WILL SEEK PUBLICITY

Some of the enterprising citizens here apparently believe that Mosier still needs more public notice and that she will not get it by "holerin' down a well."

The idea is for each young lady representative to take advertising matter, setting forth the advantages and possibilities of her particular county, which she will distribute judiciously to seekers after information about Oregon.

Miss Bertha Willerton, of The Dalles, assistant secretary to Mr. Fish, will represent Wasco county on this trip East. Miss Willerton is especially well qualified for this position as she is thoroughly posted on all subjects about which the homeseeker and investor in the Middle West and East will want information.

Other methods of obtaining publicity for Mosier have been tried with more or less success—or failure. The question of expense has always been a drawback, for it is generally the case that a few must bear it. With the proposition which Miss Willerton presents, however, the expense (one dollar) is trifling to the individual, while the results derived from the small outlay should be of great benefit to the whole district.

This is a proposition in which every individual should join and help "make good."

APPLES LEAD FRUIT EXPORTS

So much is said at one time or another with regard to the necessity of fruit culture that the progress made in this particular section and in other quarters is lost sight of. Throughout broad areas, it is true, fruit culture has been lamentably neglected; there is a market almost every year for certain kinds of fruit away beyond the possibilities of supply.

Some idea of the magnitude of the fruit and nut business of the United States will be obtained from the fact that the exports of these articles from this country have reached a total of $29,153,123 yearly. The exports in January of this year were 50 per cent greater than those for the same month of 1911. The increase of annual exports of this character in ten years has been nearly $20,000,000.

Strange to say, while the United States is sending away fruit and nuts to the value of $29,000,000 and over, annually, it is paying $44,000,000 for foreign products of the same kind, and the imports have increased almost exactly the same amount as the exports within a decade. The movement outward is mainly in apples, canned fruit, raisins and other dried grapes, peaches and peanuts. The movement inward is, of course, mainly in tropical products, oranges, bananas, lemons, dates and figs.

At present the apple exports figure up to $9,000,000. This, according to reports of American consuls and commercial agents, could be greatly increased. The American apple is a great favorite throughout Europe, and so long as its price is kept at a reasonable stage all that this country has to offer is quickly taken. The foreign fruit trade of the United States a quarter of a century ago was insignificant, comparatively speaking; it is now rapidly rising toward the dignity of a principal item, and in this fact there should be inspiration as well as encouragement for the American fruit grower.—Wenatchee World.

Mayerdale in Ashes

Beautiful Summer Home of Mark A. Mayer goes up in Smoke

The word "Fire!" always produces a thrill of fear and awe whenever heard, especially by residents of small towns or rural districts who, fortunately, hear it very seldom. So it was with the citizens of Mosier on Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. B. J. Weller telephoned in from Mayerdale, the beautiful summer home of Mark A. Mayer, that the house was burning, and asked for help. Immediately all the available men in town hurried to the scene to render what assistance they could.

The fire, which originated in a mysterious manner in the upper story of the southeast wing, had evidently been burning for half an hour or more when discovered by Mrs. Weller, who happened to go into that part of the building, and it had gained headway so rapidly, aided by a strong wind, that all hopes of extinguishing the blaze was soon abandoned and the efforts of the fire fighters were directed to saving the contents of the house. Nearly everything on the first floor and in the cellar was taken out, but everything upstairs was food for the flames.

The loss to Mr. Mayer has not been estimated as yet, but it will undoubtedly total many thousands of dollars. Besides the building, which is in ashes to the foundation, the loss of furnishings and personal effects will be heavy. There is an insurance of $2,000 on the building and $5,000 on the furniture. Mr. Mayer, who is still in New York, where he spent the winter, is expected home in a short time.

Mosier Has Chicken With 4 Legs

The Mosier hen is again making bids for notoriety. Last week we recorded the exertions of a local hen in laying a large egg. This week we have to chronicle the birth of a chicken with four legs, two of them being located where nature intended them to be. The other two are situated at the extreme south end of the chicken and seem to be perfectly formed, but are crossed one over the other. The little malformation is the property of Mrs. S. D. Fisher and is one of a brood that was hatched in a "stolen" nest under a house. The chick appears to be as lively as the others of the brood, but owing to its deformity and its extreme youth it is not yet known whether it will live or be able to navigate; but should it survive and develop the use of its extra feet, it ought to scratch for itself to good advantage. Mrs. Fisher is giving the little chick the best of care and hopes to raise it.

Shoots Himself in Foot

While handling a 22-calibre rifle last Sunday, Richard Seacare accidentally shot himself in the left foot, the bullet passing entirely thru the foot and making an ugly wound. Dr. Robinson was immediately called and the injured foot was dressed and Dick is getting along as well as could be expected.

Miss Loretta McNeil returned yesterday from Bend, where she went to look at a piece of property she owns in that vicinity.

Consult an Eye Specialist

It is not so long ago that people were content to choose glasses in much the same way that they would buy boots at a "bargain counter" or some "cure all" from a touring quack. But eyesight is so precious to experiment with and today most people realize it. If you have any eye troubles we will give your expert examination and precisely the help you need.
