PRAIRIE CITY — Strawberry Mountain, logging trains, gold mining history and an old-fashioned “main street” are just a few of the attractive attributes both locals and visitors will find in the Prairie City area.

These features are on display in two spectacular murals welcoming travelers to town from either direction on Highway 26. Both were created by former Prairie City resident and longtime Prairie City School art teacher Toni Morgensen.

The mural at the east side of town is on the wall of the Historic Hotel Prairie, at the corner of Main and Front streets. Painted by Morgensen in 2002, it announces “Welcome to Historic Prairie City.” Its centerpiece is a mighty logging train emerging from a backdrop of majestic Strawberry Mountain.
