Jerry Phillips had the misfortune to receive a painful injury while trucking wheat at the warehouse Tuesday last. His feet slipped and the truck loaded with wheat fell on him, the truck leg tearing an ugly wound on his right leg. Five stitches were necessary to hold the flesh together.

"Harold Watches", was the starting heading of an article in a recent exchange. We have people in Lexington who are great watchers. An interesting article might be written on the subject of "Ed watches" or "John watches". Reports say that numerous ones around town are straining their eyes watching.

James Hankins and C. T. Conner formed a partnership under the firm name of Hankins & Conner, and purchased the interest of Fairchild & Marlatt in the Lexington Market. The new proprietors took charge Monday morning and have changed the name to the Bon Ton Market. Call and see them.

H. C. Willis, of Pendleton, Editor of The Promoter, and secretary of the Eastern Oregon Agricultural Association, spent a few hours in Lexington last Friday in the interests of the Pendleton fair, which promises to be the greatest event in the history of Umatilla and Morrow counties. The Wheatfield man acknowledges a pleasant call.

During the dry weather the past season the Wheatfield man remarked that there was something wrong with the present system of farming and that the farmer should guard against the dry season. One of those present took exceptions to our remark and asked us to tell them how to farm their lands. If the farmers will read the article running in this paper under the title of "Dry Farming" and follow the advice given, they will see that there has been something wrong with the old system of farming. Try it for two seasons and see the results.

GENTRY-WHITE

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. White, when the ceremony was performed which united their youngest daughter, Miss Rowena Gertrude to Mr. J. Eugene Gentry. The bridal party descended to the parlor at 8 o'clock to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by the brides cousin, Miss Dona Barnett. They stopped under an arch of roses. The bride wore white crepe de chene and carried bride roses. Miss Veva Leach was bridesmaid and wore white organdie, and carried mammoth crotchet roses. The groom wore the conventional black. Mr. Neil White attended in the capacity of best man.

After the ceremony was performed by the brides uncle, Rev. J. C. White, a luxurious wedding supper was heartily enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Gentry were the recipients of many favors among which were:

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. White, silver tea set; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Barnett, water set; Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Leach, salad set; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Leach, rug; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Nichols, silver knives and forks; Mr. and Mrs.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Acts on Nature's Plan

The most successful medicines are those that aid nature. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. Take it when you have a cold and it will allay the cough, relieve the lungs, aid expectoration, open the secretions and aid nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Thousands have testified to its superior excellence. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. Price, 25 cents Large size, 50cents. For sale by W. P. McMillan Drug Store.

Jack Lane, table cloth; Mr. and Mrs. Hank Parker, table cloth; Mrs. Minnie Clark, silver crumb set; Mrs. M. E. Barton, silver bread tray; Mrs. Sarah and Ruth Brown, water set; Mr. Harry Brown, silver knives and forks; Mrs. Jennie Barton, cake stand and quilt; Mr. Mrs. L. S. Gilbreath, silver table and tea spoons; Mr. and Mrs. McAllister, center table; Mrs. E. Thompson, berry set; Miss Dona Barnett, tea set; Miss Veva Leach, cake stand; Misses Fanny and Leona Leach, cocoa set; Miss Echo Nichols, fruit dish.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. White and has lived in Lexington the greater portion of her life where she is widely known as one of the leading young ladies of this community. The groom is one of Lexington's business men and has a host of friends throughout the county who will join The Wheatfield in wishing the young couple a long, happy and prosperous journey through life. The Wheatfield family was remembered with a bountiful supply of the delicious wedding cake.
