

Many Join Commercial Club
The Commercial Club held a rousing meeting at Lamb's Hall, last Saturday afternoon. The only feature that did not prove satisfactory to the members was the resignation of C. A. McCargar as president of the club. Mr. McCargar, however, felt that he could not give the time and attention necessary for one in that position to make a success of it. His resignation was accepted and J. K. McGregor was unanimously elected to fill the position. In a brief and well worded speech, Mr. McGregor thanked the members for the confidence reposed in him, and assured the club that he would exert himself to the utmost to make a success of the various enterprises which it had undertaken; but said that as one man could accomplish very little alone, he expected every member to put his shoulder to the wheel and help boost the club, the town and the district.

The secretary read the names of twelve applications for membership in the club. A communication was read from Tom Richardson, suggesting that an apple show be held in Mosier this fall, in which prizes would be given for the best display. A committee was appointed to attend to the matter.

F. W. Woodcock, of Seattle, was introduced to the members. Mr. Woodcock explained his object in coming to Mosier, which was to promote the erection of a large hotel here. He said that with the co-operation of the citizens of the district, he could guarantee that a good hotel with all the modern conveniences, to cost, including the site, $50,000, would be in operation by next spring. A committee of three was appointed to consult further with Mr. Woodcock and report at a meeting of the club to be held some time next week. It should not be a difficult matter to form a stock company among men interested in Mosier, and it is quite likely that this will be done. More hotel accommodations are needed here, and if a hotel were built such as Mr. Woodcock suggested—one pleasantly located in or near the town, where families from Portland and other cities could come and spend two or three months of summer and fall, Mosier would soon gain a reputation as a summer resort with the best of accommodations. We have the climate and scenery here, and all that is lacking are the facilities to accommodate the public.

If Mr. Woodcock or any other gentleman can "produce the goods", Mosier should take advantage of the opportunity to get such a hostelry here.

Business Conditions

The only unfavorable element in the situation is the unfavorable attitude of federal lawmakers and state officials towards the railways and the spirit which would prevent the companies from moderately advancing their charges to offset the increased cost of operation. When the manufacturer is obliged to pay higher prices for raw material and increased wages he does the only possible thing in the circumstances and correspondingly raises the charge for his product. The railways are obliged to pay increased prices for supplies and higher wages, and it is only reasonable that they should get more for what they sell, namely, transportation.

That they are impelled to raise their charges is plain from current traffic returns showing increased gross takings, while costs of operation have increased in still greater ratio, with resulting decrease in net earnings. Unless the greatest of all industries is permitted to prosper the country cannot be prosperous.—New York Herald.

OUR PORTLAND LETTER

Portland, Ore., July 5. (Special)—The outcome of an experiment to be tried with burned-over timber in Coos County by the Santa Fe Railroad will be watched with interest throughout the Pacific Northwest. If successful, it will mean that large areas of forests, formerly considered useless, will become valuable for the burned-over timber yet remaining. The Santa Fe has contracted for 1200 cedar piling from such a tract in Coos County. If the charred piling proves a success, much more of the same material will be bought by the Santa Fe and a wide market will be found for this now apparently worthless timber.

Portland ends the cereal shipping year May 31, holding second place in the entire country as a wheat exporting city. New York alone has a greater volume to its credit. During the past 12 months Portland has sent away 6,350,033 bushels of wheat, valued at $5,791,304.

Large appropriations for Oregon waterway improvements are available by the passage of the Rivers and Harbors bill by the recent Congress. More than $1,000,000 will be spent in perfecting the jetty at the mouth of the Columbia River and additional funds are provided for dredging the Lower Willamette and Columbia Rivers. The improvement of the upper Willamette and Columbia is provided for, as is the Celilo Canal, which gets $600,000.

Together with the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific will carry on a work of exploitation of Oregon. Writers and publicity men are now being enlisted by the line to work up material to be used throughout the country in spreading the knowledge of Oregon broadcast. With the Hill lines actively engaged in the work of publicity, large results can be expected.

Attention is called by the Oregonian to the growth of the livestock industry in the Pacific Northwest. On one day of last week, it says, ten carloads of wheat were received at Portland and forty carloads of livestock. It is maintained that the stock grower will become a more important factor in the prosperity of the state than the wheat grower in the coming ten years. Then there will be more wheat grown than at present but the livestock industry will have expanded to a remarkable degree by that time, due to Portland having the greatest stockyards and packing plant on the Pacific Coast. This means much to the city's future, it is believed.

Salem, the capital city, will hold its annual cherry fair on July 7, 8 and 9. The event promises to be a big affair and is being widely advertised. People from the entire valley will attend and unusual preparations are being made to entertain them. There will be keen competition between the valley counties for prizes in the berry exhibits, and amusement features of the fair will be better than ever.

The high prices of food products are driving many people back to the farm is the belief of those who have given the matter attention. It is contended that not for years has the movement been as noticeable as now. All parts of the Pacific Northwest are being benefited, it is said, by this desertion of the cities and return to the soil. Confidence is expressed that this will balance production and consumption and bring prices of farm products down to lower levels.

$35,000 Theatre for Hood River
It is now announced definitely that Captain Chas. P. McCan will begin immediately on the construction of a $35,000 theatre for Hood River, which will be adapted to many uses and furnish a place to hold the annual apple fair, as well as attract the best theatrical attractions. Plans are being completed in the office of Architect R. R. Bartlett for the

Putting Off Things

One of the evils that has crept into all lines of work is procrastination. The thrifty merchants, the successful men of affairs, are the ones who keep ahead of their work and never let important duties lag. Equally true does this hold good with the farmer. Wise is he who so plans his work that he pushes it instead of it pushing him with things left undone because of the putting off until tomorrow what should have been done on time.

From another viewpoint procrastination has many more indictments against it than being a "thief of time." Many a heart pang has resulted from putting off until tomorrow what might have been done today. We are too apt to let the kindler promptings of the heart wait for a future time to express them instead of expressing them in act and deed in the present.

Too many in the chase for the almighty dollar defer the good they might do, as they pass through the world, until they have reached the goal of fortune, then only to realize that the habits formed unfit them to do the good they intended to do. We are all too apt to postpone our good deeds, and as a result it is everlastingly too late in most instances. The kind word, the kind deed, the pleasant smile are too often pushed into the background as we go along and we too often fail to realize this until too late.

If you have hard work to do, do it now; a song to sing, sing it now; a kind word to say, say it now; a smile to show, show it now. Beware the putting off until the tomorrow.—Ex.
