

Students earn college credits during La Grande campus visit

HERMISTON HERALD

Students from several Eastern Oregon school districts recently visited the Eastern Oregon University campus and earned some college credits during the process.

A Nov. 13 College Level Examination Program event — CLEP Day — was organized by the Migrant Education Program of the InterMountain Education Service District.

The 33 participating high school students were from Hermiston, Umatilla, Irrigon, Boardman and Milton-Freewater schools.

In addition to touring the campus and experiencing an actual college class, the students were able to take the CLEP test for Spanish. The exam tests college level knowledge of a particular subject. Those who passed the exam earned college credit as if they had actually taken the courses. Kris Mulvihill and Brenda Flores, IMESD's Migrant Education Graduation Specialists, organized the event, along with Cristian Anguiano, Outreach Coordinator at EOU. Mulvihill said participating students earned at least 12 college credits by taking the CLEP test — and most earned 24 college credits. "This was a wonderful opportunity for our students to not only experience a college campus, but to get a step ahead on college credits before they even go to college," Mulvihill said. For more information, contact Michele Madril, IMESD director of communication, at 541-966-3115 or michele.madril@imesd.k12.or.us.

Umatilla County contributes $50,000 toward Hermiston project

HERMISTON HERALD

Umatilla County will chip in $50,000 toward the South Hermiston Industrial Park.

The Umatilla County Board of Commissioners unanimously agreed to the contribution at a meeting Tuesday morning.

The city of Hermiston is planning to develop a $2.9 million addition of roads, sewer and water infrastructure behind the former Hermiston Foods plant with the help of a U.S. Economic Development Administration grant that is expected to cover 50-80% of the costs.

If the city secures the grant, the rest would be paid by the city, the county, and neighboring property owners who would be assessed through a Local Improvement District the city plans to form.

At the board meeting, Commissioner George Murdock said the project was meant to drive growth in that area of town.

"If you go over there and drive around in that area, it's amazing how much has already occurred," he said. "A lot of new businesses in that area."

The board also unanimously adopted two ordinances that adopted the charter amendments approved by voters earlier this month.

One amendment clarifies the name of the Umatilla County Sheriff's Office while the other eliminates the primary for county elections where there are only two candidates.

The latter amendment will be in effect for the commissioner and sheriff races in 2020.

651 Help Wanted

Senior Reporter

This is your chance to be part of a dynamic, family newspaper. We have an immediate opportunity for an accurate and hard-working senior reporter at one of Oregon's best small daily newspapers based in scenic and historic Pendleton. This is a key reporting assignment covering two of the newsroom's biggest beats - Umatilla County government and public safety. We value spot news hustle but also prize deeper enterprise pieces. You won't just cover crime. You'll delve into politics, personalities, budget issues, cycles of trauma and violence, but also stories of success and achievement. You will collaborate with almost every other beat reporter at the newspaper. Most importantly, you'll highlight the powerful human stories at the center of every public safety issue. The successful candidate will build sources and mine the community and social media for leads.

The successful candidate should be fluent in filing public records requests, social media, breaking news, and multimedia. You must have experience covering governments and a nose to ferret out the key issues and what's truly important for the reader. You'll work closely with an energetic newsroom that is accustomed to success. The East Oregonian has been named the top newspaper in its class eight of the last nine years in the Oregon Newspaper Publishers Association's annual competition. Pendleton is located near the scenic Blue Mountains and abundant outdoor recreation. It is also a farming and ranching center and home to the famous Pendleton Round-Up rodeo.

Full time with benefits including Paid Time Off (PTO), insurances and a 401(k)/Roth 401(k) retirement plan.

Send resume, clips, references and letter of interest by e-mail to hr@eomediagroup.com
