information.”
Clay said King earned an undergraduate degree when he was 19, a master’s when he was 22 and a doctorate when he was 26. He said attending school at that time must have been difficult for King.

“I remember times, as an undergraduate in college, when things would get tough,” he said. “... I thought about how tough it must have been for him, and I had to take it within myself: I’m not experiencing much of what he experienced.”

Clay said King also influenced him by his willingness to sacrifice himself for others.

“He used every opportunity that he had to sit at the table of influence to voice the concerns of those who had no voice,” Clay said. “Even though the doors were open for him ... he took the message of the marginalized to where the decisions were being made.”

Clay said King’s efforts made his life possible, and following King’s example made him a better person.
“Dr King’s life has truly impacted my life, not just because of what he accomplished, but the character that he held as a man that I hold today,” he said.

BIAC member Jesus Rome, who conducted the opening prayer at the church ceremony, said after the event that it was good to see so many people attend Monday’s march, which drew the largest attendance since it began.

“I Have A Dream” excerpt

“... And so even though we face the difficulties of today and tomorrow, I still have a dream. It is a dream deeply rooted in the American dream. I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed: ‘We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal.’
“I have a dream that one day on the red hills of Georgia, the sons of former slaves and the sons of former slave owners will be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood.
“I have a dream that one day even the state of Mississippi, a state sweltering with the heat of injustice, sweltering with the heat of oppression, will be transformed into an oasis of freedom and justice.
“I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character. ...”
— From Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.’s ‘I Have a Dream’ speech, quoted by Hermiston City Manager Byron Smith

NEWS IN BRIEF

Citizen Review Boards looking for volunteers

The Oregon Judicial Department is looking for volunteers who would serve on the Umatilla and Morrow County Citizen Review Boards.
The two boards meet every month in Hermiston and Pendleton, respectively. Court Review Board volunteers are court appointed and trained and work to promote conditions that ensure that every child lives in a safe, secure, healthy, permanent home and has goals to preserve families whenever possible. The board makes findings and recommendations for each case and advocates for improvements in the foster care system by working with the courts and community partners. To become a Citizen Review Board member, individuals must complete a board member application, provide three positive references, pass a criminal history check, participate in an interview and successfully complete orientation training.

According to a press release, there are more than 7,500 children in foster care in Oregon, and more than 140 of those children reside in Umatilla and Morrow counties.
For more information, contact John Nichols at 541-233-8142, or email him at john.a.nichols@ojd.state.or.us. People can also contact the organization’s volunteer resource coordinator at 503-986-4535 or at CRB.Volunteer.Resources@ojd.state.or.us.

Federal employees meet monthly
Retired and active federal employees meet at noon the third Monday of each month from September through May at Desert Lanes in Hermiston. Call 541-289-8189 or 541-567-9709 for information.

CLARIFICATION

In Saturday’s Hermiston Herald, it was reported that the Pioneer Humane Society Pendleton Animal Welfare Shelter chooses what animals it will admit from the city of Pendleton. PAWS Board of Directors President Amy Word said the shelter accepts all animals except those deemed dangerous by the police department or animals required to be held due to ongoing litigation.
