Terrible Suffering

Eczema All Over Baby's Body.

"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age, his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few months he was entirely cured. Today he is a healthy boy." Mrs. Inez Lewis, Baring, Maine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures blood diseases and builds up the system.

High Heels and Wit.

If anything could be higher than the Parisienne's hat it is her heels. The low English heel has once or twice enjoyed a brief season's favor in Paris, but at heart the Parisienne dearly loves to add a cubit or so to her stature and she achieves it of course with her beloved Louis XV. heel. Perched thus on stilts with the foot at an impossible angle, "le footing" becomes impossible and madame seats herself in a cab every time she starts out for a walk. That is why her boots and shoes are always new.

Some one has discovered that there is a close relation between the heels and the wit. The conversation of the walker in low heels is trite and flat—bromidic, so to speak—but she who trips in high ones will soar to unexpected altitudes of epigram and paradox. We know that great wit and insanity are near neighbors and the Germans putting the principle in practice are treating madness with a barefoot regime. The contact of the bare flat foot with Mother Earth is expected to bring back wandering minds to an every-day plane and the experiment is naturally interesting.

A Backsliding Santa Claus.

Her Own Hat the Obstruction.

A woman in a Vienna theater came out after the first act and asked to have the price of the ticket refunded, on the ground that having complied with the request to remove her hat she had held it on her knees and thus entirely obstructed her own view of the stage.

An Anti-Loquacity Machine.

"I think I'll have to invent for my own benefit," said the talkative man, "some sort of an anti-loquacity machine. I talk, I am willing to admit, I talk too much; when I get going I don't seem to know when to stop; and this machine that I'm meditating will be something in a small portable form that I can carry handily in my vest pocket and that will wiggle or weave or pop up or do something to remind me when I have talked to a reasonable limit, and I shall make it non-adjustable so that it can't be set to run beyond a certain limit; if it was not made non-adjustable I might be tempted to set it to run too long before it gave the warning.

"My primary purpose was, as I said, to invent this machine for my own benefit only, but now when I come to think it over I may put it on the market; there might be a few, at least a few, other people who would like to buy one."

ANCIENT THRONE OF CHINA FALLS

Edict of Abdication Given to People By Manchu Ruler.

Royal Family to Retain Titles and Get Enormous Pensions—Pekin Greatly Relieved.

Pekin—After occupying the throne of China for nearly three centuries, the Manchu dynasty, represented by the child emperor, Pu Yi, has abdicated.

Three edicts were issued, the first proclaiming abdication, the second dealing with the establishment of the republic, and the third urging the maintenance of peace and approving the conditions agreed upon by the imperial premier, Yuan Shi Kai and the Republicans.

The publication of the edicts has given profound relief to everyone in Pekin, both foreigners and Chinese. The arrangement is considered a satisfactory compromise and it is believed the terms will satisfy the Republicans. The first edict provides that the terms shall be communicated to the foreign delegations for transmission to their respective governments, the object being to record world-wide the Republican pledges.

The Republicans make eight pledges to the emperor, as follows:

"First—The emperor shall retain his title and shall be respected as a foreign monarch. Second—The emperor shall receive an annual grant of 4,000,000 taels until the currency is reformed, after which he shall receive $4,000,000 Mexican. Third—A temporary residence shall be provided in the Forbidden City, and later the imperial family shall reside in the summer palace, 10 miles outside of Pekin. Fourth—The emperor may observe the sacrifices at his ancestral tombs and temples, which will be protected by Republican soldiers. Fifth — The great tomb of the late emperor, Kwang Su, will be completed and the funeral ceremony fittingly observed at the Republic's expense. Sixth—The palace attendants may be retained, but the number of eunuchs cannot be increased. Seventh — The emperor's property will be protected by the Republic. Eighth—The imperial guards will be governed by the army board, the Republic paying their salaries."

WRECK OF MAINE FLOATS.

Battleship Ready to Proceed to Final Resting Place.

Havana—The wreck of the Maine floated free from the mud when the water was turned into the dam surrounding the wreck. The water within the dam is 14 feet below the harbor level at low tide.

It is the intention to raise the wreck immediately to the harbor level, leaving nothing more to be done except to break the dam and float out the ship.

Water was forced into the dam through a system of pipes fixed at the bottom of the ship, the power being supplied by a pump that had been recovered from the wreck. The ship began to rise almost immediately.

The ship will remain within the dam until orders are received from Washington to float her out, which can be done within a fortnight.

700 Plaintiffs In Suit.

Butte, Mont.—The record for the number of plaintiffs involved in a suit in the Montana courts, has been broken in the filing here of an action by the Butte Mill and Smelter men's Union against the Western Federation of Miners to enjoin the federation from revoking the charter of the Smeltermen's union. Seven hundred men are named as plaintiffs in the suit, brought against the Western Federation of Miners, Charles H. Moyer, president of the federation, and the Butte Miner's union.

Price of Silver Soars.

New York—The price of silver in the New York market touched 60½ Saturday, the highest since November, 1907, the quotations having advanced fractionally over those of last week. Authorities in the financial district credit the rise to the activity of a powerful syndicate in India. The Indian government's supply of the metal for coining is believed to be low, and large pooling operations are said to be under way with the purpose of selling to the mint when demands of coinage become pressing.

First Auto Ride is Last.

Merced, Cal.—His first automobile ride proved also the last for an unidentified man about 50 years old who was given a lift by Edward Ruddle. Ruddle's car, containing four other men, picked up the stranger on the outskirts of town. A few minutes later the machine, in rounding a turn, pitched over an embankment. All escaped injury except the wayfarer, whose neck was broken. He was telling Ruddle that it was his first automobile ride when the accident occurred.

Church is "Skyscraper."

Kansas City—With impressive exercises the Grand-Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Kansas City's skyscraper house of worship, was dedicated Sunday. The church is the pioneer Methodist organization of the city. The new edifice is a wing of a 12-story office building erected by the congregation and bearing the name of the Grand-Avenue Temple. A pipe organ of 57 stops and 22 couplers has been built in the main auditorium.

Delay Annoys Dr. Sen.

London—President Sun Yat Sen, in an interview with the Nanking correspondent of the Daily Mail, said that the settlement of affairs in China must be speedy. He added:

"It is peace or war. We shall not permit the retention by the Manchus of the imperial title or power to create a nobility."

That Shining Nose.

At the opera the young man who paid for the seats was engaged for a few tense moments in a study of a stunning woman of middle age who sat in the row in front. Then he turned to the girl at his right, and whispered, "Look at the lady in lavender; what is the matter with her nose?" The girl gave one glance at the shining "neb," then turned to her escort and whispered: "Enameled."

Provoking.

TYPHOID GERM IN ICE

MOST OF THEM ARE DESTROYED WITHIN ONE MONTH.

Some May Survive, However, and Epidemics of Fever Have Been Traced to Use of Polluted Ice.

It may be of interest to those who are in the habit of putting up their own ice for summer use from a nearby pond, or stream, to know that the use of ice is not so dangerous as the use of the water from which it is formed, so far as typhoid fever is concerned. Although the typhoid fever germ, and the germ of diphtheria, as well, can withstand a temperature of 310 degrees F. below zero, for several days, experiments with ice made from polluted water have shown that when the water freezes, the majority of the typhoid organisms are soon destroyed. However, the few that do survive, die off slowly, and it is these few that outlive their fellows that have been the cause of serious epidemics in a few cases. According to Parke, not one in a thousand lives in ice longer than one month, and all are dead at the end of six months.

Relatively few outbreaks of typhoid fever have been traced to the use of ice; however, conclusive evidence was obtained to show that the thirty-nine cases of typhoid at the St. Lawrence hospital, near Ogdensburg, N. Y., several years ago, were the result of using polluted ice. Several months before it was used the ice had been cut from the St. Lawrence river, about three miles below the outlet of the Ogdensburg sewer. Living typhoid germs were found in samples of the melted ice examined after the breaking out of the epidemic.—Walter G. Sackett, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins.

Prize Steers Not Good Meat.

The meat of more than one prize steer has proved disappointing in the eating, though fine to look at. In the development of the animal for competition his flesh is sometimes, if not always, seamed with small veins of fat which are dilated by cooking into tough strings. Hence, the range-fed steer, not nursed into prominence, affords the better steak or roast.

Flat Chest.
