LOST IN THE FOG

Last Sunday, February 17, H. K. Hynd, an elderly and prominent gentleman of Sand Hollow, while upon his return trip from a visit to T. M. Scott and family, got lost, and some of the searching parties did not find him until twelve o'clock that night, twelve miles distant from his home. Mr. Hynd, whose sons are prominent stock-raisers and who are well and favorably known in our county, started out Sunday morning to visit one of his neighbors, whose residence he reached all right, but owing to the fact that the day being alternate sunshine and fog, on his return trip he got lost.

B. F. Swaggart, the mule and horse king, saw Mr. Hynd about two o'clock near the telephone line leading to the Hynd residence, who at this time was not more than three-quarters of a mile from home. When Mr. Swaggart saw the elderly gent the sun was shining brightly and he did not know that Mr. Hynd was lost.

Three o'clock in the afternoon Mr. Hynd's folks became anxious over the delay of his return and, by phone, notified the neighbors. Different searching parties were organized, but all efforts to find the missing neighbor were fruitless until 12 p. m. After dark the searchers provided themselves with lanterns and continued the search. One of the parties finally succeeded in finding Mr. Hynd about twelve miles from home.

Comfortable lodging was provided for him at the elegant country home of F. E. Bell, a prominent and well known agriculturist and stockman of the county, who resides about five miles from Lexington.

Immediately upon finding the "lost" neighbor a telephone message was sent to his folks at Sand Hollow, thus the

A Habit to be Encouraged.

The mother who has acquired the habit of keeping on hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, saves herself a great amount of uneasiness and anxiety. Coughs, colds and croup to which children are susceptible are quickly cured by its use. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia, and if given as soon as the first symptoms of croup appear, it will prevent the attack. This remedy contains nothing injurious and mothers give it to little ones with a feeling of perfect security. Sold by W. P. McMillan's Drug Store.

anxiety of his wife and children were greatly relieved.

The next morning our lost friend was transferred to his comfortable home at Sand Hollow. Although he had quite a hard time of his trip, it did not hurt him much. Some of the rescuing parties were out nearly all night, some were almost "peetered out" and it is safe to say that upon their return to their respective homes sleep, nature's sweet restorer, proved to be a soothing balm to their tired and aching limbs.

It is gratifying to notice, in this incident, the good will, help and even sacrifice, if need be, that the neighbors of this locality extend to each other in a case of emergency.

It is hoped, however, that when Mr. Hynd starts out on his next "expedition" he will be provided with a competent guide and thus save his folks as well as the neighbors much anxiety and trouble.

Before marriage the question a girl asks her lover most is: "Do you really love me?" After marriage the query becomes: "Is my hat on straight?"
