

Umatilla Landing Days a hot event

Despite high temperatures, many people attend celebration

BY SEAN HART
HERMISTON HERALD

Despite triple digit temperatures by early afternoon, hundreds of people attended Umatilla Landing Days Saturday, and many planned to return for the fireworks at 10 p.m. tonight.

Umatilla Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Karen Hutchinson-Talaski said fewer people were attending than usual because of the heat, but there was still a steady crowd.

"I'd like it to be cooler, but the breeze is nice," she said. "I think it's going pretty well. There's plenty of food and great vendors. There's lots of ways to stay cool."

Ann Cotterell, Umatilla, took her grandchildren to the parade and the festivities at Umatilla Marina Park, which continue until the 10 p.m. fireworks display.

"We come every year," she said. "It's not as busy as it usually is, but it's really hot. They've got a lot of food and a lot of ven-said. "Maybe at night it will be better."

Jolene MacDonald, Umatilla, said the best part of the event was the parade, and 10-year-old Kaydence Hansen said she was enjoying the event, especially the cotton candy and frozen yogurt.

Volunteer Judy Simmons said people were enjoying the festival, despite the temperature.

"It all depends on the weather, but nine times out of 10, nature has cooperated," she said.

Simmons said boat rides are usually offered, but organizers could not find any boats this year. She said they have some possible boats they may utilize next year.

the time we had."

Elder was here the week before the PGA Tour and the U.S. Open came to Chambers Bay, a public course in University Place, Washington about an hour south of Seattle. Elder also attended the U.S. Open.

In spite of complaints about the course and a lack of space for the gallery, Elder thinks holding a major in the Pacific Northwest, the region's first, will help significantly in promoting the game of golf here.

"No doubt about it," he said. "Anytime you can get a major in any part of the country, it's going to benefit. It's going to benefit and it's going to help any area. Just like when the ladies come to Sahalee." The women's PGA Tour Championship will be held at Sahalee Country Club in Sammamish, Washington in 2016.

"People are gonna be anxious, and they'll go see it because they've not had a major championship. Then all of a sudden you get them back to back, first the men, then the ladies. That in itself says that this is an event the people are looking forward to going to. And plus the support they got was tremendous."

time. You know everybody and you think you're really social. But then you get in that situation and (you realize) 'Maybe I'm not that social.' If you can't get around not talking to people, it's not going to be that good of an experience."

Though the game was memorable, a 42-41 South win that saw Gammell force a fumble on the second snap of the game, it's not what the pair will remember the most.

That is the bonding and the fun had over the course of the week. A four-event wing eating contest was held at a local Buffalo Wild Wings, and the South won that, too.

Looking back, Gammell now realizes the benefit that week gave him.

"I kinda learned a lot of skills and just go in and say, 'Hey, I'm Landon. I'm from Hermiston,'" he said. "It's really easy to talk to people once you say, 'Hi.' You have a lot of similar interests."

"It was really cool meeting those guys," Morter added.

"A lot of those guys are pretty cool people. It was kinda neat to meet some of them, people that you've played against and maybe you didn't like on the field, but then you meet them in person, and they're actually pretty nice people. That's always pretty cool."

STANFIELD:

Renner, Ryan Bailey and Jason Fitzpatrick each had two RBIs apiece.

Stanfield scored four in the first, highlighted by a Makiah Blankenship RBI single, and Stanfield got another three in the second, highlighted by an RBI double from Renner. Stanfield got one in the third on a wild pitch, and plated five in the fifth.

In the first game against the Riverside/Irrigon Outlaws, R/I exploded for seven runs in the sixth inning to turn a 4-4 game into an 11-4 game. Using six walks, a hit-by-pitch, a fielder's choice and an error, R/I scored its six runs without a hit. Two of the six walks came with the bases loaded, and the hit-by-pitch also came with the bags packed.

Stanfield tried to rally in the home sixth. Bailey's double drove home Shane Keltz and to push the count to 11-7, but more walks and errors gave R/I a couple more runs in the visitor's seventh.

In the final game of the weekend, Stanfield played its cleanest game. Though Bailey started and was chased after allowing three runs without recording an out, Damian Curiel took the ball and threw the next four innings without allowing a run.

Meanwhile, Stanfield's bats awoke for seven runs in the third. Down 5-2, Jenson doubled home Curiel to cut Stanfield's deficit to one at 5-4. Justin Keeney followed with an RBI double, and Fitzpatrick singled an out later to give Stanfield a 6-5 lead. After a Keith Wampler single, Keltz reached on an error, plating Fitzpatrick and Wampler for an 8-5 lead. Keltz came around on an error to provide the final scoring.
