Just Right for That.

The visitor's host was showing him through the more or less celebrated town that has grown up around the Pullman shops.

Conceded It. "Colonel, don't you think, as the result of your observation during many years of public life, that the holding of a government position tends to take away a man's independence and make him merely a machine?" asked the inquisitive acquaintance.

"Undoubtedly," said the internal revenue collector. "There was a time, for instance, when, if you had asked me such a question as that, I should have kicked you out of my office, but I have become used to such things now and don't mind them at all."

Too Slow for This Age.

"Grandma, you never took a joy ride, did you?" "Yes, child, once; but you wouldn't call it joy riding nowadays." "When was it, grandma?" "Sixteen years ago. I took a ride in the Ferris wheel."

"How fast did it go?" "The wheels made one revolution in about fifteen minutes."

"Shucks!"—Chicago Tribune.

Well Meant, but Rude.

The wedding was over and the guests had departed, when a terrific din broke upon the stillness.

The tooting of fish horns, the beating of tin pans, and the ringing of cow bells could be distinguished clearly, while agonizing screams from unidentified instruments and the diabolical noise produced by drawing a scantling across one edge of a dry goods box contributed their share to the volume of sound.

The bride, a young woman recently from Boston, turned pale.

"Harold," she said, turning to the bridegroom, "those friends of yours doubtless mean well, and I appreciate their heartiness and sincerity, but I shall consider it a great favor if you will go out and request them to discontinue their epithalamium. It is quite too boisterous and may attract attention."—Chicago Tribune.

CURTISS MAKES RECORD FLIGHT

Albany to New York, 137 Miles, With One Stop.

Actual Time in Flight 2 Hours 32 Minutes—Wins $10,000—Train Could Not Keep Up.

New York, May 31.—Glenn H. Curtiss flew from Albany to New York City in an aeroplane, Sunday, May 29, winning the $10,000 prize offered by the New York World.

He covered the distance of 137 miles in 2 hours and 32 minutes, and came to earth as quietly and as lightly as a pigeon. His average speed for the distance—54.06 miles per hour—surpasses any other record made by an aeroplane in long-distance flight. In its entirety, his flight perhaps eclipses any flight man has made in heavier-than-air machines.

The start was made from Albany at 7:03 o'clock under weather conditions as nearly perfect as the most fastidious aviator could demand. One hour and 23 minutes later Curtiss made his first stop near Poughkeepsie, where there was an hour's intermission. Resuming his flight at 9:26, he sped southward, and landed within the boundary of Manhattan Island at 10:35.

Paulhan's flight from London to Manchester, 86 miles, exceeded the Curtiss feat for distance, but not in speed or in danger. The Frenchman's average was 44.3 miles an hour and below him lay English meadow land. Curtiss followed the winding course of the historic Hudson, with jutting headlands, wooded slopes and treacherous palisades. He swung high over the great bridge at Poughkeepsie, dipped at times within 50 feet of the river's broad surface, and jockeyed like a falcon at the turns.

Only once did his craft show signs of rebellion. This was off Storm King, near West Point, when, at a height of nearly 1,000 feet a treacherous gust struck his planes. The machine dropped 40 feet and tilted perilously, but Curtiss kept his head and by adroit manipulation restored the equilibrium of the machine.

With his eyes and brain cleared of the cobwebs of sleep, he went with his mechanic and a handful of spectators to Van Rensselaer Island, in the Hudson, three miles south of Albany, where he was to start. Waiting at the river brink was a special train chartered by the New York Times for Mrs. Curtiss and her party. From the train they could not see the actual start, but those on the island witnessed a remarkable scene.

With the signal that Curtiss was off, the special train of five cars and a locomotive gathered impetus and sought to follow. But so quickly had he flown that for 21 miles the locomotive, running nearly a mile a minute, was unable to catch up.

Grain Fields Fire Swept.

Chico, Cal., May 31.—News has been received here of the first serious grain fire of the season, in Butte county. It occurred 10 miles south of Chico, on the farm of E. Davis and adjoining places, and burned over 800 acres of ripe grain, worth about $40,000. Some of the grain was insured. Scores of farmers fought the flames for six hours before its progress was stopped. Many men were overcome by the intense heat and smoke and had to be carried from the fire, which traveled almost as fast as a man could run.

Dr. Cook After Records?

New York, May 31.—The mystery of the whereabouts of Dr. Cook, the American will say tomorrow, was solved last night. He is in Scotland, preparing for a trip to Etah, whence he plans to bring back his records of his discovery and his instruments which are cached there. He also intends to bring back the two Eskimos who accompanied him on his dash to the Pole. Dr. Cook's objective point when he shall have recovered his records and instruments, says the newspaper, will be Copenhagen.

Rice is Higher in China.

Amoy, China, May 31.—The price of rice has risen 50 per cent and the poor are unable to buy food. As a consequence of this a demonstration took place at Changchow.

Owing to the practical failure of the rice crop in certain of the interior provinces this year, almost prohibitive prices already prevail for the cereal. A further advance means famine conditions among the teeming cooies, whose principal article of food is rice.

Bear Lassoed From Auto.

Cody, Wyo., May 31.—When a big brown bear paused to look at an automobile near the ranch of G. C. Rudelson at the foot of the Big Horn mountains today, Rudolph Rovingo, the cowboy chauffeur, holding the steering wheel with one hand, lassoed the bear as the car swept past him. The captive was dragged to the Rudelson ranch and is on exhibition there, with several bare spots on his coat.

FIRE BLIGHT IN APPLE TREES

A Brief Description of the Disease and Its Cure.

By H. S. Jackson, Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis.

Fire blight is the most serious of all the diseases which attack the pear and apple. It is a contagious disease of bacterial origin which, under proper conditions, may attack any part of the tree. Besides the pear and apple, the quince, wild crab apple, hawthorn, mountain ash, serviceberry and some other pomaceous trees are subject to attacks of this disease.

Myriads of germs are present in all freshly blighted portions of the tree and in the sticky ooze exuding from cankers. The germs live almost entirely in the sappy portion of the bark, though in some vigorous-growing varieties of pears the germs have been known to invade the sap wood to a limited extent. Fire blight occurs in more or less severity in nearly all parts of the United States where pears and apples are grown.

In Oregon fire blight has appeared in two general localities—one in the southwestern part of the state, including the Rogue River valley, the other in the northeastern part.

Beginning in the spring the first apparent damage produced by the disease in an infected orchard is the blighting of the blossoms. Infection is brought about by insects, principally bees, which have visited a case of hold-over blight and become covered with the organisms contained in the sticky exudation, inoculating the flowers in their search for nectar. The organisms divide and multiply in the nectar and are able to enter the living tissues through the unprotected nectaries. Having entered the tissues they quickly blight the blossoms, pass down the blossom-stem and into the fruit spur, killing the tissues and cutting off the leaves from water supply, causing them to shrivel and dry, thus producing "fruit spur blight." The latter occurs several weeks after blossom infection. In very serious cases nearly all the fruit spurs may be blighted in this way and the trees set no fruit. Usually the germs die out and do not grow into the twig or branch on which the spur occurs, but occasionally the germs may continue into the bark of the branch at the base of the fruit spur and form a typical canker. Fruit spurs on the larger branches are a fruitful source of body infection and many cases of blight canker originate in this way.

The name "fire blight" is given to this disease because of the characteristic appearance of pear foliage on twigs or branches which have been killed by the organisms. The leaves turn black as though scorched by fire and frequently remain on the tree during the following winter. It should be noted that this color of the foliage is characteristic of the pear when it has been killed during the growing season. If a grower not familiar with the pear blight desires to know how the "twig blight" looks let him girdle a twig in mid-summer and watch the results.

The cankers are also quite characteristic, but are very variable in appearance. The disease progresses most rapidly in the fleshy outer layer of the bark and at first produces a watery appearance in the affected area. Later the tissues of the bark are more or less broken down and the cankers become dark in color.

Besides the blight cankers found on the limbs and trunks, one frequently finds in some varieties of pears and Spitzenberg apples a larger canker at the surface of the ground extending up on the trunk for some distance and down the large roots. This condition is called "collar rot," and may result from a blight canker.

A pear tree when badly cankered is easily recognized at a distance in the early autumn by the general reddish cast to the foliage.

On the apple the foliage of twig and fruit spur blight turns brown and dry.

One of the most fruitful sources of infection has been by the pruning shears or saw. In pruning, if an active canker is cut into, the tools become infected and serve as inoculating instruments to spread the disease.

The only method known of controlling fire blight is to cut out all cases of cankers wherever they appear. Spraying with fungicides is of only supplementary value and the various blight cures are worse than useless.

Experience has shown that it is of little permanent value to attempt to cut out the fruit spur and twig blight as they appear. Unless these forms of the disease extend into the branches on which they occur and a canker is formed the disease usually becomes naturally limited and the germs gradually die.

The efforts of the grower should be directed to cutting out all cases of blight canker and body canker during the fall, winter and early spring, when the cankers have become more or less limited in their growth and are not actively spreading.

Summer cutting is intelligently applied is frequently of great value, particularly where there is only a little blight. In the autumn before the leaves fall is a good time to do the cutting, as all cases of twig blight are easily observed.

The trees should be particularly examined for cases of the collar rot. It is in this form of the disease that causes many trees to be killed outright.

In cutting out cankers it is necessary that the tools be kept moist with some good disinfectant. If this is not done each cut will re inoculate the germs into the bark at the edges of the canker and the labor may thus be useless.

Corrosive sublimate in a solution of one part to one thousand of water has been found to be the most satisfactory disinfectant. The solution is a violent poison. It must be kept in glass.

A Cough Medicine

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a regular cough medicine, a strong medicine, a doctor's medicine. Good for easy coughs, hard coughs, desperate coughs. If your doctor endorses it for your case, take it. If not, don't take it. Never go contrary to his advice.

Ayer's

The dose of Ayer's Pills is small, only one at bedtime. As a rule, laxative doses are better than cathartic doses. For constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, sick-headaches, they cannot be excelled. Ask your doctor about this.

Made by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

LET EVERY PERSON TAKE CARE OF THEIR TEETH

Better Health will be their reward. If your teeth are decayed have them attended to at our office by DR. WYTHE or one of our expert workmen who are skilled in DR. WYTHE'S system. I KNOW what to do and how to do it. That's why all my work is positively PAINLESS. That's why all my work is GUARANTEED to give lasting satisfaction. Popular prices within the reach of everyone. Charge!

Coupled with my incomparably low prices for dentistry of guaranteed reliability is the fact that we do not expect the pay until the work is satisfactory to you.

Fillings in Gold, Silver, Platinum and Porcelain $50-$150 Gold Crowns and Bridges work..... $3.50 and $5.50

I Am Making a Specialty of Porcelain Bridge-work.

This is without doubt the most beautiful and lasting work or dental science. Spaces where one or more teeth have been lost I replace to look so natural that detection is impossible. Ask to see samples of this beautiful work. All dentists here are graduates of from 22 to 20 years' experience.
