"In Norway," remarked the globe trotter, "no girl is allowed to have a beau until she can bake bread and knit stockings."
"In this country," rejoined the fussy bachelor, "there should be a law forbidding any girl having a beau until she is able to navigate the streets without the aid of a dog on the end of a string."—Chicago News.

Somebody Sorry.

Sunday School Teacher—Now, children, the subject is the story of the Prodigal Son. Can any one tell me who was glad when the prodigal returned?
"The father," was the unanimous response.
"And who was sorry?" asked the teacher.
"The fattened calf," promptly responded a little girl.—Pittston Gazette.

Preocious Forethought.

"Tommy," said the teacher, "you have made some inexcusable mistakes in your geography lesson."
"Yes'm," said the precocious youth. "When I'm a man I'm going to be an explorer. I want to avoid the minute accuracy which will lead people to discredit my observations."—Washington Star.

What does that mean?

It means that the men that in a past generation would have been independent merchants are now the employees of these stores, and never can be anything else; employes on wages with time checks, fines, and their daily work dependent upon a manager's caprice. That is their prospect in life. It is hard (in some of its aspects), and we dislike to admit it, but it is the truth.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

Every man thinks his brutality is "tact."
Fishing seems to be the favorite form of loafing.
Any woman closely associated with a man can make or break him.
None of us realize how much people talk about us behind our backs.
Every shiftless man is a liar; he acquires the habit in giving excuses.
We despise a man who doesn't appreciate a friend; friends are so rare.
Talk with any man five minutes, and he will say the trouble with him is, he is too meek.
Out of one hundred people who try to save money, ninety-five will make the attempt very feebly.
Even when times are very good, things will not come your way unless you carefully start them.
There are so many kinds of meanness that people now talk about the meanness kind of meanness.
People nearly always predict disaster for their own town, and tell how well other towns are doing.
It is easy to say to a man, "Be sensible." But half the time a man does not know what is sensible.
An Eastern man is teaching people how to kiss by means of a correspondence course. As though everyone does not know!
Much of the clamoring now going on has a tendency to make industry and honorable achievements almost disreputable.
Our experience is that an artist who is not appreciated is just about as disagreeable as it is possible for a human to be.

Nature as a Healer.

A great, broad, consoling and fundamental fact remains that in a large majority of diseases which attack humanity under 90 per cent of the unfavorable influences which affect us nature will effect a cure if not too much interfered with. As the old proverb has it, "A man at 40 is either a fool or a physician," and Nature is a good deal over 40 and has never been accused of lacking intelligence.—Woods Hutchinson, M. D., in Delineator.

Preferred to Pay.

A little miss riding on a Brooklyn trolley car the other day tendered the conductor half fare.
"How old are you, little girl?" he queried, gingerly handling her fare. She pursed her lips for a moment, then calmly opened her purse, dropped two more pennies into the conductor's extended palm, snapped her purse and demurely replied:
"You have your fare, sir; my statistics are my own."—Brooklyn Life.

His Exhausting Mental Labor.

"If you have any trade or occupation," asked the woman of the house, "why don't you follow it?"
"Every day," said Tufford Knutt, with his mouth full, "I work fourteen hours every day."
"How? At what?"
"With me mind, ma'am, same ez all de great inventors do. I'm tryin' to think up a substitute for my rubber."—Chicago Tribune.

The Obliging Grandmother.

"You will have to let me off for a day or two in April, ma'am."
"Why, Nora, what for?"
"I must be sick a bit, ma'am."
"Sick, Nora?"
"Sure, ma'am. I'm th' grandmother of an office boy who wants to get off an 'see th' openin' ball game, ma'am."
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Outlashed.

Wearied with his overcast hike, the Wandering Jew stopped to rest.
"What's the use?" he exclaimed. "I can't keep up with old man Weston to save my life! He's forty miles ahead of me and going like the wind!"
Running a revolving hand through his flowing beard, he proceeded to heap a few choice maledictions on the day of his birth.

What's the Use?

"You don't take your doctor with you when you travel now, I see," said his confidential friend.
"No," said the financial magnate; "he's too tyrannical. Besides, it's just as cheap to have him fix me up after I've come back from one of my long trips."
—Succinctly Stated.

Electrical Notes.

London has a trackless trolley.
Monorail systems have proven successful in India.
The old horse car lines of St. Petersburg, Russia, are to be electrified.
Buenos Aires has authorized the construction of an electric subway under the city.
Wireless telegraph apparatus is prohibited in British India except upon government license.
Ozone generators are advocated for the subway cars in New York to increase the oxygen in the air.
A French syndicate has contracted to develop the water powers in Uruguay to furnish light and power to the inland towns.
The City Council of Cincinnati is planning a subway to connect the business section of the city with the outlying residential sections.
Lightning will strike more than once in the same place. A transmission line in Colorado was recently struck five times in the same place.
Cincinnati boasts the only church on wheels. It is a large electric bus which is loaded with singers and speakers and invades the slums every Sunday.
The development of the water powers in California has helped boost the state by bringing new industries and helping old industries with plenty of cheap electric power available.

FASHION HINTS

The back view of this little dress is so attractive that it deserves a word all by itself.
The jackety tab at the waist, and the cute little knot of the girle that crushes up to it, are very distinctive.
