GREENWOOD.

This section, from five to eight miles South of Mosier, is most appropriately named. Extending for miles back to the mountains is a vast forest, broken here and there by ranches...

Those settlers who have lived in the country a number of years have places well improved and on a paying basis. Others who have recently located are bending all their energies towards clearing land and setting it to apples...

The beautiful woods, the delightfully cool breezes, even in the hottest weather, the cold, pure spring water, and the beautiful scenery, showing the snow-capped peaks of Hood, Adams, Ranier and St. Helens in the distance...

It does not require a prophet to see that what is now a vast wilderness will, in a few short years, be transformed into a thickly settled country, with fine orchards, substantial homes and happy, contented, intelligent citizens.

The Value of Raw Apples.

Many persons fancy that raw apples are indigestible, and only endurable in the early morning. Doubtless the old adage, that fruit is gold in the morning, silver in the middle of the day, and lead at night, is to some extent answerable for this (to my way of thinking) erroneous impression.

Dieticians tell us that ripe, raw apples contain more phosphates in proportion to their bulk than any other food, fish not excepted. A recent writer on this point boldly declares that in this lies the secret of healthful longevity. They correct biliousness and act as a sedative upon the racked nerves and allay insomnia.

"Eaten uncooked apples constantly, a keener, of course, in moderation, and drink distilled water only, and you are well on your way to a longer life, while the evidences of age will be long in coming."

This argument is based on the supposition that, as age advances, the deposits of mineral matter in the system increase, and that aging is little more than a process of gradual ossification. Phosphoric acid contains the least amount of earth salts, and for that reason, is probably the nearest approach to the elixir of life known to the scientific world.

BRIDGE UNSAFE.

Complaint is made that the bridge on the Mosier Creek road, known as the Fisher bridge, is unsafe, as the railing on either side does not extend the entire length of the structure. Recently, two of Ole Olsen's children were driving home alone and when nearly across the bridge the horses slid at some object in the road ahead of them and began backing the rig, until the rear wheels were almost off the bridge where the railing was missing, before the team could be stopped.

It would be well for the proper authorities to investigate the condition of this bridge and repair it before some accident happens which will cost the county more than a new bridge.

A PRACTICAL KNOWLEDGE

Of business and business methods can only be acquired through the actual, personal handling of business transactions. Some people refrain from doing business through a bank because they know but little about banking methods—others because they think the volume of their business too small to justify it.

No banker knows it all, but nearly every one knows a good deal about the working details of his business, and a lot of information is yours for the asking. Suppose your business is small—all the more reason for having a bank account. It teaches accurate business methods and cultivates the saving habit, in consequence of which your business will be the more likely to grow.

Encourage your boy or girl to open a bank account; they will thank you for it in later years. The MOSIER VALLEY BANK is at your service.

Who says you can't get the color in apples at an elevation of 2400 feet? An ambitious little three-year-old has the reddest of red apples. Indications point to a crop for next year.

Mrs. Finney returned home from Portland Friday evening. Mrs. M. Grose will spend a month at the Springs before her return to Portland. G. W. Grose was at the Springs Friday and Saturday.
