J. T. Davenport spent several days with his family at The Dalles, returning home Tuesday.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at 2:30 Wednesday, Jan. 17 at the Christian Church. A cordial invitation is given to all.

C. A. Brown left yesterday for Portland, where he will spend several months. His wife preceded him a fortnight ago.

Jas. Cherry and wife left last week to visit relatives in Hood River valley and were storm bound, and have not yet returned home.

Regular services will be held at Immanuel Church Sunday. Mr. Hargreaves' sermon subject for the morning service will be "Imparted Virtue." Every body cordially welcomed.

The concert which was advertised to be given last night by the Schubert Trio, of Hood River, was postponed on account of the storm. The concert will be given later, when announcement will be made in these columns.

Richeson, the reverend murderer of Avis Linnell, has been sentenced to the electric chair, execution to take place in May, provided the sentence is not commuted to life imprisonment, which would surely happen if he lived in Oregon.

What promises to be a "silver thaw" struck Mosier during last night and this morning the trees, telephone wires, etc. are heavily encrusted with ice, while a cold rain is falling. Not much damage is anticipated here.

If you think we don't need all the money that is due us on subscriptions, job work, advertising, etc., ask our creditors.

The Equitable Life Assurance building on Broadway, N. Y., a nine story marble structure, was destroyed by fire on Monday. Four lives were lost, a number were injured and several persons are missing, while miraculous escapes were numerous. It is claimed that about $250,000,000 was buried in the ruins.

The Woman's Club met at Mrs. J. N. Mosier's last Friday. The following officers were elected for the first half of the year: Mrs. J. N. Mosier, President, Mrs. Wm. Akers, Vice President and Mrs. D. D. Hail, Sec'y. The next meeting of the Club will be held at Mrs. D. Robinson's Friday, Jan. 19th.

W. C. T. U. Formed.

The W. C. T. U., organized by Mrs. Silbaugh, Dec. 17, 1911, held its first meeting Jan. 3, 1912 at the home of the President, Mrs. Floyd Allington.

Mrs. H. M. Ford, President of the W. C. T. U. of The Dalles and also Mrs. D. J. Cooper, of The Dalles were present. The President called the meeting to order, announcing as the opening song "Work for the Night is Coming." Mrs. Cooper then read a Psalm, following which "Rescue the Parishing" was sung. Mrs. Ford read the constitution and by laws which were voted on and accepted by the Society. The Secretary read a letter from Mrs. Ward Swope requesting the society to raise a sum of money by the 1st of May which would average $1.00 per member. This money is to be used for the coming convention to be held in Portland. A decision regarding the amount to be raised was postponed until the next meeting. A motion was then made and carried that the meeting be held at 2:30 on the 1st and 2nd Wednesdays of each month, and that the meeting should be held at the homes of the different members. Mrs. Allington then appointed Superintendents for the different works to be taken up, followed by explanations by Mrs. Ford. Mrs. Cooper gave a talk and readings on the work of the W. C. T. U. after which the meeting adjourned.

Grand View Happenings.

On last Saturday evening the neighborhood was startled to hear that Charley Reno was lost in the snow storm. Several parties started to search for him, Charley appeared on the scene, hunting for his father, who had gone in search of him. Charley went to Hog Canyon in the morning to cut a pole and when he started to go home the snow had drifted so that he made very slow progress. Being fortunate that he knew the country, he was able to get home after being well worn out and some cold.

C. J. Littlepage killed a hog a few days ago which was the fattest hog we ever saw. C. J. fed this hog that celebrated Dent corn he raised last summer.

Martin and Rollo Clement are busy clearing land. The snow does not bother them a particle.

Jack Coffman is getting the reputation of a noted trapper and hunter. So far this winter he has gotten four coyotes, one bob cat, six diggers, five blue jays and one snow bird.

Robert Hardwick was out with his rotary snow plow making a path for his Auto which he will soon be seen going to the city with, when the roads are made passable. Here's hoping for a good road movement; some one start it.

Arthur Kuhn is still shucking corn. He thinks that he will finish in time for June planting.

Mandy Medenwald has the best team of mules that we ever saw. All they eat is a bushel of straw and a quart of water once a week.

Stanley Eastman will put in the telephone so he will be in close touch with the outside world.

Ralph Cummings is daily grubbing.

Hugh Birkner, Jack Clark and Hugh Nelson will start grubbing as soon as the sun comes out and the saws and tools arrive. A fire burnt up their implements.

Northwest Mining Convention. Plans for the convention of mining men from the United States, Alberta and British Columbia, to be held in Spokane, February 15, 16 and 17, 1912, are rapidly assuming form, and the promoters of the gathering anticipate a most enthusiastic and instructive meeting. Committees charged with handling the several departments and features of the work to be accomplished have been appointed, and there is now every assurance that this will be a record breaker in both attendance and interest. Men of national reputation have been invited to be present, and addresses will be made on all subjects related to the mining industry. Prospectors and others engaged in the business of mining, whether as directors of mining companies, superintendents of operation, foremen of working mines, machine men, mining engineers, working miners, or as investors in mining stocks, are all to be made welcome and given a place and opportunity to be heard and seen.

Several special features will be worked out which are not usual in conventions of this character. The convention will hold three sessions daily for three days, at the Spokane Hotel, and all mining districts are asked to send or bring their best specimens of ore for exhibition. The mines of the Inland Empire can furnish as fine a display of specimens as can be found in the United States, and this feature is sure to be of more than ordinary interest to the visitors, as well as to the citizens of Spokane and the Eastern tourist who may chance to see the display. One afternoon during the convention is to be set aside for short addresses by men representing the various districts represented. This will afford investors as well as operators a much-desired opportunity to learn what they wish to know about the mines in which they have an especial interest.

The meeting of the convention will be open to the public, and a large attendance is expected. Provisions are being made to handle at least 1000 visitors from all points. The railways are arranging for reduced rates from all points in the states of Montana, Washington, Idaho, Oregon, California, Utah and the province of British Columbia, and this will, of course, bring hundreds of people to Spokane not directly interested in the mining industry.

The social features of the week will consist of a banquet open to all delegates and others interested in mining investments or promotion, a smoker of an informal character, where discussions of the industry may be had between all classes of men engaged in mining, and the entertainment committee is planning several excursions to points of interest, including the Coeur d'Alene mining districts and an auto trip over the city for the visitors from out of town. Other features will be announced later as the time for the convention approaches.

No move among men engaged in the mining industry has caused more interest for many years than this gathering in Spokane. Mining is one of the greatest industries of the Inland Empire, and has of late been given too little attention by those not directly interested. But men engaged in other lines of business are awakening to the fact that much of the phenomenal prosperity of the last two decades in the Pacific Northwest has been directly due to the mineral production of this region. Men who are close observers of the financial situation believe that the next twelve months will witness a wonderful revival in the mining industry, and the coming convention is timely and sure to prove of substantial benefit to all classes of business as well as mining.
