Cindy Schaan, director of volunteer services at Good Shepherd Health Care System, said volunteers provide a vital service throughout the facility. An annual awards luncheon held June 4 provided an opportunity to thank those who give of themselves — including through the CareVan Medical Transportation Service, the Good Shepherd Medical Center Auxiliary and the Auxiliary Jr. Volunteers.

The CareVan provided 5,882 transports during the 2017-18 fiscal year, which Schaan said amounted to 65,740 miles providing free transportation for patients to medical appointments.

There are 10 volunteers, including Gary Miller, who has been in the driver's seat for the past six years, logged 526 hours.

With 72 members, the auxiliary racked up nearly 9,000 volunteer hours. In addition to manning the gift shop, they assist in various departments and help coordinate American Red Cross blood drives. Pat Moncrief, the 2017-18 auxiliary president, logged in 569 hours. Other top volunteers were Joyce Anderson (541), Miki Mikami (470) and Sharon Timms (455 hours). Tim Glass, who served as auxiliary vice president, became president July 1.

High school-aged youths gave 282 hours of their time. For more information about volunteer opportunities, contact Schaan at cschaan@gshealth.org or 541-667-3690.

A team from the McNary Lock and Dam was recognized during the annual awards presented by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' Walla Walla District. The McNary Turbine Replacement project delivery team received the Project Management Business Process award for complex scheduling, multiple-agency collaboration and overall project utilization.

Earlier this year, it was announced that the $321 million project includes the installation of 14 new hydroelectric turbine runners, rewind three main unit generators, and rehabilitation or replacement of other critical hydraulic passage and powertrain equipment.

The replacement project delivery team, as well as eight civilian employees — Aaron Schuff, Julio Morelos, Joe Braley, Patty Ramos, Andrew Dankel Ibanez, Sonya Kurle, Matthew Reeves and Leigh Cranmer — were recognized during the June 29 event. Also, Mark F. Lindgren, retired Walla Walla District chief of Engineering and Construction Division, was inducted into the Gallery of Distinguished Civilian Employees — the highest award the district gives. Lindgren retired from federal service in 2013 after 37 years.
