Fire Burns
Thirty days ago I insured Mrs. Harriet Poe's building, about six miles south of town. A few days ago fire destroyed the fireplace, causing about a $50 loss. The company notified me to settle with Mrs. Poe at once, stating that as soon as I learned the amount of the loss, the money would be promptly sent. Be sure your property is insured in a good, strong company. F. N. AUSTIN, Agent. At Mosier Valley Bank.

street lights for a certain price per month. The company has performed its part of the contract, but some of the people who signed are inclined to repudiate their obligations and it is reported are refusing to pay up their arrears. This is a poor mark of honest citizenship. As a proof of the mildness of Mosier's climate, George Rorden brought into town this week a green, stocky tomato vine which the frost had not yet touched. Powers and George Chamberlain, for damages sustained by them last August, when sparks from a passing locomotive set fire to their property. The adjustment was entirely satisfactory to the parties in interest. M. D. Rorick, of the Pacific Power & Light Co., The Dalles, was in town Saturday making collections on the street lighting. A number of the citizens signed a contract with the company to furnish a certain number of

Gov. West has set apart Thursday, November 27th, as the day on which the people of Oregon shall give thanks for their many blessings. And if one were to count up the many things he should be thankful for—the many circumstances and conditions which, unpleasant and discouraging as they seem to be, might be so much worse, why, every day might well be a Thanksgiving day. The health situation in Mosier is now about normal, only two or three houses remaining under quarantine, and they will soon be fumigated. We understand that several families in the country are still quite sick, though improving slowly.
