

LEXINGTON GROWS WITHOUT WATCHING

LEXINGTON WHEATFIELD

VOL. I LEXINGTON, OREGON, THURSDAY AUGUST 9, 1906 NO. 46

COUNTY NEWS.

Heppner Times—
Sheriff Shutt left this morning for Salem to deliver Harris Ridings, the self confessed horse thief, at the penitentiary.
The travel between Heppner and the Ditch creek outing camps is quite large these days. While some are coming back the bulk of the travel is towards the cool shades and sparkling brooks of the Blue mountains.
While harvesting with combines has not heretofore been the rule in this county there are three in operation this season and probably more will be used next season as the farmers claim they save more wheat than by the method of heading and then threshing.
Judge H. S. Bean came over from Pendleton Monday in order to accommodate Harris Ridings with an early trial on a charge of horse stealing, as the prisoner was anxious to have the matter settled. He secured Attorney C. E. Woodson's services, but refused to withdraw his plea of guilty, which he had confessed to Sheriff Shutt, and all his attorney could do was to ask the clemency of the court in passing sentence upon his client. Deputy District Attorney S. E. Notson appeared for the state. The judge made the sentence one year in the penitentiary.
Heppner Gazette—
Heppner is quiet and grouchy. Too many bachelors.

Henry Blackman returned Monday evening, from Astoria and Seaside, his family remaining there during the heated term. Mr. Blackman starts today for southern Oregon and the Willamette Valley in the interests of the Jamestown fair. He expects to be gone two weeks.

There is a lesson in the work of the thrifty farmer. He knows that the bright sunshine may last but a day and he prepares for the showers which are so liable to follow. So it should be with every household. Dysentery, diarrhoea and cholera morbus may attack some member of the home without warning. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea. Remedy, which is the best known medicine for these diseases, should always be kept at hand, as immediate treatment is necessary, and delay may prove fatal. For sale by W. P. Mc Millans' Drug Store.

An exchange says: "The kickers on the farm are not as hard to get along with as the kickers in the towns. On the farm there is the kicking cow, and our long eared friend, the mule, while in the town there is the old moss-back, who wants all the privileges of municipal living without paying for them a block so far as he can every municipal improvement. The cow may be sold for beef and the mule for a shot gun, but nothing but a funeral will get rid of the town kicker.
A man who patronizes the big mail order houses (when he has the cash) allows the children to play with the big catalogues. One morning the nurse came out and told them there was a new baby in the house. "Who brought it?" asked the children. The nurse replied that it just came. "Oh I know," said one little tot, "it's a Sears Roebuck baby and I bet it's adulterated just like the pepper and strawberry jam was and papa will have to keep it because he sent the money in advance."

A brother universalist, having called to remonstrate with Horace Greely on the omission of the Tribune to controvert those orthodox Christians who were filling the religious press of New York with revivalist sermons and denouncing damation to all but the elect, found the great editor busy writing, according to the National Magazine. He kept on writing while his caller said: "Mr. Greely do you mean to let those awful doctrines go unchallenged in your newspaper—that all but a few people of this great country are going to hell—is that your idea of duty?" Finally Mr. Greely's patience was exhausted; he lifted his voice, and spoke; "Not half enough people go to hell; go there yourself!"
