Mr. and Mrs. Renstrom and daughter, of Brainerd, Minn., arrived on the overland Wednesday and will visit here a few days with Mrs. Renstrom, s brother, C. J. E. Carlson, whom she had not seen for 20 years. They will then proceed to California, where they expect to locate.

The Agricultural College is offering free tuition to a short course series of lectures, beginning January 3 and continuing four weeks. This course includes Agriculture, Mechanic Arts, Domestic Science and Art, Commerce, Forestry and Music. This is an excellent opportunity for any of our citizens to spend a profitable month at Corvallis and fill their minds with useful knowledge. We call attention to the announcement elsewhere.

A. E. Negus, the veteran well digger, has recently finished a piece of work for F. A. Shogren that is a credit to him and a satisfaction to Mr. Shogren. The well on the Shogren place was sunk three feet deeper into solid rock. It was then cased with brick four feet from the bottom and from the brick wall to the surface is a five-inch thick concrete wall. The well is enclosed at the top with a brick arch covered with concrete, making it absolutely dirt and insect proof. Mr. Negus understands his business all right.

Emmauel Church Services

At the morning service next Sunday, Nov. 19, Mr. Hargreaves' sermon subject will be: "The Question of Evangelism Illustrated by Impressions from the Gypsy Smith Meetings."

In the evening, at 7:30, Dr. Ross will conduct the meeting. The subject will be the present day application of Cain's question—"Am I my Brothers Keeper?" This is a practical theme and will be treated in a practical manner.

To these meetings cordial invitation is extended.

About 22 Odd Fellows of Mosier joined a large number from The Dalles and Dufur here on Monday night and went to Hood River on a special train to attend a district convention of Odd Fellows of Wasco and Hood River counties. A royal good time was had. The storm kept a good many from attending.

The Jail Question Again.

The fact that the sheriff's office deems it expedient to hire extra guards to keep prisoners from escaping from the county jail should be noted by the people of Wasco county. There have been several jail deliveries from this building within the past few months, when no guards were employed, and the sheriff and his deputies have been obliged to give chase over the Pacific Northwest to recover the absentees. In at least one instance a trip across the continent almost to the Atlantic seaboard was made after an escapee.

Wasco county requires its sheriff to give a bond for the faithful performance of his duty. An important part of his duty is to hold prisoners for action of the courts—and the county provides a so-called jail from which men have escaped with no other aid than that of a common tin spoon.

Money spent in chasing prisoners and hiring extra guards is thrown away, but the conditions as they exist must be met by the sheriff at any cost.

The Star feels that it speaks advisedly when it says that no county in Oregon with anything like the wealth of Wasco maintains such inadequate and obsolete institutions as the court house and jail.

Under the businesslike management of the present Board of Commissioners the finances of the county were never in better condition to stand the expense of erecting a modern court house and jail, and the need for such buildings is more apparent daily. With the county owning the site, an expenditure of $159,000 for county building would be true economy for the taxpayers of the county, and we believe a large majority of them would sanction it if given the opportunity.—Shaniko Star.

Advertise in Your Home Paper.

The up-to-date business man, in these days of brisk competition, gets out and hustles for trade. He goes after it and doesn't expect to sit idly in his place of business and expects it all to come to him. He realizes that he must let the purchasing public know he is in business, that he has something to sell. He knows that the best way to do this is by printers ink. He advertises judiciously. He knows that if he doesn't advertise, the other fellow who does will get the business.

No matter what you have to dispose of, you you can do so better and quicker by advertising. Let the public know what you have that they want, or what you want that they have. If you have lost anything, some one is sure to find it. If you have found something some one has lost it. By inserting an advertisement in the home paper the loser and the finder will see it and know how and where to recover it.

The value of the home paper as an advertising medium is being constantly demonstrated. Try it once.

Gaze East Sought

[Oregonian]

Oregon will hereafter give more attention to the land shows and exhibits of products in the East. This was decided yesterday at a meeting of the promotion committee of the Portland Commercial Club. Chairman Johnson, Manager Chapman and other members of the committee were enthusiastic over the importance of this work and agreed that the club should show the state's products to a greater extent in the East. A special fund is to be raised for this work and the money is coming in satisfactorily.

The first work to be done along this line is the Governors' special exhibit train, that will leave St. Paul late this month. Oregon will fill part of one car with exhibits.

Thousands to Be Attracted.

Reilly Atkinson, manager of the Western Governors' special, was in the city yesterday, making arrangements to fill the Oregon car.

"We expect with this train to attract to the West for a period of at least three weeks the attention of the entire United States and a part of Europe," said Mr. Atkinson. "We have already had in Eastern newspapers over 2000 columns of free matter, and many of the papers have treated the subject editorially. We expect to show our exhibits to thousands. The cities we pass through have a combined population of over 12,500,000.

"We are purposely avoiding all the big land shows for the sake of attracting more attention to our exhibits. What we are after is publicity for the Northwest and we expect this trip to attract a vast amount of attention to our own section of the country."

Dr. N. Johnson was a business visitor at The Dalles yesterday.

C. J. Littlepage was a passenger on yesterday's local for Portland.
