Force of Habit.

They were speaking of force of habit, and Henry C. Hall, recently made a member of the interstate commerce commission, was reminded of a pretty little telephone girl named Miss Marie.

One night Miss Marie went to church and, being somewhat tired, she fell asleep during the rather protracted sermon. Finally the sermon was concluded and after the usual prayer the minister picked up the hymnal.

"Brethren and sisters," he announced, glancing first at the choir and then at the congregation, "we shall sing hymn 343. Hymn 343."

"The line is busy," cried Miss Marie, suddenly waking and hearing the dominie's last words. "Please call again." —Philadelphia Telegraph.

MEDIATORS WILL OUST DICTATOR

New Scheme of Government for Mexico Considered.

Both Factions of Republic to Be Represented—Commission of Five Is Tentative Plan.

Washington, D. C.—Elimination of General Huerta and the establishment of a provisional government in Mexico, in which both the Huerta and the constitutionalist factions would be represented is contemplated in a plan which the three South American mediators now are working out to be proposed for the solution of the entire Mexican problem.

This, the first intimation as to the details of the mediation plans, became known Wednesday, although neither the mediators nor State department officials would make any statement as to how nearly complete is the plan to be submitted to American and Mexican delegates when they meet the South American envoys at Niagara Falls, Canada, Monday.

It was learned the proposal might be that the setting up of a temporary government be undertaken by a commission composed of five persons, two of them to be named by Huerta, two by the constitutionalists and the fifth by the mediators.

While the mediators have withdrawn their invitation to the constitutionalists to send delegates to their conference, it is believed generally that information is being sought as to whether the constitutionalists would consent, in case of the elimination of Huerta, to some form of temporary government in which he would be represented. Those close to the mediators say it is believed this arrangement is the only possible one under which peace may be restored in Mexico under conditions satisfactory to all Mexican factions and to the United States.

Expressions of confidence that mediation would be successful in averting war between the United States and Mexico came from several members of the cabinet after President Wilson had discussed the situation with his official family.

Pacific Coast Bankers Locate Branch Banks

San Francisco—Five definite propositions were adopted by bankers of the Pacific Coast district, who conferred on the establishment of the San Francisco regional bank, as follows:

Branch reserve banks will be established in Los Angeles, Salt Lake, Seattle and Portland.

The six directors not chosen by the government shall be selected from the Northern California district.

Within 10 days the Northern California member banks shall recommend choices for the directorate.

Each clearing house shall have a vote for the directorate.

Directors shall receive no salary aside from the regular fees.

Apparently all of the bankers, representing mainly the first-class banks of the region, had agreed in advance that San Francisco and the surrounding cities should receive the majority of places on the directorate of the reserve bank, and the principal interest centered in the allotment of branch banks.

Valuable Work of Art Is Slashed by Suffragette

London — A militant suffragette, armed with a hatchet, seriously damaged a valuable portrait of the Duke of Wellington in the Royal Academy.

The woman was standing, looking at the painting, when she suddenly drew the hatchet and slashed the canvas three times. An attendant promptly seized her and took her to the police station, where she said her name was Mary Ansell. The painting was by the late Sir Hubert Von Herkomer, who died March 31, this year. It was considered one of his finest works.

Miss Ansell later in the day was arraigned at the police court, where the magistrate committed her for trial at the London sessions.

The prisoner sent to the Women's Social and Political union a message asserting her deed was a protest against the unjust political position of women, for which militancy was the only remedy, and concluding:

"I have done this deed deliberately and rejoice that I have not failed in my duty."

Militia Deport Strikebreakers.

Trinidad, Colo.—Five strikebreakers were deported Wednesday by the military authorities at Aguilar when they applied for work in the Royal mine. Captain Johnston, in charge at that district, was informed by strikers that the five men were attempting to go to work in the mine and that the strikers objected to their presence there. The men had not worked at the mine prior to April 20, subsequent to which date Colonel Lockett's proclamation prohibited strikebreakers from entering the mines.

Admiral's Servant Is Deserter.

Vera Cruz, Mex. — Rear Admiral Fletcher has lost one Filipino, who had proved himself to be an excellent servant, and the indications are that the Mexican army is strengthened in proportion to the admiral's loss. Formal notice of the Filipino's disappearance has been posted and all outposts are watching for his reappearance. He was last seen boarding a train in the direction of General Maas' lines. His ship's clothing had been discarded for flannels and a Panama, and it was learned that he carried a pistol.

Ammunition Sent South.

Portland—Five carloads of ammunition passed through this city from Vancouver, en route South, presumably to the Mexican border or to some point near the line. Officers in charge would give no information as to the destination of the consignment.

First Dead in Mexican War Buried With Honors

New York—More than 1,000,000 persons in New York City joined the nation Monday in memorializing with simple dignity the heroism of the 19 bluejackets and marines who gave their lives at Vera Cruz.

As the impressive funeral pageant started on its solemn route from the Battery to the Brooklyn navy yard, it was as if the pulse of the city had temporarily stopped. All business was suspended, and over the commercial section of the city there fell a reverential hush.

On the stand with the President at the Brooklyn navy yard were relatives of the dead sailors and marines—mothers, sisters and wives—but in all the throng of mourners none seemed more deeply touched than the man whose word sent the lads of the navy to fight for their country's honor at Vera Cruz.

And to the President was left the privilege of voicing the nation's grief and the nation's belief that those who died in the performance of duty had done for their country a service not to be measured by their individual deeds.

"The feeling that is uppermost," he said, "is one of profound grief, and yet there is mixed with that grief a profound pride that they should have gone as they did, and if I may say it out of my heart, a touch of envy of those who were permitted so quietly, so nobly, to do their duty."

The head of the nation looked out over the thousands massed about the coffins on the parade grounds, and his voice shook with emotion as he declared his creed: "We have gone down to Mexico," he said, "to serve mankind if we can find out a way. We do not want to fight the Mexicans. We want to serve them."

There was a wistful note in his voice as he added:

"I never was under fire, but I fancy that there are some things just as hard to do as to go under fire. I fancy that it is just as hard to do your duty when men are sneering at you as when they are shooting at you. When they shoot at you they can only take your natural life; when they sneer at you they can wound your heart."

From a birdseye view the multitude aligned along the route of the funeral cortege presented the picture of a vast human stream connecting two arms of the sea. Muffled voices, soft-spoken commands by military officers, the melancholy tolling of the Trinity church bell, emphasized a hush that had fallen over a city of noise.

The dead were landed by the tugs Traffic and Correction early in the morning and lay in state in the Battery park plaza for more than an hour before the procession started. There were 17 coffins. The other two victims of Mexican snipers honored died after the Montana left Vera Cruz with the bodies of their comrades.

As the procession entered City Hall plaza, treble voices of 500 children rose to meet them. The children sang "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Mayor Mitchell briefly eulogized the dead and laid upon one of the caissons a huge wreath symbolizing the city's appreciation of the service rendered at Vera Cruz.

After this brief halt, the cortege resumed its measured progress to Manhattan bridge and over this to the navy yard. The quiet restraint that had characterized the crowds in the business district gave way as the procession proceeded through the East Side and Brooklyn to storms of applause. Here it seemed that the presence of the President eclipsed the grief of the occasion.

In the naval parade ground less than 10,000 were able to pack themselves into the enclosure and face the stand where stood the President with bared head. Mayor Mitchel was at his right and Secretary Daniels of the navy at his left.

With sharp precision the bluejackets, their white hats catching the dull sunlight, drew up into military formation before the stand. At the same time the 17 caissons draped with flags and banked with flowers were laid directly in front of the stand. A moment later the crowd was permitted to enter and immediately it filled the entire field. The band of the battleship Texas played softly "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and Naval Chaplain Cassard began his invocation. In referring to the dead heroes, he prayed it would not be necessary to make further sacrifice on the altar of patriotism.

Secretary Daniels then turned to the President and read the names of the 19 men in whose honor the funeral was held and delivered a brief eulogy.

President Wilson stood with head bowed. His deeply-lined face showed the grief and solemnity of the moment. He delivered his eulogy in low, clear voice that carried to the farthest parts of the field. It was followed by a prayer by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and a benediction by Dr. John P. Chidwick, chaplain of the old battleship Maine.

Three volleys fired by the marines across the consecrated dead, the final melody of taps, and the funeral services were completed. They had lasted a little less than an hour.

Villa Has Torreon Lid On.

Torreon, Mexico—The city for many days has been crowded with soldiers, but the best of order has been maintained. To a large extent, if not wholly, this is due to the measures taken by General Villa the day the town was captured. Villa "put on the lid," as some of his English-speaking officers expressed it, and has taken care that it has not been lifted since. The privates have been given no opportunity to secure intoxicating beverages and even citizens have been forced to tread the straight and narrow path.

King "Commands" Divas.

London — The Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, was commandeered by King George for a gala performance in honor of the King and Queen of Denmark, who are paying their accession visit to this country. The singers included Melba and Emmy Destinn. The audience included leaders of the political, diplomatic and social world of London. During an interlude a suffragette in the balcony shouted: "King George, women are being tortured in your dominions." Two men dragged the disturber outside.

QUAKE DESTROYS MANY IN SICILY

Mount Etna In Fierce Eruption Brings Destruction.

Deep Fissures Block Roads—Bodies Strew Country—Victims Alive In Ruins.

Catania, Italy—An earthquake Saturday afternoon brought death and destruction to many villages on and near Mount Etna. The number of dead up to Monday morning was officially given as 183, with about 350 injured, but as yet a large portion of the devastated territory has not been inspected.

The affected zone extends from Zaffarana, the highest village on Mount Etna, to Blanca Reale, on the south, and Giarre, on the north. It includes Linera, the center of the disturbance, Pisano and Santa Venerina.

In Linera alone 110 persons were killed and 300 injured. In the village of Bongiardo, 13 dead and 27 injured were taken from the ruins. At Cosentini 16 were killed and many injured.

At Passopomo 12 persons were killed; at Malata 12; at Santa Venerina 6; Santa Tecla 2; Santa Maria Vergine 8; Garbati 4.

These villages and many smaller places were practically leveled.

Automobiles which made the trip through the devastated region were often forced to make long detours owing to the deep fissures across the road.

The district presented a spectacle of desolation, ruin and death. Peasants rushed to meet the automobiles, imploring aid. From the debris, agonizing cries could still be heard. Others asked that their injured relatives be transported to Catania, as all train service was abandoned, owing to the collapse of bridges, broken tracks and obstructed tunnels.

For centuries this region has suffered from earthquakes, owing to the activity of Mount Etna. Yet it is relatively thickly populated, as the land is most fertile, vineyards growing with little attention.

Near the central point of the disturbance dozens of bodies were observed lying along the road. Many of them were unrecognizable, as they were crushed. Heart-rending lamentations arose on all sides, and the injured lay in the open awaiting assistance which had been sent to them.

Where Linera stood is a mass of ruins. Those houses which did not collapse entirely were so broken as to emphasize the completeness of the disaster. The village consisted of about 800 inhabitants.

A majority of the people escaped because the shock occurred when the men and some of the women were still working in the fields. From the vineyards they saw their houses falling and when they arrived, breathless, at their homes, they found only wreckage with some of their people buried beneath it.

American Expedition Makes Discoveries Along Amazon

Philadelphia—News of the arrival at Georgetown, British Guinea, on April 19, of the University of Pennsylvania expedition, after nearly a year spent in Amazon Basin and in the highlands which divide Brazil and the Guineas, never before explored, was received at the university from its leader, Rev. William C. Farabee.

The expedition has discovered hitherto unknown native tribes, made vocabularies of their languages, collected many ethnological and other specimen, and has put on the map for the first time a portion of Northern Brazil and the Guineas, including the Corentyne river, traversed for the first time by white men.

Rebels Tighten Cordon About Federal Garrisons

Torreon, Mex.—Determined that the federal forces at Saltillo and San Luis Potosi shall not consolidate and that one shall not be reinforced by fugitives from the other, General Carranza, first chief of the constitutionalist army, has given orders to his commanders to draw a close cordon about each town. The constitutionalists are confident of victory at each place, but they intend to insure that the victories shall be decisive and that there shall be no opportunity for the federals to retreat, reform and again check the advance.

Tribesmen Recall Chief.

Redding, Cal. — Chief Wesley, of Baird, head of the Wintun tribe of Indians in Northern California, was removed from his chieftainship in a recall election believed to be the first ever held by Indians. Wesley was elected chief about a year ago in an election at which Indian women voted, following the privilege of their white sisters of California. It was not for dereliction in office, but because Wesley is said to be part Yaqui, that he was recalled. The Wintuns want a full-blooded chief of their own strain.

American's Body Found.

El Paso, Tex. — Word has filtered through to the border of the finding of the body of James S. Beard, a wealthy American, near Parras, Coahuila. Mr. Baird was the owner of a process for separating the fibres of the cactus, used in the manufacture of ropes. He is said to have been the victim of General Benjamin Argumendo. Beard was killed at the time of the retreat of the federals from Torreon. Papers to prove Beard a citizen of the United States were found pinned to the breast of the body.

Women Dynamite Church.

London—A bomb placed by suffragists exploded Sunday in the gallery of the Metropolitan Tabernacle in South London, an edifice made famous by the late Charles H. Spurgeon. Little damage was done. Near the spot where the bomb exploded was a card on which was written: "Put your religion into practice and see that women obtain their freedom."

NEED PROPER SETTING

ARRANGEMENT OF ARTISTIC PIECES OF CHINA.

Important Point Is Preservation of Color Scheme in Its Entirety—How Woman Evolved Really Clever Idea.

China and artistic pieces of pottery are so inexpensive and their collection is a source of so much interest and real enjoyment that their care and arrangement are a matter of more than passing interest in the home. Good china or pottery imitations require a suitable setting for best effects. Valuable specimens should be single or placed in groups. Mugs and plates on the plate rail should be separated, each collection as a single decoration.

The construction of the plate rack should conform to the general style of the room, and the articles placed upon it should be of one color, or consist of a collection of pieces which will not give to the room the general air of a curio shop.

One woman desirous of having dainty plates upon her plate rack, but who was unable to get the kind she wished, made several of oriental design by cutting patterns from a paper that is used to give a stained glass appearance to windows. The paper was cut into many beautiful patterns and pasted around the edge and across the center of inexpensive china plates, but in perfect harmony with the color scheme of her dining room.

The washing of valuable china needs to be carried out very cautiously and carefully. A big wooden bowl, filled with warm soapsuds, to which a few drops of household ammonia have been added, should be prepared, and each piece of china washed separately in this, using a square of old flannel for plain pieces and a soft brush for elaborately ornamental articles. Rinse in another wooden bowl of clear, warm water and dry with linen cloths. Wash the pretty, new table china yourself in the dining room. Have a pan of hot water, some soap, a mop and towels in the dining room after the meal is over, and there wash the china. Put them in their places immediately afterward and you will not find the work a tax. To prevent fine china plates breaking, put a thickness of blotting paper between them. This may be bought in large sheets and cut into rounds which are large enough to prevent one plate from marring the decoration of another.

Porcelain ware can be mended with ordinary putty mixed with oil. Work a small particle into the worn place, set it aside for several days and food can be cooked in the vessel without danger of a putty taste. A good cement for broken china is made by stirring plaster of paris into a thick solution of gum arabic until it becomes a viscous paste.

Cream Cakes.

One cup boiling water poured over half cup of butter and while still hot add one cup sifted flour. Let cool, then add three unbeaten eggs. Beat ten minutes, then add soda soze of pea. Drop on large baking tin by large spoonfuls. Be sure to leave space between for them to rise and spread a little. This recipe will make 12 nice large puffs or cakes.

Cream Filling for Cakes—One pint of milk; dissolve two tablespoons of cornstarch in a little milk and add to the boiling milk. Let cool for a few moments, remove from the fire and then put in two well-beaten eggs while the mixture is still hot. Some cook the eggs in the filling, but it is not necessary if the eggs are put into the cream while hot. Fill cakes when cold.

Rub Milk Into Oilcloth.

To ruin oilcloth clean it with hot water or soapsuds, and leave it half-wiped, and it will look very bright while wet, but very dingy and dirty when dry, and will soon crack and peel off. But if you wish to preserve it, and have it look new and nice, wash it with soft flannel and lukewarm water, and wipe perfectly dry. If you want the oilcloth to look extra nice, after it is dry, drop a few spoonfuls of milk over it and rub with a dry cloth.

Fish With Mashed Potatoes.

Butter a baking dish. Line the bottom and sides thickly with well seasoned mashed potato, preferably beaten light with an egg. To flake fish add half its quantity of bread crumbs and enough white sauce to make it quite moist and beat well. Season highly Fill the space left in the potato with this mixture and bake in a hot oven. Fold a napkin neatly around the baking dish and serve.

To Evade Dust.

When sweeping carpet many women are annoyed by dust from sweeping. Why not try this method? Buy a sponge large enough to cover mouth and nostrils. Snip off bits from the inside until a hollow is formed to fit the face. Tie to each side tapes long enough to fasten behind the head. Now, when you are ready to sweep, wet the sponge, wringing it nearly dry, and tie it in place. This will also be found an excellent idea when cleaning the range.

Boiled Pudding.

To three teacupfuls of sifted pumpkin add three teacupfuls of Indian meal. Add a pint of boiling milk, two and a half teacupfuls of sugar, or two teacupfuls of nice molasses. Season with the grated rind of a lemon and a very little ginger. Put the mixture into a pudding bag, tie up, leaving room to swell, drop into boiling water and cook three hours. Serve with rich, sweetened cream.

Superior Beef Tea.

Chop lean, juicy beef quite fine Put into a glass fruit jar and put on the cover. Set in a kettle of water with a cloth under it. Cover closely, and boil slowly at least four hours, the longer the better, up to seven or eight hours. No water must be permitted to get into the can, as what you aim for is the pure extract of beef, full strength. Season to taste, very lightly Strain before serving.

AFTER SUFFERING TWO LONG YEARS
Mrs. Aselin Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Minneapolis, Minn.—"After my little one was born I was sick with pains in my sides which the doctors said were caused by inflammation. I suffered a great deal every month and grew very thin. I was under the doctor's care for two long years without any benefit. Finally after repeated suggestions to try it we got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking the third bottle of the Compound I was able to do my housework and today I am strong and healthy again.
