RAISES WHEAT NEAR ARTIC CIRCLE

Man in Charge of United States Experiment Station Will Exhibit Agricultural Products at Alaska-Yukon Pacific Exposition.

Seattle, Nov. 19—Mrs. F. E. Rader, whose husband is in charge of the United States experiment station at Rampart, Alaska, just one degree south of the arctic circle, was a recent visitor in this city, and told surprising facts regarding the agricultural possibilities of the extreme Northland.

At the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, which is to be held in Seattle in 1909, there will be a most interesting exhibit of the results of Mr. Rader's experiments in the far north. The exposition will show the people that there is more to Alaska than glaciers and ice-bergs.

"We are experimenting principally with grains in an effort to produce varieties that mature before winter sets in," she said. "The grain seeds we use are hardy varieties from Russia and Finland.

"All hardy vegetables such as carrots, parsnips, rutabagas, potatoes and even peas can be raised successfully. Last year my husband succeeded in raising string beans, and many of the pods were seven inches in length.

"Potatoes are among the most successful crops we have up there. Captain Mayo, who lives at Rampart, has been growing potatoes since 1872.

"There are two grains which are being grown with much success in our locality, a variety of wheat from Karkoff, Russia, which is planted in the fall, and Finnish black oats, which are planted in the spring. The crops seldom fail."

A cold taken at this time of the year is generally hard to get rid of but it will not be able to withstand Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar. That will cure all colds, coughs, croup, whooping cough, etc, by driving them out through the bowels. If you have a cold, try it and if not cured get your money back. No opiates. Sold by W. P. McMillan's drug store.
