Geo. Sillinger, of Cascade Locks, spent a couple of days in town this week.

E. E. Fraderick came up from St. Johns last Friday and spent Sunday with his family.

Mrs. W. A. Husbands and Mrs. Ernest Evans were shopping in Hood River on Wednesday last.

Mrs. F. M. Hunter arrived from Alsea last Saturday, and will visit here with friends for a month or so.

C. A. Morden, general manager of the Oregonian, came up last Saturday evening and spent Sunday on his apple ranch south of town.

Mrs. Sarah McVey, of The Dalles, was in town on Tuesday making arrangements to have some work done on her homestead south of town.

Miss Hattie Radliss came up from Hood River last Saturday to finish the term of school in District No. 8, as Miss Ethel Johnson was forced to resign on account of ill health.

Mrs. Hunter addressed a good sized audience in the Christian Church Monday evening on the subject of Home and Foreign Missions. Tuesday afternoon she spoke to ladies exclusively.

The river is again on the rise. It is stated that at The Dalles the water registers six inches higher than it did at this time in the Spring of '94, the year of the "big water."

Mrs. H. E. Waite, who has been visiting friends in Walla Walla the past week, stopped off on Wednesday, on her way back to her home in Portland, to visit her daughter, Miss Booth.

Ed. L. Howe and wife and Mrs. Howe's mother, Mrs. Biles, went to Portland last Saturday. Mr. Howe returned to Mosier on Tuesday last, Mrs. Howe and her mother remaining in Portland.

J. L. Roberts, horticultural expert, formerly of New York, but who had been working in Hood River the past two years, arrived in Mosier recently, and is assistant to A. P. Batcham, of the East Hood River Fruit Co.

Miss Maude Bateham arrived home on Tuesday from her school in Portland, and will remain a week or so on account of a scarlet fever epidemic in Portland.

Elmer Root brought into our office this week a handful of ripe wild strawberries, the first we have seen this season around Mosier, although they were not the first that have ripened, as Elmer says that he found a number that were "dead ripe." The strawberries grew in the field on his ranch.

SUNDAY'S BALL GAME.

The Mosier boys tried their skill with the Husum aggregation of ball tossers last Sunday, and got beaten by the score of 13 to 7. The line up was as follows:

Mosier	Husum
Olson c	Gurney
Marsh ss	Tiedman
Cate 3b	Jones
Dunsmore 1f	Johnson
Squires cf	Campbell
Graham rf	Gurney
Arthur 1b	Redlinger
Evans 2b	Jones
Harvey p	Williams

Cate pitched for Harvey in the third inning and continued for five. Jim Lindsay finished the game.

The game was rather loosely played on both sides, but the Mosier boys did so much better this time than they did at The Dalles that they can justly feel elated.

Harvey's prize wing started to miss fire in the second inning, and quit altogether by the end of the inning. Cate took his place and did fine work for six innings, but the damage had been done. Cate will make a hummer of a pitcher with more practice, but for that matter all the players can improve. Bill Marsh played a great game, for he was after all the hot ones, and got most of them, too.

A feature of the game was Olson's balk, with which he put out two of the opponents at the home plate, and it gave Ye Fans a chance to try their voices. Our boys were weak with the willow, but that takes constant practice, and constant practice takes enthusiasm. So everybody root.

The game was very cleanly played, with the exception of the spiced hand that Evans got, and that was an accident.

Mosier will cross bats with a team from The Dalles on the local diamond next Sunday.

Messrs. Dr. Robinson, Geo. Carroll, Olaf Oss and Fred Evans were delegates this week to the Sunday School Convention which was held at The Dalles.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The eighth grade will take their grade examinations Thursday and Friday of this week. Mrs. Geo. Chamberlain will have charge of the examinations.

Jennie Carroll was absent on Wednesday.

Henry Page made a tardy mark this week.

The examinations for the primary grades and fourth grade in Miss Booth's room will take place the last of next week.

The flowers and shrubs planted in the school yard on Arbor Day are thriving beautifully.

Fronia Denny was a visitor at the school Tuesday afternoon.
