LEXINGTON, OREGON, THURSDAY MAY 16, 1907

NO. 34

NEW HERD LAW FOR MORROW CO.

The new herd law that goes into effect in Morrow county, May 25th, is the same as the Sherman county law that has been in effect the past few years. The law is to prevent all stock from running at large in any part of the county and provides for the taking up and impounding of such stock by any person. Parties taking up such stock are required, without unnecessary delay, to give notice of such taking up, which notice shall contain a concise description of such animals, with the marks and brands so that the owner may identify the same, and shall also state that such stock will be sold unless redeemed, giving time and place of sale, either by delivering a copy of such notice to the owner in person if residents of the county and are known to the person so taking up, or by causing a copy of such notice to be published in a newspaper of general circulation within the county.

In case the stock so advertised is not redeemed and sale is made, the person so taking up shall submit, to three disinterested parties, the amount for damages and charges for so keeping. Within ten days after making the sale a full report of the proceedings in writing, under oath, stating the amount of damages, costs and expenses so allowed, the description of the animal or animals, date of sale, to whom sold, and for what sum, and the over plus, if there be any. After deducting the amount for damages etc., the balance, if any shall be deposited with the county treasurer and his receipt taken therefor, which together with the report must be filed with the county clerk. This law provides also, for the owner or owners upon making satisfactory proof shall be entitled to a warrant on the county Treasurer for such balance, without interest, at any time within five years after the sale.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

There is probably no medicine made that is relied upon with more implicit confidence than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. During the third of a century in which it has been in use, people have learned that it is the one remedy that never fails. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. For sale by W. P. McMillan's Drug Store.

LEXINGTON

An incorporated town with a population of 350, is located on the Heppner branch of the O. R. & N., thirty-five miles from the main line, on the most beautiful spot in the fertile valley of Willow Creek. Lexington has an excellent graded school, two churches, a splendid water system, electric lights, creamery, flouring mill, good hotel, two general merchandise stores, drug store, two saloons, two blacksmith and repair shops, lumber and wood yard, large grain warehouses, barber shop, bank, livery stables, meat market, newspaper, numerous secret societies and a number of good substantial business blocks and beautiful residences. Lexington is the natural marketing point for a large portion of Morrow County's wheat crops, and the surrounding country is rapidly gaining prestige as a dairying community.

Lexington's greatest need is:

Some Dairy Rules.

If any one who expects to make dairying his business will study all the conditions and then put what he knows into practice he will make it pay. Professor Erf of Kansas lays down the below general rules to follow: "Keep a yearly record, weighing the milk and making a fat test every seventh week. It will not be long before you will have an idea which cow you should sell. Reduce the herd down to those that pay."

Good Words for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

People everywhere take pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Edward Phillips of Barclay, Md., writes: "I wish to tell you that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl, Catherine, who is two years old, has been taking this remedy whenever she has had a cold since she was two months old. About a month ago I contracted a dreadful cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever." This remedy is for sale by W. P. McMillan's Drug Store.
