OUR PORTLAND LETTER
Portland, Ore., Aug. 2 (Special).—Greater progress has been made by the business interests of Oregon between March 29 and June 30 than in any two-month period in the history of the state since the establishment of the state bank examiner's office. This is disclosed in the report of the Bank Examiner, just made, covering that period.

Deposits in the banks of the state at close of business June 30 totaled $115,196,986, a gain since March 29 of $1,192,705. Of these deposits $11,925,734 were savings deposits, which increased during the same period $842,985. Total resources of Oregon banks, $142,418,734. Eight new banks were established in the state during the period covered by the report.

That the Oregon Trunk road will be ready for service to Madras by January 1, 1911, is now promised unless unexpected difficulties arise. Grading from the Columbia River south will be completed, it is believed, by September 1. Laying of rails will then be begun and ballasting will be done as fast as each mile of track is laid. Thus it will be but a short time between the laying of the last rail and the opening of the road for business. Grading south of Madras toward Bend is also being rushed and the building of the road for that distance will follow completion of the line to Madras.

Oregon's two infantry regiments and ambulance company of the National Guard will go into camp at American Lake this month and participate in the usual joint field maneuvers with the regular army. August 8 is fixed as the date of departure, and the men will remain in camp ten days. Adjutant General Finzer has issued orders for the mobilization of his troops.

Coos Bay is going to improve its harbor and the channel from the ocean into the bay. Public docks and warehouses are to be built as well. For this purpose it is the intention to expend $300,000. It is proposed to issue 20-year bonds bearing 5 per cent interest. Coos Bay people approve this project generally but the Commission of the Port has decided to leave the matter to a vote at the Fall election. The plan contemplates a great improvement of the Coos Bay harbor.

Secretary Wilson, of the Department of Agriculture, has been in Oregon during the past week seeking information in regard to the settlement of lands included in the forest reserves of the state. He plans to have the reserve re-mapped and the boundaries established in an accurate way. It is said much land is included in the reserves that should not be, and when the new maps are completed 5,000,000 or 6,000,000 acres now in reserves in the state will be opened up for settlement.

Secretary Ballinger, of the Department of the Interior, is busy on a trip of inspection of the reclamation projects of the state and is becoming familiar with the workings of the service in Oregon. Among other things he will start preliminary surveys of the Crater Lake National Park, looking toward its development along the lines of the better known national parks of the country.

The question—"How old is Ann?" has caused much figuring and possibly gray hairs, and hasn't been answered yet; but the question as to the age of the earth will no doubt be settled very soon, as a number of scientific men have been working their "think tanks" over time on the problem. Their figures run all the way from 20,000,000 years to 400,000,000 years. These wise acers with a passion for mathematics do not say how long this old earth will survive, but the ordinary mortal will no doubt be satisfied if he can live out his little three score and ten. The age of the earth doesn't trouble him, nor the size of it—he will get his three-by-six some time.

Mayor Gaynor, of New York, is making good with the masses all right in instituting a campaign against fraudulent weights and measures, and other "trade customs" by which the public is mulcted to the tune of many thousands of dollars. The Literary Digest contains a lengthy article in regard to it, and quotes from various newspapers that are giving the matter publicity. It says, quoting the Brooklyn Eagle:

"The dishonesty in the sale of goods has been very general, but it has sprung from lack of close supervision rather than from wide-spread dishonesty of purpose. There are dishonest men in every line of business. When such men are allowed to sell goods under weight or measure, honest men who compete with them must either lose business or resort to the same sort of cheating. The temptation has led a good many naturally honest but weak men to adopt the swindling practices, until they have become 'trade customs.'"

Again from the Baltimore Evening Sun:

"Mayor Gaynor has also discovered that the butchers of New York in weighing dressed meats count in the wrappings and charge for them at the full rate for meat. On the average Chicago ham, for example, there is a burlap and paper covering which weighs nearly half a pound. It costs the packer three-fourths of a cent, and yet the consumer has to pay for it at the rate of from 22 to 30 cents a pound. In the same way the public is regularly mulcted for wrapping paper, twine and skewers. According to Mayor Gaynor's experts, the people of New York pay $40,000 a year for skewers alone, buying them as lamb chops or tenderloin at from 25 to 50 cents a pound. They cost the butchers about $500 a year."

Favor Newspaper Advertising
The Allegheny County Business Men's Protective association was organized at Pittsburgh, Curtis T. Werfel, chairman, and W. I. Mayer, secretary, are the temporary officers.

Sol Mayer, of Wheeling, W. Va., president of a similar organization, advised the keeping of a record of delinquent debtors by maintaining a printed book or list, copies to be forwarded each member of the organization. The association will strive to eliminate billboard and other advertising in favor of newspaper publicity.—American Press.

"DESPISE NOT THE DAY OF SMALL THINGS"

A single dollar by itself seems a trifle, and it really isn't very much, yet it is the collective effect of many single dollars SPENT that holds the noses of so many men to the proverbial grindstone, and the collective power of many single dollars SAVED that brings success to others, lifting them out of the rut of dependence and mediocrity.

The man who despises a single dollar seldom commands a thousand.

Open an account with the MOSIER VALLEY BANK and add to it a portion of your earnings each week or month and a time will come when it will be a comfort to you and when the grindstone will have lost its terrors.

An Easterner's View

"The Spectator" writing in the Outlook about Oregon, says:

"Oregon boasts of having a greater variety of industries than any other state in the Union. Along the coast and on the Columbia River the fishermen reap their harvest; the vast forests of the interior add millions to the timber wealth of the world; the coast country is unsurpassed for products, while the hop production is greater than in any other State; fruit culture has been carried on successfully in southern Oregon, while eastern Oregon has been the domain of the bonanza wheat farmer. With all these numerous and varied resources there has been almost no 'specializing' among the people. Each man has worked at many trades and each patch of ground has produced grain, fruit and vegetables, with no system as to the planting, improving, or marketing of the products. It has been left to Hood River to 'specialize' its fruit and apples are grown according to methods gained by study and experience, and are marketed under a system so perfect as to insure a ready sale to distant dealers."

Plan Open River into Canada

An action taken by the Portland Chamber of Commerce leads to the belief that the deepening of the channel in the Columbia river so that it will be navigable from Portland to Bobson, B.C., is a matter of the near future.

The Canadian government invited the Commercial bodies of Portland to take up the matter. A resolution was adopted requesting President Knapp to appoint a committee to meet with Sir Wilfred Laurier premier, and members of the Canadian cabinet at Nelson, B. C., September 1. At that cabinet meeting the Portland men and the Canadians will resolve themselves into a committee of the whole to discuss the matter.

"If the Canadian government will attend to the channel, from the international boundary," said Secretary Giltner, "it should be easy for Portland to see to the rest."

"The river is now navigable as far as Priest Rapids, including the operation of the boat railway at Celilo. From Priest Rapids to Wenatchee some work is required, but from Wenatchee to Okanogan the river is practically in shape."

"Portland should realize this as a great opportunity. To Portland the benefit of an open river will be incalculable. In place of having products of British Columbia go east by way of Vancouver, they will come directly to Portland. It is impossible to over estimate what this means. It is Portland's chance, but Portland must be wide-awake enough to realize it.—Glacier."

A Sermon in Figures

The Oregonian says:

Though 21 counties of Oregon have declared for local option, leaving but 13 "wet" territories, the annual report of Colonel David M. Dunne, United States Collector of Internal Revenue, for the fiscal year, shows that in 1910 the tax on distilled spirits in the state reached $307,208.88, the largest amount in its history and $37,937.90 in excess of the tax of the preceding period.

The tax on beer for the last year was $224,721.50 and the largest previous year was 1907, though it was $18,965 less than for 1910. Last month's collections were $145,421.92 and that amount includes receipts from the tax on corporations. There was a slight increase in the tax on cigars and tobacco, but it was nominal compared with the advance on beverages.

In 1907 the tax on distilled spirits was $76,871.30 and it reached $258,100.59 in 1908, and increased to $269,270.98 in 1909.

On fermented liquor or beer the total in 1907 was $205,756.50, in 1908 it was $196,905, and in 1909 just $197,230.50.

Here is a minister who appreciates the editor. At a recent editorial convention he offered the following toast: "To save an editor from starvation, take his paper and pay for it promptly. To save him from bankruptcy, advertise in his paper liberally. To save him from despair, send him every item of news of which you can get hold. To save him from profanity, write your correspondence plainly on one side of the sheet and send it in as early as possible. To save him from mistakes, bury him. Dead people are the only ones who never make mistakes."—Ex.
