LEXINGTON

An incorporated town with a population of 350, is located on the Heppner branch of the O. R. & N., thirty-five miles from the main line, on the most beautiful spot in the fertile valley of Willow Creek. Lexington has an excellent graded school, two churches, a splendid water system, electric lights, creamery, flouring mill, good hotel, two general merchandise stores, drug store, two saloons, two blacksmith and repair shops, lumber and wood yard, large grain warehouses, barber shop, bank, livery stables, meat market, newspaper, numerous secret societies and a number of good substantial business blocks and beautiful residences. Lexington is the natural marketing point for a large portion of Morrow County's wheat crops, and the surrounding country is rapidly gaining prestige as a dairying community.

Lexington's greatest need is:

DAIRY TALK OF TODAY.

The National Dairy Show association, with headquarters at Chicago, is planning its second annual show for the autumn of 1907. It will probably be held in Chicago.

Cheese Curing Experiments.

In the cheese curing experiments of the department of agriculture the past year it was found the cheese that scored the highest was that which was placed in cold storage at a temperature of 32 degrees F. directly from the press. That which scored lowest was cured in a factory curing room at a temperature of 60 degrees F.

Value of Breeding.

More attention should be given to the breeding of cows by dairymen. A dairymen whose herd is once made free from tuberculosis may readily keep it so if he grows his own supply of cows. The conditions for the sure and rapid spread of the disease are more favorable in dairy than in other herds because of the large portion of the time that dairy cows are confined in stalls in winter or at least are kept in stables even though not tied.

Cows Should Be Tested.

The dairy interest is greatly hampered in certain states by importing into them cows that have not been tested for tuberculosis, says the American Cultivator. As long as this is permitted the dairymen who invest in such cows will have their own sorrows. They are just about certain to invest in some individuals that are affected with the disease. Such being the case, it is certain to spread.

Records of Dairy Cows.

In the twenty-second annual report of the bureau of animal industry Clarence B. Lane says: The scales and the Babcock test are essential requisites for every true dairymen. Records are valuable because they assist dairymen to distinguish the good from the poor cows, assist the feeder in preparing rations economically, give warning of the approach of sickness and give inspiration to those who watch carefully for improvement. Accurate and continuous records are necessary for best results. Examples show the impracticability of trying to determine the profitable cows by mere guesswork. One dairymen found the cow he had picked out for best to be fifth on his merit list when actual records were taken. It is desirable that records of dairy animals include not only the dairy performance, but a concise history and description of each animal and a record at least of approximate accuracy of the cost of the feed of every cow, so that the economy of production may be determined.
