Hu Fishermen

W. A. Husbands and Geo. Evans have proved themselves the champion nimrods of this neck of the woods so far this season.

Last week they over to the Punch Bowl on Hood River and caught several fine Steelhead salmon. Mr. Husbands landed four beauties in one day, the largest measuring over 33 inches in length and weighing twelve pounds. Mr. Evans got three good sized fish. The catch was all made in one day.

A delegation from the American Automobile Association appeared before the joint committee, of which Senator Jonathan Boutwell, Jr., is chairman, to express their willingness to cooperate along lines which would safeguard the use of federal money and assure tangible, real and personal results in the way of good roads. The association believes in the principle of state aid state highway systems. The automobile is certainly a very evident factor in the movement for better roads. Hon. Allen Barclay of Kentucky says: "Nothing would conduce more to prosperity and happiness of our people than a general system of improved highways, and I am convinced that if this result is to be brought about the national government should co-operate with the states in permanent improvement of their roads." A fruitgrower probably takes as great, if not greater interest in good roads than any other class of farmers, for the reason that fruit must be laid down at the depot in first-class condition, without bruising, and fruit cannot be hauled over miserable roads without more or less damage. Fruitgrowers as a class stand for better roads. Various opinions exist among them as to state highways, government aid and state aid. Generally speaking fruitgrowers are favorable to highways, but if interest is great in the development of the roads in the particular section over which each of the fruitgrowers must haul his stuff to the railway depot.

—Better Fruit.

With the installing of the big rock crushing plant here, including the building of a double line of railroad up Rock Creek, and the work of putting in the electric plant for the crusher, Mosier is booming these days.

The hotel accommodations are unequal to the demand and Mine Host Stryker has erected a tent on the lot adjoining the hotel, so that his guests will not have to sit up all night. A half dozen cottages on some of Mosier's vacant lots would be a good investment now.

The machinery for the rock crusher has arrived and is being set up ready to be moved into position beside the main line of the railroad. The grade for the railroad up the creek is being built as fast as possible and the big shovel is here ready to begin work as soon as the rails are laid to the rock quarry.

The Pacific Bridge Co. intend to employ as much local help as possible and a number of our citizens are already on their pay roll. This enterprise means much to Mosier, as it will furnish employment to many of our people and put much money in circulation.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, with their uncle and aunt, of Seattle, visited here last week.

A number of our people enjoyed the Chautauqua at The Dalles last week.

Last Saturday, Messrs. Gardner, Jackson and Peck, of the O. A. C., Corvallis, honored us with a short call.

Mrs. L. D. Firebaugh is spending a few days with friends in Portland and Hood River.

Col. Gardner's knee is slowly improving.

J. E. Carpenter, of Portland, came up yesterday to attend to some business matters.

Mrs. Lida Lowe, of Portland, a cousin of Mrs. P. L. Arthur, and Mr. D. Lacey, also of Portland, are visiting this week with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur.
