Umatilla County board considers new disabilities position, more

BY JOHN TILLMAN
Hermiston Herald

The Umatilla County Board of Commissioners considers a series of spending requests, including for a new position, when it meets Wednesday, Aug. 17.
Umatilla County Public Works Department wants a new vault toilet for Harris Park on the Walla Walla River's South Fork for the camping area below the shop and across the main road from it. The cost for the toilet, including delivery on-site from CXT Concrete Products of Spokane Valley, Washington, comes to $30,355.20.

A Wildhorse Foundation grant would cover $14,000. The department planned to apply for an Oregon Parks grant to cover some or all of the remainder. If that grant were to fail, the department still has money in the budget to cover the cost, according to Public Works Director Tom Fellows.
The lag time between order and delivery is estimated at 180 days, so ordering now would enable the toilet to be in place before the 2023 camping season.
Public works also wants to buy a new power broom from Papé Machinery for $62,397 to replace an aging power broom, which the department planned on selling at auction later this year. The 2021 Superior DT74J is at Papé's Pasco yard. The sheriff's office is asking for the OK to buy restraint systems from Safe Restraints Inc. for $7,602.37.

"Given recent events around the country and the public's expectation on how law enforcement treats adults in their custody, it is vitally necessary to have a safe and effective way to restrain combative individuals when transporting them to the jail," according to the request from the sheriff's office.

The price covers four systems and 20 associated ankle straps that would go in several sheriff's vehicles. And Kim Beck, community developmental disabilities program manager, requested a new service coordinator position. The new employee would assist in creating consistency with monitoring requirements of foster and residential homes and employment sites.
Annual cost was estimated at about $110,000. Carryover from the 2021-22 budget would pay for the position.

Morrow County Cultural Coalition announces grants

Hermiston Herald
The Morrow County Cultural Coalition, supported by Oregon's Cultural Trust Foundation, recently announced grant recipients for its 2022 awards to Morrow County organizations:
Inland Northwest Musicians: to assist local musicians in sustaining their ability to continue to provide free concerts to the citizens of Morrow County following the COVID-19 pandemic restrictions;
Heppner Community Foundation: for collecting, reproducing and displaying historical photographs of ranching, logging, farming and local history in the refurbished historic Gilliam and Bisbee Building;

Morrow County Historical Society: to help with the costs of printing the Morrow County Chronicles;
Lexington May Day Parade & Festival: to help revitalize the town and bring family and friends together;
Heppner St. Patrick's Day Celebration: to help celebrate the Irish heritage of the community;

Heppner FFA Chapter: to help students learn to be leaders in their community; Flood Town Books: to host an Irish folk band for St. Patrick's Day week; and Boardman Park & Recreation District: to help fund their summer programs for youth.
Grant applications for 2023 cultural-based activities in Morrow County are now being accepted. Projects supported in the past have included quilting, art displays, historical library books, cultural entertainment and events, drama and musical workshops, and kids' activities in the parks and schools.

For complete guidelines and application forms, visit www.co.morrow.or.us/treasurer or contact Jaylene Papineau at 541-676-5630 or jpapineau@co.morrow.or.us. Applications must be submitted by Oct. 1.

Also, the local coalition is actively seeking committee volunteers. For more information or to make a donation, contact Papineau or call Andrea Nelson at 541-720-4399.
