Primary Election.

The primary election last Friday passed off very quietly in Mosier. As had been feared, many people did not take the interest they should have and failed to perform their duty.

The vote in Mosier precinct for the other county offices was as follows: For State Senator, R. R. Butler 69, D. J. Cooper 29, Representative, Anderson 23, Brodie 17, Moores 11, Schmeltzer 42, Stranahan 54, District Attorney, Bell 36, Pepper 20, Smith 38, County Judge, Gunning 52, Remington 48, Sheriff, Chrisman 77, Haight 8, McDonald 10, Treasurer, Knight 43, Rice 53, County Superintendent, Bonney 62, Deems 23, County Surveyor, Campbell 26, Goit 16, Mohr 48, Birgfeld 3.

L. B. Fox for county clerk and Jas. A. Davis for assessor, having no opposition, were of course nominated. The total vote for county offices resulted in the nomination of F. S. Gunning for judge; Levi Chrisman, sheriff; L. B. Fox, clerk; Hallie Rice, treasurer; F. Clausen, commissioner; Jas. A. Davis, assessor; Clyde Bonney, school superintendent; A. W. Mohr, surveyor; C. N. Buryet, coroner.

D. D. Hail of Mosier was one of the ten delegates nominated to the national republican convention.

R. R. Butler won the nomination over D. J. Cooper for State Senator; J. E. Anderson and C. H. Stranahan were the successful nominees for joint representatives for the 29th District, and W. A. Bell won the nomination for District Attorney.

The State vote resulted in the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt for President; Ben Selling for U. S. Senator; W. C. Hawley, Representative, First District; N. J. Sinnott, Representative Second District; A. W. Lafferty, Representative Third District; Secretary of State, B. W. Olcott; Dairy Commissioner, J. D. Mickle; Railroad Commissioners, First District, T. K. Campbell; Second District, C. B. Aitchison; Supreme Judge, Robert Eakin.

The Mosier precinct election resulted in the nomination of Geo. Wood for precinct committeeman, J. E. Cole, justice of the peace and C. H. Dunsmore, constable, on the republican ticket. The democrats endorsed J. M. Culbertson, of Hood River, for state senator, I. D. Driver, of Wasco county, for representative, J. R. Wilbur, Hood River, district attorney, Geo. Blakeley, county judge, Arthur Seufert, treasurer; J. H. Fitzpatrick for clerk; J. M. Carroll, Mosier, for assessor; Frank Woodcock for sheriff; W. H. Williams, commissioner. The state democratic vote was for Woodrow Wilson for president, Harry Lane for State Senator, John B. Ryan, Secretary of State.

THE DALLES TO THE FRONT

That the people of The Dalles realized that the west end of the county was entitled to representation at the county seat and that Mosier's argument was considered sound and point well taken, is evidenced by the handsome vote given C. J. Littlepage, Mosier's candidate for county commissioner, who received a substantial majority over his opponent, Mr. Clausen, in each of the six Dalles precincts. We wish to say here, voicing the sentiment of our candidate and the Mosier people generally, that we appreciate the good work The Dalles press and people did for us, showing as it does their recognition of our rights and their willingness to help us secure them.

Probably few campaigns are planned and executed that do not have some weak spots in them. It is always easier to see these flaws after the smoke of battle has cleared away. We now see our mistake. Unfortunately our candidate was prevented by sickness from making a general canvass of the county and, unfortunately again, the argument which Mosier set forth was not circulated in the southern and eastern parts of the county, except thru the newspapers and, while we feel that they did good work, it was perhaps not as convincing as a personal appeal would have been.

However, considering the loyal support of the voters of The Dalles, we've got no "kick" coming. We are game losers and we heartily congratulate Mr. Clausen on his nomination, believing that in him we will still have a fair representation at the county seat.

Protect the Forests

The Forest Fire season is only a few weeks off. Those who have slashings to burn, as the result of land clearing, logging, road building or any other purpose, should begin to watch for the time when burning can be done in accordance with the law, and with safety to surrounding property. It is only by having slashings removed through early Spring or late Fall burning that there is hope of keeping down fires later on.

Timber land is paying a large part of the taxes in Oregon; 75 to 80% in some counties. The owners of this class of property are not asking for roads, or other improvements to enhance the value of their property, but are contributing cheerfully to have these built for the benefit of others. It therefore, seems only right that county officials should assist in preserving a property which contributes so substantially to the running expenses of the government.

County courts can do much to help keep down fires both by being sure that rights of way of roads are kept free from inflammable material and by assisting the State Forester during the dry months through assigning men to work under his direction. One bad fire will result in the loss of thousands of dollars of tax money to the state, and it is sound public policy to avoid this if possible.

Fruit For Health.

In all ages the eating of fruit has been recognized as an aid to health. Some of the more advanced dieticians advocate the use of fruit and nuts exclusively. The more reasonable plan, however, seems to be to eat "plenty of fruit," and that is the way Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the famed pure food expert puts it. He believes that everyone should eat fruit—say oranges or apples, and they cost about the same—every day. The nation seems to be following this advice. "It will save doctor's bills," says Dr. Wiley, and who should know better than he? But that is a fundamental fact which everyone should know from experience. It is pretty safe to say that the more fruit people eat, the better the health of the nation will be.

WASCO HOGS FIRST.

W. E. Kurtz, the well-known stock buyer won first prize at the Northwest Livestock show in Portland this week for exhibiting the best pen of fattened hogs weighing 225 pounds and over. The hogs were purchased in Wasco county and were shipped to Portland last Saturday. They varied in weight from 225 to 500 pounds and were considered the finest bunch of fat hogs that ever left the local stock yards.—Dalles Optimist.

During March 30 vessels were loaded at the several sawmills on the Lower Columbia, their combined cargoes amounting to 23,633,000 feet of lumber, 198,000 shingles and 1,250,000 feet of piling. Three of the vessels went to foreign ports with cargoes totaling 4,255,000 feet.

Oyster Shell Louse New Orchard Pest

In many fruit districts oyster shell bark louse has become quite a serious pest and must be fought by spraying. The insect can be readily recognized from its name, for the shell or scale coating of the insect is shaped exactly like an oyster shell.

At the experiment farm at Otawa, Canada, whitewash has been found a very effective insecticide for this pest. The wash is made by using 40 pounds of lime, 40 gallons of water and eight pounds of salt. This whitewash is sprayed on the trees in autumn immediately after the leaves have fallen, and a second application of the same mixture is made as soon as the first has dried. It is claimed the salt is not absolutely necessary for the effectiveness of the whitewash, but it has the effect of making the bark look cleaner and brighter.—Ex.

Orchard Pests

Some insects work on the twigs and bodies of trees; some bore into the bodies; some live on the leaves; some attack the roots and some find their home on the fruit. The San Jose scale injures the young twigs and the smooth part of the body; the same may be said of the oyster shell scale. The different kinds of borers dig their way into the body of the trees. The aphids work on the leaves. The woolly aphid works on the roots and to some extent on the twigs and leaves. Bud moths eat on the young buds. The codling moth confines its attacks to the fruit. It does the most harm to apples and to some extent to pears. Besides the damage done by insects, the fungi and bacteria do much damage in some sections to both the fruit and the trees. This is not a complete catalogue of the pests with which the fruit grower must contend, but these are the chief ones. From such an array it must be clear that the successful fruit grower must be a wide awake man and must study these pests and know how to control them.

BEN W. OLCOTT, Secretary of State.
