

LEXINGTON WHEATFIELD

Published Every Thursday

at

LEXINGTON, OREGON

S. A. THOMAS,
Editor and Proprietor.

OFFICIAL PAPER TOWN OF LEXINGTON

Subscription, per year, $1.00
Advertising rates on Application

Copy for change of advertising must reach this office by Wednesday noon.

Entered as second-class matter October 6, 1905, at the post office at Lexington, Oregon, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

THURSDAY APRIL 25, 1907.

NOTICE

The best way to build up your own town is to do your trading at home. Patronize your home merchants. If they succeed the chances are you will succeed. When you send a dollar to a mail order house you have the goods and they have the money. Trade at home and we keep both the goods and the money.

Pendleton is now interested in the question of building a macadamized or in fact any kind of a good public road between Heppner and Pendleton. This is a question that at least deserves careful consideration, however the Gazette is candid in the opinion that this road deserves no more attention than many others leading into Heppner. Gazette, Heppner.

The Creamery has been in operation ten days and has received an average of 600 pounds of milk and cream per day. From this 400 pounds of first-class butter has been made. A number of garties are purchasing hand separators and preparing to patronize the creamery more extensively than heretofore.

The Lexington creamery is now in actual operation and is making good butter. This is an enterprise that Morrow county people should encourage in every way possible. It is to be hoped that the Lexington creamery will be a great success. —Gazette, Heppner.

An exchange says a man who owed an editor for six year's subscription wrote him the other day to know the best way to raise hogs. The editor saw a chance to obtain sweet revenge and replied: "Ask your parents how they raised you."

The Brownsville creamery paid out $22,000 during the past year.

DUKE MAXIMILIAN.

The Only Money He Ever Earned as a Musician.

The following amusing incident is related of the Duke Maximilian, who was a great lover of the zither, a singularly plaintive instrument and the national guitar of the German Alps. During the summer he delighted in wandering over the mountains in the garb of a common hunter, armed with a rifle, and the zither hung around his shoulders. During one of these excursions he sat down on the trunk of a tree and awakened the echoes of the opposite chain of hills. Concluding he was alone, he reveled long in the sweet sounds. When, however, he ceased some peasants who had been his secret auditors drew near to him, and one addressed the duke in the cordial way of the country, as follows: "Thou, indeed, canst play it wonderfully; now come with us and we will dance to thee in the inn down there. We will pay for as much beer as thou canst drink."

"Thank you," replied the duke, "I am not thirsty, but I shall certainly go with you," which he did, and played for more than two hours in "the inn down there."

The peasants and their lassies were in ecstasies while dancing to the tunes of their new friend. With the poetical feeling native to the mountaineers of the Alps, they sang, jumped about and kept up a steady demand for more tunes. The duke, whose face beamed with joy, at length became weary and prepared to leave.

"Thou mayst go," said one of the peasants, "but not till thou hast played the new dance composed by Duke Maximilian. It is the most exquisite piece of music I ever heard. Play it and I'll give thee 24 kreutzers."

The duke complied with the request, took his kreutzers and then departed, when one of the peasants made the following speech to his fellows and their partners: "My dear comrades, permit me to tell you that you are all asses. Every one of you plumes himself on his knowledge of the zither, and none of you while hearing the best player in the land recognized Duke Max. I did at once."

The peasants, still more delighted with the condescension of their illustrious friend, ran after him, thanked him and got the promise that he would play for them once more.

"As to the 24 kreutzers," the duke said, "I will keep them. They are all I have ever made by playing my zither."

In using a cough syrup, why not get the best? one that comes highly recommended is Bees Laxative Cough Syrup, contains Honey and Tar and is superior to other cough syrups in many ways. Children always like it because it contains no opiates, is a laxative and is guaranteed to give satisfaction or your money refunded. Try it. Sold by W. P. McMillan.

AN ELECTRICAL GENIUS

The following article was handed us by Mrs. T. L. Dorman and was taken from the Sunbury, Ohio News Item. The genius, Clarence Peck, of Wellington, Kansas, is a nephew of Mrs. Dorman.

In the Summer High School building in this city may be found a complete and perfectly working system of wireless telegraphy, the product of the genius, Clarence Peck, a boy only 15 years of age. He is a student in the county high school.

Young Peck is of a decidedly mechanically turn and takes quite a fancy to electricity. On the farm he took an old sewing machine and fixed it up so as to convert it into a lathe. With this he went to manufacturing a wireless telegraph system. At first he sent messages from one room to another only. Little by little he extended his stations until he had it spread over the farm and was able to send messages a quarter of a mile.

About this time Prof. C. E. Johnson of the county high school faculty, who has been directing his reading on the subject induced him to move his plant into the high school building where it is now installed. After this home made wireless telegraphing system was installed in the building, a thorough test was made. First messages were sent through the wooden partitions, then through the solid brick and stone partitions and through heavy plate glass. Prof. Johnson informs us that it worked perfectly.

A day or two ago Prof. Johnson had young Peck explain his instruments and the workings of his system to the

Try The Wheatfield for Job Work.

SPRING GOODS

We are receiving our line of Spring Goods, consisting of Lawns, White Goods, Lace, Embroidery, Ribbons, also a line of Ladies White waists.

W. F. BARNETT & CO.

LEXINGTON,

OREGON

class which he did in a very lucid and complete manner answering all questions put to him very clearly. Considering that young Peck made his own apparatus and instruments with only very crude machinery of his own manufacture, his accomplishment is certainly quite wonderful. He is possessed with a genius which with proper direction and application will make a second Edison of him.

SCHOOL NEWS

Those who averaged 90 and above in the recent examinations were:

ADVANCED GRADE
R. B. Wilcox, Teacher

Amanda Waid	Ruth Brown
Joe Thornburg	Josie Eskelson
Maude C. tsforth	Cora McMillan
Jas. Pointer	Montie Hunter
Edna Carmichael	Mary Graham

GRAMMER GRADE
Joseph E. Waid, Teacher

Maude McMillan	Ella Cypert
Inez Cypert	Berton Thornburg
Nettie Davis	Geattia Palmer
Cleo Eskelson	Ralph Howard
Mable Fuller	George Peck
Mable Boone	Vida Zink
Mertie White	Frank Burgoyne
Pearl Reaney	Mable Davis

INTERMEDIATE GRADE
Miss Grace Cole, Teacher

Princess Smith	Ennis Thomas
Ella Yocum	Anna Belle Howard
Arnold Piper	Everett Zink
Ninetta Smith	Elmer Helms
Lela Helms	Park Carmichael

PRIMARY GRADE
Miss Agnes Hammer, Teacher

Ethomas Graham	Mary Duran
Lulu Bemer	Elvin Fuller
Eliza White	Clay Phillips
Henry Smith	Edith Reanep
Jimmie Eskelson	Roy Beymer
Gladys Lane	Addie Zink
Vernon Waid	Leona Leach
Cecil Scott	Grace Reaney
Katie Eskelson	Abbie Johnson
Iva Thomas	Harry Yocum
Ruth Howard	Flora Mead

Bennie Boon

RITTEN BY A SPIDER

Through blood poisoning caused by a spider bite, John Washington, of Bosqueville, Tex., would have lost his leg, which became a mass of running sores, had he not been persuaded to try Bucklen's Arnica Salve. He writes: "The first application relieved, and four boxes healed all the sores." Heals every sore 25c. at W. P. McMillan, druggist

TELEPHONE BY-LAWS

message for any other person, not a member of this or some Interchanging

W. P. McMILLAN

Drugs

Stationery

Confections

School Supplies

Toilet Articles

Etc. Etc.

LEXINGTON, OREGON

THE OFFICE

A. D. INSKEEP, Proprietor

WINES, LIQUORS

AND CIGARS.

FRESH BEER ALWAYS ON DRAUGHT

GOOD POOL TABLE IN CONNECTION

LEXINGTON, OREGON

line, in his own name shall be charged with the full amount of the message, on his refusal to pay the same he shall be denied further switching until the amount is paid.

ARTICLE V.

Anyone engaged in construction or repair work for this company shall have free use of the line while so engaged.

ARTICLE VI.

Any person except those having free use of the line as provided for in the foregoing articles of these by-laws shall pay the sum of fifteen cents for each and every message to any part of the line and the additional sum of ten cents, or more, when the person to whom the message is sent has to be sent for.

ARTICLE VII.

No profane, abusive, or obscene language shall be permitted to pass over the line. Any person so offending shall be fined the sum of one dollar and shall be denied the further use of the line until the fine is paid. All fines shall go into the common treasury.

ARTICLE VIII.

Any person taking down a receiver for the purpose of listening, on being requested to put it up by any member wishing to use the line, and refusing to do so, is subject to a fine of not less than one dollar and not more than ten dollars for each offense, and on refusing to pay same shall be denied further use of the line.

DOING BUSINESS AGAIN

"When my friends thought I was about to take leave of this world, on account of indigestion, nervousness and general debility," writes A. A. Chisholm, Treadwell, N. Y., "and when it looked as if there was no hope left, I was persuaded to try Electric Bittes, and I rejoice to say that they are curing me. I am now doing business again as of old, and am still gaining daily." Best tonic medicine on earth. Guaranteed by W. P. McMillan, druggist. 50c.