Herald changing TV listings, comic and puzzle offerings

Hermiston Herald subscribers will see some changes to our television schedule and comics offerings beginning in today's edition of the newspaper.

In December, the Hermiston Herald polled readers about their comics and puzzle preferences, and those surveyed helped determine the Features Page content, including new puzzles and comic additions. Beginning today, the Hermiston Herald is offering a page and a half of Features. A few comics previously offered have been replaced by new ones that scored highly by readers who returned our survey. We are also offering more puzzles, including a maze, word find and another, easy, crossword puzzle.

Some comics, including Amber Waves, remain, but they are now being printed in color, not black and white, to increase the visual appeal of the page.

The Hermiston Herald is also offering a full page of television schedules for our readers. This is in lieu of the TV Time insert, which we are no longer publishing. The decision to discontinue TV Time does not come easily. For several years, we have not had enough support from our advertisers to cover the costs of producing TV Time. Advertisers recognize that TV viewers now use the on-screen TV listings provided by the cable company, rather than newspaper listings, and are not willing to advertise on pages that few readers will see. Because we know some of our customers do depend on TV listings in the newspaper, we will continue to print abbreviated listings in the paper each week. They will run in Saturday's Hermiston Herald on their own page and will show listings for evening programming from 6 p.m. through 10:30 p.m. for the coming week.

We realize this is a big change for readers to become accustomed to, and we invite customers to contact us for more information or to share their thoughts on both the TV listings offered and the additional comics and puzzle features. Contact us at 541-567-6457.

Pet of the week

Hi, my name is Daisy. I am one of two female and two male kittens available for adoption at the Humane Society of Eastern Oregon Pet Rescue in Hermiston.

My mother came to Pet Rescue pregnant, and, up until a week ago, I was raised by a foster family. I need a new home. I've already had my shots, I am litter-box trained, and I am good with children. I am about 8 weeks old and can be adopted for $30. I come with a free vet check and a three-day return policy. If I or my brothers and sisters are fixed at 6 months of age, my owner will receive a $20 refund.

If you are interested in welcoming Daisy to your family, please stop by the humane society at 1844 N.W. Geer Road, Hermiston, or call 541-564-6222.
