The juvenile entertainment at Immanuel Church last night, planned and executed by the "kids," apparently was much enjoyed by the fair sized audience. All the numbers were good, but the appearance of the "midget," as represented by Hazel Reese, caused general merriment. The violin playing of Alex Carlson and his little sister Elsie, who had never before played in public, was exceptionally good, and little Mildred Nichol at the piano was "there with bells." The net receipts were about $17.

progress and prosperity of this section. He was also much impressed with the development of the new fruit district at Orley and enjoyed the magnificent scenery viewed from the new scenic park on the bluff overlooking the river.

Why is it that so many American housewives seek "foreign" husbands and wives, and want 'em so bad they have to advertise for them. A certain young lady of Mosier, whose "behind" name is plural, wants one or more husbands. She expressed her longing on a fruit wrapper and appended her name thereto. The box of fruit containing her appeal for a soul mate, short circuited and went to Portland instead of East, as the young lady expected, and now she is besieged by numerous Oregon swains who would share their names and her fortune. What puzzles Emily is which one to take and avoid about steen suits for breach of promise.
