Freezing out a lone woman barber seems rather small business on the part of a barbers' union.—Portland Journal.

When a certain banker conspired to freeze out a lone woman newspaper publisher it was a shrewd stroke of business.

Jesse and Frank Hale and Frank Wilson came over Tuesday from Condon and have opened a skating rink in the building formerly occupied by the athletic club.—Proclaimer.

A large number of Morrow county sheep are now coming out of mountains from the summer ranges. Grass is shorter than usual at this time of year. Winter range is good this fall.—Gazette.

Lewis Kinney and Dave McAtee drove out to the Willow creek coal mines Sunday. They state that there is plenty of coal that could be easily and cheaply mined, the only trouble being the matter of transportation.—Gazette.

Laundering Battenberg.

Soap the doilies well. Let stand in warm water and a little ammonia for an hour or so. Give a good rinsing. Tack a piece of white cloth the size of doily to the carpet, pin every point down firm, stretch good and let stay until thoroughly dry.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

He Was in a Hurry to Have It Over With.

He was embarrassed, ill at ease. She was calm, self possessed. "If it were only over," he whispered excitedly. "I know I'll do it wrong."

"It won't take long, John," she answered consolingly. "You haven't much to say."

The minister was speaking. "Kindly change places with the bride."

John attempted to do so and stepped on the toe of her boot and, raising his arm, caught his cuff button in her veil.

"Do be careful," she implored. "Oh," he groaned, "before all these staring people too."

"Sh-h-h"—
The minister began the ceremony. John grew more embarrassed and fumbled with the roses of her bouquet. Then he put his hand in his pocket and, pulling out his handkerchief, excitedly mopped his brow.

The church was quiet save for the voice of the minister.

"If any person knows any just reason," he was saying, "why these two should not be joined together let him now speak or forever"—

"I will!" shouted John.—Baltimore Sun.

Mixed Something.

The eminent statesman was talking his speech into a phonograph.

"That's a new idea," said one of the bystanders. "Why does he stop every few minutes and seem to wait for something?"

"He's listening for the applause," said the other bystander.—Chicago Tribune.

The Drawback.

Weary Willie—Firemen has a cinch. Dey don't do nothin' most o' de time but loaf aroun' de firehouse. I'd like ter be a fireman. Wouldn't you?

Ragson Tatters—Now. Onct I seen a fireman git soaked wid water from a hose.—Denver News.

A Bar For Some.

Miss Modern—Does Jenkins enjoy golf?

Mr. Enthusiast—Don't see how he can. He doesn't lose his temper and employ language when he makes a bad play.

Cause and Effect.

"It was eating so much candy that made me plump," explained the obese maid.

"Ah," rejoined the smitten youth, "that accounts for the sweet weigh you have!"—Chicago News.

Very Spare.

"Your flat, of course, has the customary spare room that a guest"—

"Yes; exceedingly."
"Eh? Exceedingly what?"
"Exceedingly spare room."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Not the Real Thing.

Tom—Why do you say she is as sweet as adulterated sugar?

Jack—Because her complexion is more or less sandy.—Boston Herald.

Laundry Hints.

Cold rain water and soap will remove machine grease.

A little borax in the last rinsing water will make handkerchiefs easier to iron and look better when done.

Ten cents' worth of sugar of lead in three gallons of soft water will prevent any color of blue from fading in the laundering.

Tomato Butter.

To nine pounds of ripe tomatoes, peeled and sliced, allow three pounds of sugar, a pint of vinegar, three tablespoonfuls of cinnamon, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of allspice and a tablespoonful of cloves; cook until thick, stirring often to prevent scorching.

HUMAN BLOOD MARKS.

A tale of horror was told by marks of human blood in the home of J. W. Williams, a well known merchant of Bac, Ky. He writes: "Twenty years ago I had severe hemorrhages of the lungs, and was near death when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. It completely cured me and I have remained well ever since." It cures Hemorrhages, Chronic Coughs, Settled Colds and Bronchitis, and is the only known cure for Weak Lungs. Every bottle guaranteed by W. P. McMillan, Druggist. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.
