements with an old friend for you to marry a Spanish Senorita whom you had never in your life seen? To make matters worse, you would be disowned if you failed to go through with the marriage... unless you could find some way for this Spanish girl to displease your father.

That's the way the senior play, "He Was a Gay Senorita," directed by Miss Audrey Hall, begins. While Daniel Benjamin, played by Glen Wilcox, is out of the room, his son, Arnold (Dick Belt) persuades his friend, Larry (Vance Matott), to pose as the Senorita. This he does with a vengeance, and by employing a Mrs. Spangossi (Merledene Rennecker), to act as his companion, he arrives in full Spanish regalia, complete with wig!

Larry then proceeds to make love to all the male characters, including Patsy (Bruce Norton), Fritz (Jimmy Linn)—much to Lena's (Mary Arnold) his wife's horror—and even to Daniel.

All this is turning Daniel against all Spaniards in general, when another senorita and her companion (Peggy Sommerer and Ruth McCulley) arrive to upset Arnold's sweetheart. But all's well that ends well, and this play finally does.

The other characters are: June Gale, played by Harriet Lind; Vera Stuart, Cleda Nusser; and Dr. Forsythe, Gordon Shown. Special recognition goes to Myrta Gailey, Donna Jean Meyers, Dora Lee Paul, Frank Harkenrider and Joy Reed who have volunteered for backstage work.
