

Mosier Bulletin---Supplement.

It is predicted by horticultural experts that the fruit crop of 1910 will break all past records.

Mr and Mrs E. N. Stroup and baby, of Portland, spent last Sunday in Mosier.

Mr. and Mrs. Coyle came up from Lebanon last Saturday and spent several days with friends in town.

Miss Irene Fisher came up from Hood River last Saturday and visited with her-parents several days.

Rev. W. A. Stark has resigned his pastorate of the Baptist Church in Mosier, and the church people hope soon to get a minister to fill the pulpit.

Nichol and Co. have recently put into their store a double deck show case for their confectionery and a double McCaskey register, which add much to the appearance of the interior.

The U. S. Census Enumerator called in Thursday and made the statement that he would have all the Mosierites counted by that night, but as he is not permitted to divulge any of the information, we are unable to give any statistics on the census.

Rev. H. C. Clark, who has been with his family in Corvallis for about three weeks, is reported so far recovered from his attack of rheumatism that he expects to return to Mosier in time to fill his regular engagements in the Christian Church next Sunday.

Messrs. Yates and McKee, of Wasco, were in town on Monday and Tuesday last. Mr. Yates is connected with the Wasco Lumber Co., and was here trying to close contracts for the Fall delivery of wood. Mr. McKee is a druggist, and also Mayor of Wasco. He was looking over Mosier with a view to investing in some of our orchard lands.

For the last three years Oregon has been chief among the states in attracting Western immigration, and while it is too early for comprehensive figures on this year's colonist travel, it is already certain that the total will be the biggest yet. Trains have been running in from two to four sections to accommodate the travel, and owing to the active work of the Oregon Development League in furnishing advance information through the commercial bodies in dozens of Oregon communities, these newcomers have their minds definitely made up as to location, and buy their ticket to that point.

A NEW INDUSTRY.

A company has recently been formed in Hood River, having for its object the making of orchards—in other words—the company will plant and properly care for orchards belonging to non-residents, or those who have not the time, or from any other cause, are unable to look after them.

This idea is a good one, though it probably did not originate in Hood River, as real estate firms in Mosier and elsewhere have advertised to do the same thing. By thus taking full charge of the work of producing first-class orchards, many persons would invest in land who otherwise would not if it depended upon their knowledge of the business. For instance, Mr. Mayer, who has just purchased the Sellinger ranch from C. A. McCargar, probably knows little or nothing about the making of a fine orchard; but it isn't necessary that he should, as he can easily secure the services of experts in the business. C. A. McCargar, from whom Mr. Mayer bought the place, will superintend the development of this big ranch into a first-class commercial orchard.

What will the population of Mosier and Mosier district be? This is a question which many people are asking, and they are wondering if every one has been counted who should be. Every enumerator should make an extra effort to search out every person who should properly be counted. If this is done in Mosier we can show a very presentable population. Each individual should make it a point to see that he has been counted. This will help the enumerator in his duties.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan-Leavitt has entered the matrimonial race a second time. On Tuesday last she was married to Lieutenant R. A. Owen. Some time ago Ruth declared that she would never marry again; but her change of mind and name was no doubt "Owen" to the lieutenant's winnin' ways."

The season for salmon fishing opened at noon last Sunday, and several hundred boats were out on the middle and lower river, and many good catches are reported. The season promises to be very profitable for fishermen.

R. L. and C. G. Dwight knocked off work on account of the rain last Tuesday, and came to town to do some trading. The Dwight brothers recently purchased the John Brown tract and have been hard at work improving it. They are hustlers and just the class of people we need here.

The copious rains this week will bring forth abundant crops of all kinds, and gladden the hearts of stockmen and tillers of the soil.
