CHAFF FROM THE STRAW STACK

By The Wind Stacker

Be good, but not easy.
Have you seen the March lion yet?
Love is the blossom of the tree of life.
Lexington is the best town on the map.
Live fish are always headed up stream.
Hot air is always succeeded by a cold wave.
The best way to pity a man is to pick him up.
Good morning, have you taken your spring medicine yet?
During the hot weather this summer drink at the soda fountains.
It's no wonder one of the billiard balls is so red—it's so often kissed.
It's pretty hard for a girl to be hugged and play the piano at the same time.
It is nearly time to buy an ice box, for very soon you'll need it: you just break yourself to buy it, and it keeps you broke to feed it.

An English paper says Americans make the best husbands, but it will have hard work convincing Pittsburg heiresses that its statement is true.

The man who has a wife and family and who refuses to take the home paper during the busy season because he hasn't time to read it, has an extremely warped and selfish disposition and needs making over badly.

In using a cough syrup, why not get the best? one that comes highly recommended is Bees Laxative Cough Syrup, contains Honey and Tar and is superior to other cough syrups in many ways. Children always like it because it contains no opiates, is a laxative and is guaranteed to give satisfaction or your money refunded. Try it. Sold by W. P. McMillan.

It is the local paper that records your births, publishes your marriages and chronicles your deaths. To the 40 page compendiums of the happenings of the world you are not even a mere cipher. To get the least notice from them you must steal $10,000, commit an atrocious crime or have a half dozen wives. But your local paper watches over you with solicitude at all times. If you are sick it is sorry and hopes you will soon get well; it tells when you come and go, when your house burns down and when you build a new one. In fact it tells that which interests and benefits you most.

HOW TO REMAIN YOUNG

To continue young in health and strength, do as Mrs. N. F. Rowan, Mc Donough, Ga., did. She says: "Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured me of chronic liver and stomach trouble, complicated with such an unhealthy condition of the blood that my skin turned red as flannel. I am now practically 20 years younger than before I took Electric Bitters. I can now do all my work with ease and assist in my husband's store." Guaranteed at W. P. McMillan's Drug Store. Price 50c.

ROYAL MESSENGERS.

They Carry Other Things Besides Government Dispatches.

Very odd are some of the errands done by the royal messenger service in Great Britain. At an English seaport, for instance, a sealed packet which was being conveyed across the channel to Windsor in care of the British foreign office became accidentally unfastened in the custom house, and a quantity of cigars tumbled out. As the packet in question was invoiced as containing "important confidential government dispatches," no little amusement was caused. Nothing serious, however, came of the incident, for it is a recognized rule that "the king can do no wrong," and neither, therefore, can the king's messengers.

Besides, it is well understood that the service is maintained for other purposes than the nominal one. During the late Queen Victoria's reign these messengers used frequently to carry to the continent in sealed bags supposed to contain dispatches shirts and collars of a special make and pattern for one of the British ambassadors, hats and bonnets for her majesty's female relatives, all sorts of English knickknacks for the late Empress Frederick at Berlin and even barrels of native oysters for the embassies at Paris and Vienna.

For many years, moreover, it was the practice of the messengers to call each week on their way back to England at Brussels, where they received from the court kitchens a box of special biscuits of which Queen Victoria was very fond and which she believed no body could make as well as the hear pastry cook of King Leopold's kitchen. This box of biscuits was solemnly sealed up at the British legation with the official seal and then conveyed with infinite care to Windsor by way of Dover and London.—Chicago News.
