MOSIER IN MOURNING

Twice this week has the Reaper, Death, visited our community and the Mosier populace is in mourning. In both instances were the victims of the death angel young, well known and popular, and the sincere sympathy of the entire district goes out to the stricken families.

In the case of Ira Evans, the tragic manner of his death, recorded elsewhere in these columns, lends perhaps more interest and commiseration than does that of Thomas Lelliott, altho sympathy in the latter case is none the less sincere.

Ira Evans was born on Mosier Creek July 9th, 1888, and had practically lived his entire life here among his many relatives and friends. He was the son of George and Arissa Evans, his mother and a step-sister and brother surviving him, his father having met an accidental death 25 years ago.

Ira was a deservedly popular young man and had many friends. Rev. H. C. Clark, who officiated at the obsequies at the Christian Church, paid a glowing tribute to the dead man's uprightness and sterling worth.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon, the church being filled with friends and neighbors who came to pay their last respects to his memory.

The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful. Among the many were a wreath from the Mosier Commercial Club, of which Ira was a member, a broken wheel, from the boys at the rock crusher, where he was employed, a pillow from his brother members of Artisans, a handsome wreath from Mayerdale, and numerous wreaths from his many relatives and friends.

Interment was in Odd Fellows cemetery. The body was followed to the grave by the largest concourse of people ever attending a funeral in Mosier.

The entire community extends its heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved mother and sister, who came from Seattle and San Francisco to attend the funeral, and to the many relatives, in this their hour of trouble, in the sudden and tragic departure of one who had just begun his active life, with all his ambitions and high hopes for a bright future.

THOMAS LELLIOTT

Born June 24, 1884. Died July 7, 1914.

Again does Mosier mourn its loss in the death in his early manhood, of Thomas W. H. Lelliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Lelliott, which occurred early Tuesday morning, July 7, at his home south of town, after a lingering illness extending over a period of six months.

"Tom" Lelliott, as his many friends familiarly called him, was possessed of a most friendly, sociable disposition and was highly respected for his integrity and manhood. He had for some time been aware of his critical condition and his cheerful and uncomplaining acceptance of the inevitable was proof of his strong character, and a consolation to his family.

For some months past he had been confined to his bed and was tenderly ministered to by a loving mother, father and brother, and visited by many friends who, by their kind attentions and words of cheer, strove to make his last days more comfortable. His untimely death, tho not unexpected, was nevertheless sudden and a shock to the family.

Rev. J. G. Tate officiated at the funeral services at Immanuel Church and later at the grave in Odd Fellows cemetery. His discourse was eloquent, elevating and comforting. The church was crowded to the outside doors with sympathetic and admiring friends of the young man who has finished his race before it had scarcely begun.

The masses of beautiful flowers which decorated the grave were eloquent evidence of the respect and esteem in which the young man was held, and were also a tribute to and a just recognition of the high standing in the neighborhood which the bereaved family enjoys.

Truly, Mosier mourns with the stricken families of these two young men.
