HIS GREAT SERVICE.

An Illustration of the Generosity of the Elder Dumas.

Dumas pere when manager of the Theatre Historique was continually studying the influence of the temperature on the sale of tickets—at least, he seemed to do so. In fact, this seeming interest in the showing of the thermometer was, like so many other acts of his, nothing but an expression of the proverbial kindness of his heart.

One day Dumas happened to meet an old friend whom he had not seen for thirty years. "Where are you going to dine tonight?" he asked the friend. "Tonight I shall dine nowhere," was the answer.

"Oh, no," said Dumas; "you are mistaken. You will dine with me." He led the friend into his house and gave him the upper place at his table. The poor man had not had such a dinner for a long time, and Dumas when retiring into his writing room after the coffee said, "It is a matter of course that I expect you tomorrow at the same time."

The friend came the next day, and the day after this, and so on for ten years up to his death. One day, however, he told Dumas that as he was eating bread he did not earn this arrangement could not continue. "If I am not able honestly to earn my meals I shall not come again. Tell me in what way I can be of service to you."

Dumas thought a moment; then he said: "You can do me a great favor. You may go to the new bridge every day and take the temperature by the valley's thermometer. The temperature, you must know, is of great moment in the matter of the sale of tickets. Could you do this?"

The poor fellow answered affirmatively and from that time on reported to Dumas every day. "At noon the thermometer showed 70 and so many degrees in the shade." And Dumas, who of course did not care in the least about the temperature, replied with the same regularity: "I am very much obliged. If you only know what a service you are doing me!"—Harper's Weekly.

- Three things to commend—thrift, industry and promptness.
- Three things to despise—cruelty, arrogance and ingratitude.
- Three things to love—the wise, the virtuous and the innocent.

Don't Be a Sensitive Plant.

The sensitive plant is found in the church. The pastor has a difficult time keeping him in humor to do church work. The sensitive plant is found in political circles. The candidates must handle him with gloves. The sensitive plant is found in all avenues of human activity. Most generally he is a nuisance. Don't be one.—Columbia Herald.
