Sandstone Middle School students to perform at Carnegie Hall

HERMISTON HERALD

Sandstone Middle School choir students will get a memorable experience next fall as they travel to New York City to perform at Carnegie Hall.

Music teacher Dan Allen was recently notified that his students had been invited to participate in a performance of "The Holiday Music of Mary Lynn Lightfoot" as part of the Distinguished Concerts International New York Concert Series, according to a news release from Hermiston School District.

The performance will take place on Nov. 30 in the Isaac Stern Auditorium at Carnegie Hall, with Mary Lynn Lightfoot as composer-in-residence.

According to the district, the students who participate will work with professional musicians and soloists, participate in two-half days of rehearsals and clinics, and perform with choirs from around the country.

In a statement, Allen said it would be an "incredible opportunity" for Hermiston students.

"I had heard of school music programs getting invited to perform at Carnegie Hall, but I never expected it would happen to us," he said.

"The young musicians in this community have worked so hard to receive this honor, and they will forever be able to say that they have performed on America's most prestigious stage."

New Hermiston business provides a 'voice of reason'

By JADE MCDOWELL
NEWS EDITOR

The wind was gusting as twin sisters Shalena Myers and Jolene Pooley cut the ribbon on their new business on Thursday afternoon, but it didn't dampen their excitement.

The sisters will serve as program directors for Voice of Reason, an agency providing job training, employment support and community living support to adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities.

Myers said they will provide training, such as resumé writing and interviewing for a job, but a big focus of Voice of Reason will be helping clients stay in their job once they get one.

"Any person can go out and get that job, but the real piece of that is retention — helping them keep that job and be independent," she said.

They can also provide living support, such as taking someone to the grocery store or out to a movie.

Myers comes to the job with 11 years of experience at a provider agency, including as a program manager. Pooley was previously a personal support worker and has been running her own cleaning business.

Pooley said it had been a "long journey" to opening their doors, but it is something their family had been passionate about for years. One of their other sisters will also be working at the business.

"We've very, very thankful for everyone here today to support us," Pooley said.
