Falls From Hay Loft

Frank Proctor, the young son of J. E. Proctor, was painfully injured Wednesday afternoon by falling from the hay loft in the barn to the floor below. Two ribs were broken and he was severely bruised about the head. Dr. Robinson was summoned at once and the little fellow was attended to. The doctor stated yesterday that he couldn't tell yet how badly the boy's head was hurt, but it is hoped that it will prove not serious.

Prune Season Opens

The prune season opens today and a number of the earlier orchards are sending in prunes to the Association warehouse for packing. About twenty women and girls started packing this morning and the number will be increased to the full amount next week, or about twice the present number.

The crop this year is above the average in yield and the quality is said to be excellent. Part of the output is already sold and will net the growers at least five cents more per box than they have ever before received.
