The Modern Aesop.
A dog, who was accustomed to over eat, held a piece of meat in his mouth as he crossed a placid stream by means of a plank. Looking in, he saw what he took to be another dog carrying another piece of meat. Snapping greedily to get this as well, he let go the meat that he had and lost it in the stream. As a result his indignation felt much better all the rest of the day.—Life.

Only One Real Road.
There is only one real road to human prosperity, and it is the same for a nation as for an individual. That is the honest road of hard work under free institutions, and when they tried to teach people that they could be made rich by some short cut, they were doing that which was thoroughly dishonest.—Walter Long.

BOYS ON A STOCK EXCHANGE
Amsterdam Youths' Privilege for Discovery of Gunpowder Plot—Enjoyed Nearly 300 Years.

Of the many quaint and curious customs, traditions and privileges prevailing in Holland none is more extraordinary than a certain privilege that has been enjoyed by the boys of Amsterdam for nearly 300 years, the Boston Evening Transcript remarks. At a fixed time each summer these boys gather by the hundreds in the great square called the Dam, situated in the center of the city. Each boy has a drum slung over his shoulder.

Facing this square is the stock exchange, and on the occasion in question just as soon as the day's business is over as many of the boys as possible crowd into the building. They proceed to the floor of the exchange, where, pursuant to this old custom, they are permitted to march about, singing and beating their drums. The origin of this custom, it is said, is as follows:

One afternoon of the year 1622 a crowd of boys playing in the Dam lost a ball in the canal that in those days skirted one side of the square. One of the lads, while climbing in among the piles on which the building stood, found instead of his ball a boat moored in a dark corner and loaded with boxes of gunpowder. This showed clearly enough what was afterward ascertained with certainty, the intention of the Spanish conspirators to blow up the stock exchange while it was crowded, as it was every day, with the leading citizens of the city.

PROMPTER IS ALWAYS HANDY
Little Device Held in Hand Enables One to Deliver Long Speech Without Trouble.
Do you want to make a speech and have your audience think that you're so all-fired smart that you can quote figures and facts without looking at any notes? There's more ways than one. Outside of learning your speech "by heart," the best device is the invention of a man in Australia. It consists simply of a small metal case, no larger than the metal matchbox used.

Ever-Ready Prompter.
paper on which appear the notes of speech. The box is held in the palm of the hand and people standing right beside the orator would never suspect its presence. The paper is unrolled either by pressure of the thumb or by the manipulation of a milled screw on one of the rollers.

Her Flowers Melted.
Little Minnie, who had been spending the afternoon at a neighbor's, was presented with a bouquet of beautiful flowers. Upon her arrival at home her mother told her to put them in a vase filled with water and they would keep fresh for several days. A few days later Minnie appeared with the wilted flowers in her hand and said: "I dess I'll frow 'em away now, mamma, 'cause they is all melted."

Hotel Would Do.
Small Willie was out walking with his mother one afternoon, when she stopped to give a nickel to a beggar. "Why don't he go home, mamma?" asked Willie. "The poor man has no home," she replied. "Then," continued the little fellow, "why don't he go to a hotel?"

A Brick Problem.
If a brick balances with three-quarters of a brick and three-quarters of a pound—then how much does a brick weigh?
Answer:—Three pounds.

Low Down Dog.
Small Edna was out walking with her mother when a dog with unusually short legs passed them. "Mamma," said Edna, "did you ever see such a low down dog as that?"

FUNERAL TURNS INTO REVIVAL
Many Repent Before Bier of Dead Commander.

Salvation Army Barracks in London Filled to Overflowing—Mourning Purposely Omitted.

London—Funeral services for the founder of the Salvation Army, General William Booth, were held at the Olympia. In accordance with the traditions of the organization, they were held without pomp or symbols of mourning, but were carried out with moving fervor and impressiveness. Thirty-four thousand persons participated.

The body of the late general, in a plain pine coffin, rested high upon a white catafalque in front of the big platform across the end of the hall, where all the chief officers of the organization were seated and where 40 bands of music were massed. The crimson flag of the "army of fire and blood" which the general unfurled on Mount Calvary was planted about the coffin. A bank of flowers, composed of the tributes sent by royalty and by many societies, was behind it.

In front rows of chairs before the coffin were filled with representatives of various parties and also the equester for the king, several mayors in the robes and chains of office, a delegation from the Stock Exchange, clergymen of all the Protestant churches and Jewish rabbis.

But the rank and file of the great gathering was composed of the plain people, for whom the army works and of whom it is composed. The most solemn moments of the long meeting were when the coffin was borne along the center of the hall to the solemn music of the "Dead March from Saul." A small procession, representing many branches of the army's activity, carrying the flags of their respective countries, preceded it.

Every seat on the floor and in galleries was taken when the service began, and thousands of persons were banded around the outskirts of the hall, half of whom could not see over the shoulders of those in front, but who could hear and take their part.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, prayers and hymns alternated for half an hour, after which a true Salvation Army revival service was conducted and an invitation given to sinners and backsliders to come to the "mercy seat." Dozens of persons forced their way through the crowded aisle to the mercy seats, where they knelt in prayer. In some cases the police were required to force a way for the penitents.

The meeting was turned into a colossal revival. The most impressive feature of the service followed. All the soldiers of the army rose and recited the covenant of fidelity, pledging themselves to be faithful soldiers of the Lord.

HOSTAGES' FATE FEARED.
Paris—Public anxiety is becoming intense over the fate of the seven French officers held as hostages by the Moors under El Hiba, at Marakesh, Morocco. Emissaries have been dispatched to Marakesh by the French commander, but have obtained no information. General Lyautey, the French resident governor, reported to the foreign office that the volunteers who had undertaken the dangerous duty had returned from El Hiba's headquarters where they in vain tried to effect a ransom, but could not ascertain the lot of the prisoners.

POSTOFFICES CLOSE SUNDAYS
New Regulations of Department Affect Large Cities.

Washington, D. C.—Plans were perfected by Postmaster General Hitchcock whereby the administration of the new law prohibiting the delivery of mail on Sundays will have no serious effect upon the handling of important mail matter.

Holders of lock boxes on first and second class postoffices will have access to them as usual, although no mail deliveries will be made by carriers on the street or at postoffice windows. Mail for hotel patrons and newspapers will be delivered to them through their lock boxes by the simple arrangement of having that mail sorted on the railway cars before it reaches destination. Such mail will be regarded as "transit matter," and will be distributed immediately upon its arrival at the office of destination, thus practically insuring speedier delivery to the addressees than heretofore has been the case.

NOVELTY FOR ROUND-UP.
Pendleton Show Will Stage Genuine Rabbit Drive.

Pendleton, Ore.—Seldom is it given to an audience of twenty thousand people to witness a coyote, wolf or rabbit chase but that is just what has been provided as one of the features of the Round-Up which is to be held in Pendleton this year on September 26, 27 and 28. Real thoroughbred fox hounds trained to the hunt are to be seen and heard close in pursuit of slinking coyotes, stealthy timber wolves or sprightly jackrabbits by reason of a contract which has just been entered into by local the association and Lynn B. and J. Kenworthy of Dayton, Wash.

The latter Kenworthy is a big stockman of Columbia county, Washington, and the owner of a stable of thoroughbred horses and a kennel of registered hounds. The sage brush about his ranch is alive with jackrabbits and coyotes, while an occasional wolf steals down from the timber. He proposes to capture several of these animals, bring them to Pendleton at the time of the Round-Up performances, put his hounds on the trail and let the spectators see a little excitement such as they read about. However, lest any humanitarian shudder at the thought of such cruelty, the Round-Up directors have announced that they have specified in their contract that both dogs and their quarry shall be muzzled in order that neither shall be damaged when the pursuers overtake the pursued.

Riders will also follow close on the trail of the hounds in order to rescue rather than kill the victims of the chase. Round-Up park is a large enclosure and tightly fenced so that the audience will not pass from view of the audience. The novelty of such a feature is expected to make it one of the most popular of the three-day succession of thrills.

PLANE DEEMED UNSAFE.
Aviator Refuses to Fly in $15,000 Racing Craft.

Chicago—There may be no American engineers, at Thompson's Bennett world's champion aeroplane trophy, in spite of the expenditure of $15,000, by a Chicago syndicate for a racing aeroplane designed to travel 125 miles an hour.

DeLloyd Thompson, who had been trained as pilot of the Aero club of America's monoplane, Nieuport, has refused to fly the racer on the ground that it was "obviously unsafe, ill-designed and unable to fly for a single mile as it stands."

EAST SUFFERS INTENSE HEAT
Weather Bureau Registers 95, Breaking All Records.

Chicago Gives Up to Humid Wave—Five Die and Many Are Prostrated—Corn Crop Aided.

Chicago—All heat records for the season melted away Saturday when government thermometers registered approximately 95 degrees. This was on top of the Federal building, where breezes were blowing, but down in the cavernous streets the heat was above the 100 mark. One death and many prostrations were recorded by the police. That the death list is not much larger is due to the fact that this was a half-holiday and thousands of persons had quit work at noon.

The maximum degree of heat was reached at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and continued until after sundown. The entire city wilted and gave up the battle early in the day. The night had been hot and there was no opportunity to store energy against the next day's heat. The proprietors of department stores and factories, realizing the unusual situation, dismissed as many of their employes as possible and permitted the remainder to drag around as they chose. An invading army of 15 energetic men could have captured the entire city with small resistance.

Dispatches from cities and towns in Illinois, Northern Indiana, Lower Michigan and Wisconsin tell of unusually oppressive heat, which had baked the life and energy out of man and beast alike. Prostrations were reported in many of the smaller cities, and advices from small towns and rural districts tell of horses being killed by the sun's rays.

There was one bright spot in the entire situation and that stood out prominently in the general picture of misery. The torridity is pushing the great corn crop rapidly beyond the peril of early frosts, which now constitute the chief bugbear in the grain markets.

Although the weather Sunday was two degrees cooler than Saturday, five deaths of adults from heat were reported. There were several prostrations, one of which will result fatally. The temperature reached a maximum of 93, and a 16-mile wind from the southwest served to dispel much of the humidity, which added greatly to the suffering Saturday.

The low death rate is due to the fact that few persons were at work. Thousands scattered to the northwest resorts to remain until Monday night, and the streets were practically deserted. The lake, on the contrary, was densely populated, boats of every description being commandeered to carry the sweltering populace out where they could get air free from the dust and steam of the hot city.

The death rate among babies was high and a majority of them practically suffocated or fretted themselves into a state of apoplexy over their sufferings from the heat.

Original Amen Corner.
The origin of the name "Amen corner" is interesting and throws a pleasant light on English Catholicity of the days before the apostasy of Henry VIII. Each year on the feast of Corpus Christi the faithful went in procession to St. Paul's cathedral, Mustering in Cheapside, the procession moved toward the cathedral, the clergy chanting the "Our Father" as they passed along the street still called Paternoster row, reaching the "Amen" as they turned the corner known for years as Amen corner.—Ave Maria.

Damage by Lightning in Cities.
Investigations made over Europe seem to justify the belief that the damage by lightning, in the cities particularly, has decreased to a very marked degree in recent years, and it is explained by the presence of electric wires, which act as a protection in diverting the electric bolts. As the wires are put underground, it is expected that there will be noticed a great increase in the amount of damage by lightning and a return will be generally made to the use of lightning rods.

Chinese Barbers in Hard Luck.
Barber shops were the exception, rather than the rule, in China in the old days, itinerant barbers attending to their customers' wants in the streets or in the customers' home. There appears to be no tendency toward the institution of barber shops since the change of hairdressing; in fact, the tendency locally is to do away with the barber altogether. Thus many families are purchasing hairclippers, which seem to be regarded as the only essential to hairdressing.

Way of the Truly Great.
It is easy in this world to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude to live after one's own; but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.—Emerson.

Carborundum first was produced by a chemist who, while experimenting with electricity, happened to place carbon electrodes connected with a dynamo into a bowl containing some crushed coke and clay.

Lawful Death Desired.
New York—Governor Dix will next week receive an appeal from Mrs. Sarah Harris, 83 years old, a sufferer from paralysis for three years, for an act of the legislature which will make it lawful for physicians to end her sufferings by a merciful death. For three years Mrs. Harris has not been able to move hand or foot because of a spinal malady which keeps her constantly in intense pain. Her appeal was dictated to a clerk at the Audubon Sanitarium and will be forwarded to Albany.

Canal to Open in Year.
Los Angeles—Writing a personal letter to Clarence H. Mason, secretary of the Los Angeles board of harbor commissioners, Colonel George Goethals, chief engineer of the Panama canal, said that the big trans-isthmian ditch would be handing inter-oceanic traffic in September, 1913. Such handling of traffic, however, according to Colonel Goethals, will be a "try-out," in preparation for the formal opening a year later.
