O-W R. & N. READY FOR BIG BUSINESS

1000 NEW FREIGHT CARS NOW BEING DELIVERED FOR MOVEMENT OF FALL CROPS

Confidence Felt in Cooperation of Shippers

One thousand new freight cars ordered by the O-W. R. & N. Co., in anticipation of a heavy demand for cars to move the large crops this fall, are now being turned out by the car builders and are arriving at the various reserve stations of that company in Oregon and Washington at the rate of 50 cars a day. The delivery began on August 1st and the entire 1000 cars will probably be ready for use before the harvest.

"With this order of 1000 new cars," says F. W. Robinson, Assistant Traffic Manager, "and an additional 2000 just delivered to the Union Pacific, we are confident that we will have plenty of rolling stock for all emergencies this year."

"The greatest need for cars in crop-moving time is about the middle of October. As delivery of all the new rolling stock has been completed, we expect to be ready for any contingency."

"The new boxcars are all 40 feet long and of 100,000 pounds capacity. This is the standard size adopted by the Company. "The Pacific Fruit Express has also ordered 2000 additional refrigerator cars, which will bring its total number to 13,000. This will greatly facilitate the moving of the fruit crop."

At present the O-W. R. & N. Co. is arranging for the parking of freight cars at points where they will be quickly available after the harvest. A most favorable omen in connection with the important problem of car supply is the better understanding that now prevails among shippers in general in the matter of capacity loading and reduction to minimum of lost time in loading and unloading.

To bring this about a most persistent and far-reaching propaganda has been conducted throughout the year, not only by railroad traffic departments in the way of direct instructions to agents, but by traffic bureaus in all large commercial centers, and by the Bureau of Railway Economics at the National capital, till it is fairly safe to say that every shipper and agent in the land is alive to its importance. It is believed that the indifference and thoughtlessness of past seasons will be supplanted this year and in future by hearty cooperation, and that car shortage, except on extraordinary occasions, will be largely obviated.

C. J. Littlepage and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nelson left last night to attend the Round-Up at Pendleton.

Mrs. Jane Kent, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Higley, and family, left Wednesday night to visit a son at Weiser, Idaho, and will then return to her home in Kansas. She was accompanied part way by her grandson, Leo Higley, who goes to Baker county to work in the gold mines.

Messrs. Geo. G. and Wallace McClure, of The Dalles, were business visitors in town last Wednesday. They represent the Portland Realty Associates of Portland, considered by the best business men of the country to be the safest proposition for a profitable and conservative investment to be found in the West.

I am going to have ladies' and children's coats for winter wear, and as the styles will be right and I promise to save you over other cities' prices, don't you think you had better see me about this? Strauss.
