The Oregon Apple.

[H. C. Atwell in Oregonian.]

The past year's record affords much encouragement to Oregon apple-growers. Our Consul representatives report increasing interest in our fruit throughout Western Europe.

Several investments in Oregon apple lands, made by Eastern men, widely known in business circles, have made still more prominent the possibilities of Oregon apple-growing.

The apple fairs held in our state, during the past year, were of unusual merit, notwithstanding the unprecedented shortness of the apple crop throughout the Northwest.

Many orchard-planting syndicates have been organized, most of whose holdings are in Western Oregon. The acreage of these companies runs from 300 to 3000 acres, and will be devoted largely to apples.

The fact of greatest interest and promise, however, is the evidence of the closing year that the people of the state are becoming aroused to a proper appreciation of our horticultural possibilities.

In some counties, a fruit inspector and from one to three deputies are maintained by the County Court. One county (Jackson), in addition to the inspector and deputies, contributes $100 a month to expenses of a Government expert engaged in exterminating certain orchard diseases.

It required a large measure of faith, five years ago to predict such hopeful conditions. However, it is just such appreciation of native resources—just such alertness, energy and co-operation in combating pests, that have built up the California fruit industry to such magnitude, and added so many millions to the pockets of her people.

Among the changes which the O. R. & N. Co. has made in its train schedule is one which will particularly interest local patrons of the road. Beginning next Sunday an additional local train will be run between Portland and The Dalles, leaving Portland at 3:30 p. m. and arriving in The Dalles at 6:45 p. m.

Local traffic in either direction from Mosier, as one can be reasonably certain of getting an early train to Portland and way points, and of getting home without sitting up half the night waiting for the late local.

DIRECTORS WHO DIRECT

The stockholders of the MOSIER VALLEY BANK, at the first annual election, just held, have re-elected all members of the old board.

It has become pretty generally known that our directors really direct; that they are not mere figure-heads; that they are freely consulted concerning loans and other business matters before and not after they are consummated.

All these men have conducted their affairs successfully; why should they not handle your banking business safely and well? If your funds are scattered why not bring them here and keep them together in the community where most, if not all, of your interests lie?

SCHOOL NOTES.

Cecil Rowland is again in school after an absence of four weeks.

The pupils who were neither absent nor tardy during the last month of cold weather were: Orren Osborn, ninth grade; Stark Akers, Grace Higley, Leodica Hageke, Willie Stewart, Willie Depee, Leo Nichol, Edwin Sturgess, seventh grade. Billy Booth, Wilbur Denny, sixth grade. Emily Husbands, Dean Duvall, Shelly Hudson, fifth grade.—Mrs. Gove, teacher.

Jennie Carroll, Jessie Denny, Guy Duvall, Edith Harvey, Jesse Ford, fourth grade; Estel Akers, Randy Cook, Marian Wood, third grade; Oren Depee, Roland Depee, Mary Higley, second grade; George Denny, first grade; Rosa Carroll, primer class.—Miss Booth, teacher.

The eighth grade examination will be given January 20-21. Mattie Hudson is the only applicant for diploma.

Shelly Hudson is absent this week on account of a sore foot—ax—woodpile!

Pupils are required to go home immediately after being dismissed from school, unless permission is given for errands. Parents should assist the teachers to see that this School Law is enforced.

Services will be held in the Christian Church every evening until next Wednesday night, by the Rev. C. Clark, of Corvallis. Every one is cordially invited to attend these meetings.
