MONDAY'S ELECTION

INCORPORATION VOTED DOWN

CITIZENS NOT DISCOURAGED BUT WILL TRY AGAIN

The citizens of Mosier decided, at the election held last Monday, that they did not want the town incorporated with the lines as originally laid out.

The progressive element is not discouraged, however, by this defeat, but will make another effort later. A new petition has been presented to the county court, which will be considered by that body later, and it is probable that a new election will be ordered before many moons.

There were 82 votes cast at Monday's election, 31 of them being women's votes. To Mrs. Hannah Root belongs the distinction of being the first woman to cast a vote at the polls in Mosier.

The Forest Service Department has recently taken up the work of reclassification of lands in the National Forest reserves with a view to opening up for settlement such lands as may now be included within the reserve boundaries.

This is the Gu-lorious Fourth, and nothin' doin' in Mosier. Some of our citizens will go to the big celebration at Hood River, some will take in Ortley's celebration, others will make up small parties for outings along Mosier Creek, and many will no doubt stay at home and enjoy a good rest.

Ortley Items

Owing to the absence of several members last Friday, the Bridge Club meeting was postponed.

The strawberries are nearly a thing of the past. We had a good crop this year.

Mr. Bussett and family, formerly of Bend, stopped here a couple of days, en route to Hood River and eventually, Los Angeles. They carry a complete camping outfit in their Buick car.

Mr. J. Hallyburton had a slight relapse recently, which necessitated calling Dr. Thompson. He is doing nicely now.

Mr. Fred Tooley is in Portland for a few days.

W. A. Tompkin's son Frank surprised his father by coming up from Portland Saturday evening.

Helen Husbands, of Portland, is spending a few days at R. R. Firebaugh's.

C. E. Goetz and family will soon move into their new bungalow.

Col. Gardener and son and L. D. Firebaugh made a business trip to The Dalles last Thursday.

Joe Mickesh and Ernest Johnson, who recently purchased orchard tracts, have moved onto their property. Joe expects to bring a bride here soon to share his new home.

Mrs. O. A. Corl and daughter are spending the Fourth with relatives and friends in Forest Grove and Banks, Ore.

Wm. Margeson and family have moved into the house recently vacated by Mr. Gunkle.

While Mrs. L. D. Firebaugh was in Hood River she was in a runaway accident. While descending a hill the harness broke and frightened the team, which ran into an irrigating ditch, throwing Mrs. Firebaugh out and spraining her left arm and shoulder. Luckily no bones were broken, and baby wasn't hurt a bit.

Mrs. R. R. Firebaugh has been quite indisposed for several days past.

Hurrah for the Glorious Fourth!

NOTICE

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

The following is a copy of Notice that will be served upon you by your Road Supervisor if you have upon your premises any of the noxious weeds named in the section following:

You are hereby notified to remove said noxious weed from said premises within ten days of the date of the service of this notice upon you, and if the same is not so removed the undersigned will immediately proceed in relation thereto as is provided in Chapter 394, in the session laws of 1913 of the State of Oregon. Section 6464 thereof is as follows:

Section 6464. If any person, persons or corporation owners, possessing or having care or charge of any land or lands, improved or unimproved, enclosed or unenclosed, in this State, shall knowingly permit or suffer any Russian thistle, Canada thistle or Chinese thistle or silybrium altissimum (called white or Jim Hill mustard), cocklebur (known as the dagger cocklebur), atriplex argenta (called the silver salt bush), to grow up thereon, or upon a road or highway adjoining said lands, and suffer the same to stand until its bloom falls or its seeds begin to form, such person, persons or corporation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall, for the first offense, be fined not less than $10 nor more than $50, and for the second and each subsequent offense not less than $25 nor more than $100, said fines to be recovered, with costs, in an action to be brought in the name of the State of Oregon, for the use and benefit of the general fund of the county where the offense is committed, and such person, persons or corporation shall also be liable for all damages sustained by the neighboring land owners resulting from such neglect on the part of such person, persons or corporation to extirpate and destroy such noxious weeds before the same shall mature, to be recovered in an action at law in the Circuit Court of the county where such lands are located. Justices of the Peace shall have jurisdiction of this offense.

This weed has attained a large growth in this locality and a similar notice to this is being served upon all persons upon whose land the same is growing, and an immediate compliance with this notice will be of great benefit and save you further costs and trouble. The County Court of this County has furnished the Road Supervisors of the various Districts of the County with copies of the above described Notice, with instructions to serve a copy upon all parties that have all or any of the noxious weeds upon their premises as described and named in the above Section 6464, and the Court stands back of the Supervisors in the enforcement of this law.

RIVERS AND GREAT CITIES.

Wherein the Thames and London Are Different From Others.

London without the Thames is unthinkable. Not only is it the source of the great wealth and trade of the world's metropolis, but it brings food and drink to its many millions. Yet this is not the case with other great cities of the world whose rivers have had little to do in the building of their fame and position. In "The River of London" Mr. Hilaire Belloc points the contrast:

"Little sea borne traffic reaches Paris by the Seine; the Tiber could never be a street for Rome; Vienna neglects the Danube; Antwerp protects no great crossing nor has ever been the nucleus of a state, and Bonaire, the nearest parallel, was not the strategical pivot of Normandy nor ever formed, as London forms, a chief fraction in the economic power of its province. The two rivers which are sacred to Lyons never fed that town; the Rhone watered but did not lead to Arles.

The towns of Lombardy depend upon the fertility of the Po valley, but the stream is nothing to their commerce or to their political eminence, and Milan and Venice and Turin are independent of it. Saragossa was the mistress of Aragon, but the Ebro did not make Saragossa, and, as for Madrid, the trickle which runs below Madrid is best described in the story of the Spanish patriot who was dying of thirst after battle, but upon being offered a cup of water said: 'Give it to the poor Manzuanes'—the river upon which Madrid stands."

CHILD WEDDINGS IN INDIA.

Candy Kept the Baby Partners Quiet During the Ceremony.

Four hundred marriages were performed simultaneously at the last wedding celebration at Surat among members of the Lewa Kuntli caste.

None of the brides was more than twelve years of age, the majority being from one to seven years old, while the bridegrooms varied from three to nine. Most of the contracting parties sat or lay on the laps of their parents during the ceremony and were given sweets to keep them quiet.

The entire only celebrates every ten or twelve years.

These baby brides, of course, do not join their husbands when they are married. They wait until they reach the age of ten or eleven, when there is a second marriage. Should a baby bride's husband die before she reaches the age for the second marriage she becomes a widow and has to remain so all her life. In such cases the widow at once loses caste. Her ornaments are taken off her, and she becomes a sort of outcast, hardly treated, looked down upon and generally made a household drudge.

The husband, on the other hand, should his baby bride die before the second marriage, may marry again. In fact, he is expected to do so within a few months of the death of the bride.—Boutlay Cor. Philadelphia Ledger.

A Sincere Provider.

Bobbie, who was visiting with a neighbor while his mother was in the city on a shopping trip, Bobbie and two other children played at housekeeping in the backyard, and in the course of the housekeeping Maria believed she needed supplies.

"Bobbie, you go for some ice cream and lemons at the grocery," commanded Maria, and Bobbie obediently trotted into the alley at the rear, as Maria believed, "yes" playin' he was goin' to the grocery."

Ten minutes later, Mrs. S., with whom Bobbie was visiting, went to the telephone, and the voice of her grocer inquired: "I guess Bobbie has lost the money for the ice cream and lemons he came after. I can't find any change in his pockets. Or did you want the things charged?"—Hullapopolis News.

of him whose house has no porch lamp. Why worry about midnight marauders when it is so well known that burglars fear babies and lamps more than dogs and pistols?

They strictly avoid houses having electric lights—particularly porch lamps. And the annals of crime show that such houses are rarely if ever burglarized.

Have your house wired at once for electric service, and then you'll fully appreciate the feeling of absolute safety afforded by a brilliant Edison Mazda Porch Lamp.
