

RODEO:

This week was a tough one for local participants, but one walked away with some money. It was Stanfield's Travis Taruscio, who pulled his steer down in 4.3 seconds for the shortest single time this week, besting Luke Branquinho's previous best by a tenth of a second.

Taruscio said there's nothing different about competing at home, but winning at home is sweet.

"It feels great, it feels great," Taruscio said of the winning a go-round at home. "You always want to win in front of your friends and family. It's much more satisfying."

Montana's Ty Erickson, who had the hot run on Friday, took the steer wrestling average and the event title with a time of 9.5 seconds on two steers. Erickson is currently the second-ranked steer wrestler in PRCA with $60,262.25.

Bobby Mote, who took off most of July with a concussion, torn labrum and rotator in his right shoulder and a tweaked nerve in his neck, put down the best bareback ride on the last of the week and earned the bareback riding title. Riding Special Delivery, a colt of famous Grated Coconut, Mote got back on track following his injury. He said he had scored in the 70s more times than he can remember since coming back, and an 88 on a horse as good as Special Delivery was just what he needed.

Bareback rider Bobby Mote turns in a score of 88 to win the event Saturday at the Farm-City Pro Rodeo in Hermiston.

"I was getting tired of (being in the 70s)," he said. "I knew when I had this horse that I had a chance to kinda break that and get some momentum going."

Mote had a lead in the bareback standings before his injury, and since he has fallen to fifth with just more than $64,000 in winnings. A win in Hermiston, though, had him smiling.

"Something like that just gives you the momentum you need to get on a roll again," he said.

Mote was born in Portland, Oregon, but is now based out of Stephenville, Texas. He joked that when he tells people he's from Oregon, they look at him quizzically and say, "Cowboy in Oregon? There aren't any cowboys in Oregon."

"Then you come to Hermiston, and there are nothing but cowboys," he said.

Ryle Smith had Saturday's shortest tie down time at 8.7 seconds, but Timber Moore's 17.0 average on two calves got him the Darrel Sallee Memorial Buckle that was thought of and paid for by six-time world champion Cody Ohl, who used the Sallee residence as a sort of base camp during the rodeo season. Smith accepted the buckle on Moore's behalf.

sixth in PRCA's tie down standings with just under $70,000 in winnings.

Jacobs Crawley had the hot run on saddle bronc, riding Tokyo Bubbles to 83 points, but Doug Aldridge's 85 Friday and Zeke Thurston's 85 Wednesday were enough to hold onto a split the event title for the two cowboys. Thurston is currently 12th in the PRCA standings at almost $50,000, and Aldridge hasn't yet cracked the top 20.

Header Tyler Wade and healer Kinney Harrell, a Texas pair, turned in the shortest team roping time on Saturday, securing their steer in a quick 4.3 seconds. It wasn't enough to put them up in the average, however, as Kaleb Driggers and Martin Lucero's 10.1 average held on for the team roping title. Neither are in PRCA's top 20.

Ivy Conrado of Hudson, Colorado, had the quickest barrel racing time of the night, completing the course in 17.57 seconds, taking Saturday's hot run. It wasn't enough to top Kali Parker's average of 34.60, giving the Wendell, Idaho, barrel racer the Farm-City title.

After a slow start, five straight bull riders completed rides, including all-around winner Smith. But Clayton Foltyn, on a bull called Mr. Buddy, scored 86 points and was followed closely by Dustin Bowen's 84 on Hall Pass. The 86 gave Foltyn the hot run of the night and the Farm-City bull riding title. Foltyn, not quite in the PRCA top 20, needed the win with only six weeks of season remaining. Bowen, ranked 19th, also got some help in his bid to make the National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas in December.
