AMERICA NAMED BY GERMAN

Martin Waldseemuller Published First Map With That Title Given the New World.

In the interesting town of St. Die, in French Lorraine, there was recently held a celebration of special interest to the people of this side of the world, and in a lesser degree to Spain and Italy. It was in honor of the four hundredth anniversary of the publication of the geographical work of Martin Waldseemuller, in which America was suggested as the name of the New World.

There have been many theories and much controversy as to the origin of the name America, and not a few have pointed to the slight which was put upon Columbus in this connection. Some have denounced Amerigo Vesputti—who, like Columbus, was an Italian sailing under the flag of Spain—for "stealing" the glory due the real discoverer.

But the chief wrong, if any was done, was committed by the German geographer in the book which was published in 1507, and on the map which he published a year or so later. On that map the name America was applied, however, only to the southern part of the New World. The northern part was called Paria.

It is possible, perhaps probable, that Vesputti, not Columbus, first reached the mainland of America; and it was Vesputti who grasped the important fact that a new continent had been found, and not simply a part of Asia. Of that fact Columbus died in ignorance.

But rightly or wrongly, the name of Amerigo Vesputti, trader, traveler and writer, was given to the New World, and given to remain forever. And now a lofty tower rises among the hills of Lorraine to commemorate the suggestion which resulted in the designation.

Was too Ours? Fresh from the lecture on politeness the street car conductor went on duty resolved to extend courtesy to all. From the car barns up to 99th street he put his resolution into effect. He assisted the feeble and heavy-laden, he smiled serenely under unmerited abuse and he hurried no one unduly. At 98th street he noticed that a woman in the middle seat was preparing to leave the car at the next corner. The child beside her was too big to cause her any particular trouble in alighting, but the conductor had been pleased with the way the woman smiled upon the child, so he hurried forward to help.

The woman stepped down first and the conductor, with one sweep of his arm, set the child down beside her. His signal to go on was followed by a scream, then another and another. "Boo hoo," howled the boy, and "My child! Bring my child back here," cried a woman in the car. Half a block further along the car stopped. "He isn't mine," gasped the woman when she and the boy had caught up with the car. "I only just smiled at him."—New York Sun.

Quills and Their Uses.
Quills are things that are sometimes taken from the plumes of one goose to spread the opinions of another.

ABROGATION IS UPHELD.

Congress Promptly Ratifies Termination of Russian Treaty.

Washington, D. C.—Congress very promptly ratified the president's notification of the termination of the Russian treaty of 1832 and sent the measure to the president for his signature. The house disposed of it according to program within 75 minutes.

Speaker Clark signed it at 2:56 p. m.; Vice President Sherman signed it at 3:31 p. m., after the senate had remained in session purposely to permit him, under the rules, to affix his signature while it was in session.

It was a perfunctory proceeding in the house, for Democrats and Republicans voted together, Macon, of Arkansas, Democrat, alone voting in the negative. He explained to the house later that he voted against the resolution in a spirit of levity.

In the debate Republicans joined with their political opponents in tributes to Representative Sulzer, of New York, the Democratic author of the house bill, for accepting the senate measure amending his own.

"Mr. Sulzer has shown that he is acting through the promptings of patriotism, not politics," Republican Leader Mann said.

The Russian reply to the notice from Ambassador Guild that America wished to terminate the treaty of 1832 has been received at the State department. The officials decline to publish the text of the note, but admit that its contents have been well outlined in the news dispatches from St. Petersburg.

GIRLS BARTERED FOR GOLD.

Russian Miss Who Wants to Wed American Tells.

Los Angeles.—Declaring bitterly that the local Russian colony of 3,000 is a marriage market wherein young girls are bartered by their parents like so many cats, Elsie Navikoff, a girl of 18, said she had been bartered for $500 gold to a man she had never seen, so she ran away. She had been seen by her judge Wilbur's court and screamed that she would bare the secrets of her people rather than submit.

Reside her stood Raynor Hallack, a sturdy American, who served five years in the navy and to whom she clung because she loves him and he wants to marry her. She is 17, educated, Americanized and pretty, the daughter of John Navikoff, and she asserted that her father and mother had sold her for $500 gold to a man she had never seen, so she ran away. She had been seen by her judge Wilbur's court and screamed that she would bare the secrets of her people rather than submit.

The girl's testimony constitutes a sensational chapter as any ever heard in a local court. She asserted, and offered to prove, that there are 600 young Russian girls for sale here at an average price of $500 a man want wives, that their parents are the sellers and the highest bidders are the buyers; that the personal charms of girls are inventoried like the points of livestock and constitute the criterion of sale.

Her frail form shaking with the intensity of her feelings, she flung the denials of a score of Russian patriarchs present back into their teeth. Judge Wilbur continued the case and a thorough investigation of the colony will be made.

Officers of the court declare the girl's statements are true.

Gompers Courts Investigation.

Washington, D. C.—"We are ready at any time for the agents of the law to begin investigating," so declares Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, in an editorial on "Labor's Position Lawful and Progressive," which will appear in the January issue of the American Federationist.

Mr. Gompers pledges his full cooperation in any investigation that may be made. The forthcoming number of the official organ of the Federation will be the first to appear since organized labor's defense of the McNamara brothers collapsed by reason of their confession of the crime they were charged against them. In his editorial Mr. Gompers confines himself to a discussion of the issues raised by the McNamara case, saying of the case itself that he and his colleagues will stand by the statement they authorized soon after the confession of the brothers.

Shuster May Have to Go.

Teheran.—The cabinet has won an important victory over the national coalition which foreshadows the acceptance of Russia's demand for the dismissal of W. Morgan Shuster, the American treasurer general of Persia, unless public opinion proves too strong. The national council, in session that lasted from 8 o'clock until after midnight, finally accepted the proposal to appoint a commission of five deputies with plenary powers to deal with the Russian ultimatum. The Democrats opposed the proposal.

Portland Cargoes Large.

Los Angeles.—Ocean freight and passenger traffic to Los Angeles is greater now than ever before in the history of the city, and local steamship agents declare that their accommodations are taxed to the fullest extent. D. W. Ferguson, local agent for the North Pacific Steamship company, which operates a line of steamers between this port and Portland, said that during the past two months the amount of freight brought from Portland here by his line has increased at least 200 per cent.

Will Consider Tariff Reform.

Washington, D. C.—Congress will begin consideration of the tariff legislation in the committees of the two houses after the holiday recess, though Democratic leaders of the house say that no measure will be ready to be reported for several weeks. Republican Leader Penrose, of the senate, said the finance committee would begin its work in advance of the house, though the bill would not be in final shape until February.

Portland Bill Favored.

Washington, D. C.—The secretary of the treasury submitted a favorable report upon the bill appropriating $1,900,000 for the Portland Federal building. Supporters of the measure are hopeful of getting the bill through the senate soon after the holidays.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT AND PROGRESS OF OUR HOME STATE

LAKEVIEW AWAITING ROAD.

Impetus to Business Result of Announcement of New Line.

Lakeview.—The coming of the new railroad here means an impetus to business of which few outsiders have any idea. Many people believe that the coming of the railroad means merely better methods of transportation for those already settled, but the importance of the growth has already begun to be demonstrated. There are a number of new people who have come here to engage in business of recent weeks, and the real estate business is attracting some who believe that the approach of the steel rails means higher values for land. One long-felt want in the town is being filled by a new lumber yard, and as soon as freight trains begin doing work it is expected to start the new enterprise off with about 40 carloads of lumber.

The town already has one lumber yard and planing mill, but the demand for material has overtaxed the facilities. The new yard will help the builders to get plenty of material, without using freshly sawed lumber or carrying stock for a season and waiting for it to cure.

Streets leading to the depot are being graveled and put into good shape for traffic to and from the station.

ANALYSIS SHOWS PURITY.

Klamath Falls Water, Under Test, Declared Free of Bacteria.

Klamath Falls.—In the controversy over the quality of the city water supply, which has caused residents here to boil the water used for domestic purposes for months past and resulted in the city spending much money in an effort to find purer water so it might go into the water business, the Klamath Falls Light & Water company, which has been subjected to much criticism, has at last turned the tables on its critics.

It has an analysis, the fourth one made by Dr. Calvin S. White, secretary of the Oregon state board of health, at Portland, which shows that the water is now free from bacteria and that the two samples taken from the main spring contain only three and 50 organisms, respectively. The company's officials declare that the water is absolutely pure. This winter the city will be furnished water only from the springs which have stood the test, as indicated, and these springs will be securely walled off from possible contamination.

SITE CHOSEN FOR STATION.

Southern Oregon Experiment Farm In Rogue River Valley.

Corvallis.—Twenty-five acres of land with $2,500 worth of buildings, formerly part of the Jackson county poor farm, has been deeded to the Oregon Agricultural college by the county for use for the new Southern Oregon Branch Experiment station, eight miles east of Medford and half a mile south of Talent on the main county road.

As there are four distinct types of soil on the property, some of the most important commercially in the Rogue River valley, this is an unusually well adapted site for experimental work.

There are two different types of the Bear Creek river bottom soils which are good examples of the soil in the valley flats, and two upland soils of the more gravelly type, which represent the hillside soils in the western part of the valley. A spring with perpetual flow has made it possible to have over half the acreage under irrigation at present.

Eugene Spies Full-Grown Deer.

Eugene.—Two full grown deer, a buck and a doe, were seen at different times within the city limits of Eugene on Sunday afternoon. Shortly after noon, E. J. Crow saw a large buck deer in his pasture near the golf links. The animal was apparently entirely undisturbed, and was walking around with the cattle in the pasture. A short time afterward L. L. Godrich saw a large doe come down from the hills to the south of the city, cross the street tracks, and jump the golf links fence. The animals were seen by several people, and did not seem to be at all disturbed by their urban surroundings. Tiring of sightseeing, they jumped the intervening fences and returned to the hills around Spencer Butte.

DECISION DUBIOUS.

Effect of University Referendum Action Not Fixed.

Salem.—The effect of Judge Gallows' recent opinion in the University of Oregon referendum cases insofar as it construed the effect of fraudulent petitions and the requirements as to their proof, is being liberally discussed here and there seems to be varying degrees of opinion as to the result of the initiative and referendum, especially as to the referendum itself.

Should the opinion be upheld in the Supreme court, it is believed by many that the result of the opinion would be to have a clarifying effect on the referendum and its usages and on the means and methods of gathering names for referendum petitions.

Orchard Brings $30,000.

Sheridan.—One of the largest prune orchards in the United States was sold this week when the W. G. Sanderson tract was transferred to a Portland syndicate for a consideration of $30,000. J. C. Castello and Philip Pheasant, both of Portland, are the purchasers. Several years ago this same orchard was bought of the Grames heirs, the land at that time being rough and unimproved. The Mills brothers, now of Corvallis, bought the land, built houses, setting out the first trees.

Fine Spuds From Benton.

Albany.—E. E. Williams, who has been engaged in potato culture in the Cloverdale neighborhood for a number of years, has made an unusual success in his efforts to produce potatoes of large size and excellent quality. This year he produced a number of exceptionally long and heavy spuds. Twelve of these potatoes were formed into a cross, being attached with wooden pegs. The crosses measured seven feet in height and four feet spread of arms. The combined weight of the 12 potatoes was 56 pounds.

Industrial Course Known Soon.

Salem.—Superintendent Alderman announces that a plan is under way to make industrial work one of the required courses in the high school course of study throughout the state. Only a tentative plan has been arranged and is being held subject to criticism and approval, but before long the entire industrial course as it will be required in the high schools will be announced.

Milton Ranch Brings $10,500.

Milton.—The old Warfield ranch on Baker's mountain, 510 acres of hay and cattle land, was sold this week to Herbert March for $10,500.

CLAMATH FALLS ANXIOUS.

Will It Remain "Premium Station" Is Question Now Uppermost.

Klamath Falls.—This city boasts of one of the few stations on the Southern Pacific system classed as perfect by the great corporation which holds it. For this reason there is a sign over the front of the structure which reads, "Premium Station." The local structure has held this distinction for two successive years, the silver medal having been awarded in 1909 to F. M. Thompson and last year to Clarence B. Mills. The present agent, S. J. Bailey, would like to take the medal this year, and is awaiting with interest the verdict of the 1911 annual inspection, which is now under way and which will be completed within a couple of weeks.

Once every year the general superintendent of the Southern Pacific, with the assistant chief engineer and all the division superintendents, go over the entire railroad system and determine upon the nearness to perfection of the different classes of work, each superintendent in turn being disqualified as an inspector when his own particular division is under examination. Prizes are given for the best divisions, the best sections, the best pieces of roadbed, the best depots, the best pump houses, section houses and grounds. Last year 20 stations on the system were awarded silver medals for perfection. One of the first to secure this last prize, for which there is much competition over the entire system, was Klamath Falls.

Land Without Trees.

Thorshaven, the capital city of the Faroe islands, is said to be absolutely treeless. The claim is made that for some reason, perhaps soil conditions, trees absolutely refuse to grow there.

Do you ever have Headache, Toothache, or Earache? Most people do. Hamlin Wizard Oil is the best household remedy and liniment for these everyday troubles.

Albumen is made from blood secured at the packing houses and used for setting the colors of printed fabrics. Ashes from the hickory and coals used in smoking meats are used for fertilizer.
