Why not take the steps out of the sidewalks and put them on a proper grade
B. M. Booher has many thanks from the Wheatfield family for some nice vegetables.
A. D. Bechtel has commenced work on his new residence near the schoolhouse.
On Saturday last H. N. Burchell ordered the Semi-Weekly Journal to his address.
Joe Eskelson took out a new seeder the other day in order to help along with his fall work.
The ladies of the Methodist Church are making great preparations for their Hallowe'en social.
Just think of the pumpkin pie, the kind mother used to make, at the social next Tuesday.
T. C. Miller, of Walla Walla, was interviewing Lexington merchants the fore part of the week.
S. C. Jackson, of Heppner, is putting the finishing touches on the Fuller residence on Knob Hill.
Yes, it pays to advertise. The stock of furniture advertised in last weeks issue is practically all sold.
Rev. Graham is giving excellent satisfaction in Lexington and the attendance is steadily increasing.
Next Tuesday is Hallowe'en. This will be a good time to take in signs, lock the gates and tie dogs loose.
H. E. Burchell and wife were Lexington visitors Tuesday and report everything looking fine in his district.
We understand that Bengé Bro's will open a confectionery store in the building occupied by O. T. Ferguson.
Mr. Fairchild, one of the lone meat market men, was in our city the past week, looking for a location so we understand.
A Phonograph makes a splendid Christmas present for the children. Call at the Wheatfield Printery and place an order for one.

Ham Burchell has secured four head of excellent thoroughbred Jersey cattle and brought them to his Morrow county ranch last week.
We are busy moving the press and engine into our new room, so don't expect too much of us this week. We will be settled by and by.
Mr. and Mrs. C. R. McAllister went to Heppner Monday, where Mrs. McAllister entered the hospital to be operated on for appendicitis.
A new bath tub and hot water plant has been put into W. E. Leach's residence the past week. We understand a septic tank will be installed.
Henry Fuller sold 500 acres of seeded summer follow to Fred Beymer week. Mr. Fuller expects to remove to Lexington and engage in business.
A letter received from C. H. Beymer who went to Louisiana a short time ago states that he will not be home as soon as expected on account of being caught in a quarantined town.
The horse races last Friday attracted a pretty good crowd. Another race is talked of for the near future. Lexington would be an ideal place to hold a county fair and races.
Ed Berry, the lone painter, was in our city the fore part of the week trying to secure a building for a shop, but was compelled to defer moving here on account of a lack of buildings.
J. C. Eorchers, of Heppner, was in Lexington yesterday in the interests of Cayuse Encampment I. O. O. F. He found the local lodge in a prosperous condition and steadily growing.

Miss Mollie Brown, who had charge of the Brown & Zink cook house this fall, was presented with an elegant gold watch, by the crew, a few days ago. Miss Brown started out with the machine when the threshing season started and stayed during the season. She was a general favorite with the entire crew, who took this method of showing their appreciation.
An old man who drew his gun as an aid to the settlement of a dispute with a tenant, says The Oregonian, involving the sum of $2.50, was released from custody by the Police Judge a few days ago because, in addition to being an old man, he was also an old soldier. It may be possible to sanction this reason for the release of a man who is proud of the fact that he is "handy with his gun," but in practice it is likely to prove dangerous. Sentiment and prudence do not pull well together in legal harness. A balk of the illmatched pair on the "Hill Difficulty," under the load of personal grievance, is likely at any time to occur with disastrous results.
