Hood River Apple Union Builds Cold Storage Plant

The Hood River Apple Growers' Union has begun work on the erection of the large cold storage plant to be built adjoining the present plant on the east, says the Hood River News. The new annex will be 180 feet in length and 40 feet in width and will have a capacity of about 140,000 boxes of apples. The work on the new brick structure will be rushed to completion and will be finished in time for the fall rush of apples. The union will increase the refrigeration power to twice the present capacity. A new engine will be installed to replace the smaller machine now in use.

It is said that the ballot at the coming November election will be nine feet long. There are 48 general measures to be voted on, besides the names of the various candidates. If a full vote is polled it will take more than one day for those precincts having over 150 voters to vote them all, unless the majority of the measures are passed up without consideration. It is a physical impossibility for the average voter to intelligently mark a ballot three yards long in less than eight minutes, and many will require twice that time. In this precinct, with a voting population close to 200, it will be necessary to increase the number of voting booths and then the voters will have to "kick a-com-i" to get thru in time. What a picnic the election boards will have, counting the ballots. Any body want a job? There's at least one open in Mosier.

Preliminary plans are going forward for making the Pacific Northwest Land Products Show, to be held in Portland November 19-23, the biggest and most successful land show ever given west of the Rocky Mountains. The management is getting in touch with commercial bodies and individual exhibitors of the territory to be represented and promises of liberal support are being received. Every district of the Northwest states has an opportunity in this "dirt show" for valuable exploitation.

N. C. Maris, of Portland, was in the city Friday calling on County School Supt. J. T. Neff. Mr. Maris is interested in industrial work in the public schools and was talking over the situation with the superintendent. Mr. Neff says that the Wasco schools will have the largest and finest exhibit in their history at the fair in the fall and that more interest is being taken this year than ever in the kind of work in which the Portland man is interested. -Dalles Optimist.

Tillman Reuter, who makes grain grow on the semi-arid land of Central Oregon where none grew before, does not want any one to overlook the forthcoming International Dry Farming Congress to be held at Lethbridge, Alberta, October 21-26. He is collecting exhibits of the products Oregon grows by dry-farming and, as usual, expects to win the leading prizes with products of Oregon dry farms. He has got into the habit of winning firsts for this state and expects to repeat his success this year.

J. K. McGregor returned on Monday from a trip to various sound cities in Washington and British Columbia. He says he was astonished at the wonderful growth and development of Vancouver, B. C., where he lived years ago. At that time there was but one small store and only a dozen or so white people. Now vast enterprises have sprung up, the population and resources have increased and developed almost beyond the comprehension of the old pioneers.

A. E. Negus, the well-known well-digger of The Dalles, was a caller at the Bulletin office the first of the week. Mr. Negus has recently finished repairing a well on the Coleman place and from a caved-in hole in the ground, has made a splendid well 40 feet deep cemented and concreted from the top to within 12 feet of the bottom, which is solid rock. Mr. Negus has had many years' experience in digging wells and his work gives satisfaction.

The local lodges of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs held a joint installation of officers at their hall, last Friday night. After the business of the evening was disposed of, refreshments were served and a general good time was had until a late hour. Mrs. Amy L. Gove, retiring Noble Grand of the Rebekahs, was present from Hood River.

An automobile party consisting of Mr. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams, Mrs. McCrary and Miss Lucy McClure, of LaGrande, drove into town yesterday. They are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McClure. The party left LaGrande at 7 a. m. Tuesday morning and arrived at the McClure home at 3 p. m. on Wednesday.

"DR." PATTERSON A FAKE

Because the trustees of the Odd Fellows lodge insisted on the new hotel being run in a respectable manner, Dr. Patterson, the man from Lebanon who came for the first of the month to take charge of the hotel on a five year lease, refused to sign the papers and left Mosier on Wednesday, promising, however, to return yesterday and settle a few unpaid bills. But he failed to show up, no doubt intending to swindle his creditors when he left.

Peewed because he couldn't run things to suit himself, he went to The Dalles and entered suit against the trustees, for fine alleged to have been spent working around the hotel. He came to Mosier of his own accord before the hotel was ready for him. Not only that, but he persuaded his cook to leave a good job and bring his family to Mosier, making them the fairest promises. He skipped without paying them a cent, leaving them financially embarrassed.

No one here took the trouble to investigate Patterson's record, (and we'll bet our old hat he's got one, all right.) He was evidently taken at his own valuation by the people of Mosier, and no doubt he passed muster, at first, among the few members of the order to which he claimed to belong and whose emblems he sported. It is known that Patterson bought a barrel of beer (on tick) and shipped it down from The Dalles. He didn't have it here long enough to drink it all himself; it is hardly likely he gave it away, so he must have sold it, either wholesale or retail. He had a very good reason for wanting to get out of town, and he used the "bluff" method to make his get-away. Mosier is to be congratulated that he did not stay any longer to "do" the people and pollute the atmosphere with his foul mouth. We got stung by him, all right, with several others, but that is not the reason we're squealing. We would simply warn other communities against Dr. H. J. Patterson.

Meanwhile there is a well-appointed hotel here for lease to the right party.

Wm. Stevenson was a passenger on this morning's local to Hood River.
